More Than $431,000 to Be Expended Within Political Ranks.

TAX LEVY UPON BARS REVIVED BY WOODCOCK

New Instructions Issued Are Aimed at Bootleggers Escaping Fines.

(Associated Press.)

Plans for expending at least $431,563 in a Nation-wide drive for dry presidential candidates and platforms in both political parties in 1932 were announced yesterday by the newly created Allied Forces for Prohibition.

In addition, a statement by the organization said a contingent budget of $210,000 has been adopted for the nine-months sweep through the Nation's major cities, which began in Columbus last Tuesday.

Three Sets of Speakers.

Under present plans the organization's speakers and organizers has been divided into three parts. It is planned for the three groups to follow one another in rapid-fire order into the cities to be visited, with each making a one-day stand before moving on.

The possible expenditure of around $600,000 in this drive, the statement said, was approved by four outstanding business men at a recent meeting in New York.

Those present, it said, were Richard H. Scott, president of the Reo Motor Company; E. C. Sams, president of the J. C. Penney Company; Orrin R. Judd, vice president of the Irving Trust Company; Robert E. Farley, president of Robert E. Farley, Inc.; and Harry N. Holmes, field secretary for the World Alliance for International Friendship Through the Churches.

Broadcast Is Considered.

The contingent budget, depending upon contributions to the campaign, the statement said, would provide for a possible Nation-wide broadcasting program through the spring of 1932, as well as a campaign of advertising.

Should any surplus remain in the allied forces' treasury, it was said, it would be distributed to State committees and prorated on the basis of contributions made by the States. It was announced also that the organization would support and promote State committees or "boards of strategy" made up of representatives of all the temperance and prohibition agencies within the State, and also of citizens not previously connected with any agency.

The Federal Prohibition Bureau has laid new plans for punishing—by heavy taxation—some of the dry law violators who escape criminal fines or imprisonment.

It was learned on high authority yesterday that Director Woodcock, determined to use all legal weapons against Volstead law breakers, has issued revised orders for bringing civil actions against certain speakeasy operators and bootleggers.

Possible Penalties Range High.

Under these orders no effort will be made to collect civil fines or penalties from violators against whom criminal proceedings are contemplated. Nor will such actions be brought against those acquitted in the courts. However, such efforts will be made where criminal cases terminate inconclusively, or where United States attorneys decide criminal prosecution should not be instituted.

Possible taxes and penalties might range into six figures. Under the reve-

34,000 Pounds Lifted By Largest Amphibian

New York, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The largest amphibian plane ever constructed flew to Floyd Bennett Field today from the Sikorsky factory at Stratford, Conn., to complete a successful ground load test in which it lifted 34,000 pounds of lead.

The giant plane is designed to carry 40 passengers and a crew of five. Its wing spread is 114 feet, it weighs 22,000 pounds and is equipped with four 575-horsepower Pratt-Whitney motors. It was designed by Igor Sikorsky.

URGES ACTION

LORD ROBERT CECIL.

WIFE SAYS PIRATES CAPTURED HUSBAND

Raided Yacht, Threw Him in Sound and Kidnaped Her, She Declares.

Syosset, N. Y., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—An amazing narrative of a midnight invasion of a yacht in Long Island Sound by two men who either threw the wealthy owner overboard or cast him adrift and then mistreated his wife baffled the police tonight.

The strange tale of modern piracy was told by Mrs. Benjamin P. Collings, who said that after her husband was seized the invaders carried her in a canoe to a motorboat nine miles distant where her shouts attracted attention early today.

The Collings' 5-year-old daughter, Barbara, was left unharmed aboard her parents' drifting yacht, Penguin, which was found by a boating party just before daybreak.

Mrs. Collings' story of mistreatment, related during six and a half hours questioning, further beclouded the motive for the acts of the invaders. When the two men first boarded the Penguin, Mrs. Collings said she overheard them demand that her husband carry a wounded companion of theirs to Norwalk, Conn. Authorities, however, said that they had found no trace of a third man and that the story might have been a ruse to engage Collings in conversation.

When the two men first boarded the boat, Mrs. Collings said she was asleep in a cabin, but was awakened by their arrival. Upon going on deck she said she found the men tying her husband's hands behind his back. One of the two men held a revolver and forced her to return to a cabin where she heard the sound of breaking glass and then a splash. On those sounds she based her belief that Collings had been thrown overboard.

The invaders then carried Barbara, who had been asleep in the cockpit, to a cot in the cabin with Mrs. Collings. From what the child saw and heard she later said she thought her father had been cast adrift in a small boat.

Mrs. Collings said the men, one of whom she described as being about 50 years old, and the other a youth of 17 or 18, then ordered her into a canoe from which they had boarded the yacht.

From Mrs. Collings' story, Inspector Harold R. King, of Nassau County police, said it was plain to him that she had not resisted when directed to leave the child and accompany

Walker Stays in Bed, Suffering From Cold

Cannes, France, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Mayor Walker of New York remained in bed at his hotel here most of today, suffering from a cold contracted at a dinner party last night.

He ran a temperature all day and on orders of his physician cancelled an engagement to dine tonight at Monte Carlo.

FRANCO-REICH AMITY IS HELD RECOVERY KEY

SECRETARY DECLARES EARLY ACTION NEEDED

Delay of Armament Parley Would Not Be Tolerated, Spokesman Asserts.

Geneva, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Something must be done now—not next year—to switch on the current of international confidence and set the machinery of economic reconstruction in motion, Lord Cecil, British spokesman, told the League of Nations Assembly today.

And that something, he said, is a positive move toward Franco-German reconciliation.

The dominant need of the moment, said Lord Cecil, is to revive international investments.

This must be done, he said, "not in a period of years, but of months, or even weeks," lest one country after another will be "forced into some form or other of extended moratoria which may endanger the whole system on which the world's economic life is based, and will be driven again into the chaos which results from demoralized currency."

Supports Disarmament Parley.

Disarmament is the obvious goal toward which nations should be bending their efforts, he said, and "no government, least of all my own, would tolerate for a moment any proposal for postponement of the disarmament conference scheduled for February.

But the conference does not meet until next year, he pointed out, "and the crisis is very urgent."

"What are we doing in the meanwhile?" he asked. "What step can we take to improve the international atmosphere?

"If there could be a real rapprochement between France and Germany, not only in words but in action, that would remove, I believe, 75 per cent of the political worry."

Discusses World Plight.

Lord Cecil's direct challenge to Germany and France was regarded as particularly significant in view of the expectation that the foreign ministers of both countries, Julius Curtius, of Germany, and Aristide Briand, of France, were to address the assembly tomorrow.

Reparations were not mentioned directly in Lord Cecil's remarks on the world's financial plight, but he called attention to the Wiggin committee report (which urged speedy revision of reparations) and asked, "Is there any practicable alternative to the action recommended by the committee?"

"Is it not evident," he asked, "that the problem of governmental indebtedness, to which temporary relief has been given by the present moratorium, needs such a solution as will

Soviet Gives British $17,000,000 in Orders

Berlin, Sept. 10 (U.P.).—The Soviet government, between July 15 and August 15, placed orders with British industries toetaling about $17,000,000, almost equaling the entire Soviet purchases from Britain in 1929, it was learned today.

The sharp rise in Soviet business with England followed the British decision in July to increase guaranteed credits for Russia. German industrialists are urging banks and the government to facilitate Soviet credits to meet British and French competition.

HOOVER COTTON AID PLAN IGNORES STONE

Farm Board Head Denies Rift as President Confers on Bank Credits.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover's plans for helping into the cotton industry have gone into the conference stage with the Farm Board out of the program.

James C. Stone, chairman of the board set up to solve agriculture's ills, said yesterday it had not participated in arrangements looking toward some form of banking credit for exporting the staple.

This was the central theme of discussions at the White House between the President, Eugene Meyer, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, and W. L. Clayton, Texas cotton factor.

Chairman Stone said, however, there was no "rift between the board and White House. There is nothing to published reports about differences," he said. The board chairman said he felt proposals for acreage reduction, including that by Gov. Long of Louisiana for no planting next year, were up to the States.

The board's proposal that cotton farmers plow under every third row of this year's crop was rejected by the South. There has been no comment from the White House on acreage reduction plans and no indication that the administration looks with approval upon proposals for forcibly reducing acreage in either cotton or wheat.

The aftermath of the board's stabilization operations which have resulted in it having about 200,000,000 bushels of wheat and 1,300,000 bales of cotton on its hands has not been commented on publicly by the President.

Chairman Stone yesterday, however, defended stabilization operations in both commodities. He said that taking cotton and wheat off the market at critical times had probably saved farmers millions of dollars.

"These must be taken into account," he said, "in any final estimate of the board's stabilization operations."

Chairman Stone and other board members yesterday conferred with a delegation from Idaho, Washington and Oregon. They are urging that the board sell some of its wheat to farmers who will agree to withdraw wheat acreage next year which approximates the amount of grain bought.

Members of the group included Representatives Summers, of Washington, and French, of Idaho; C. M. Rader and Charles Baker, of Walla Walla, Wash., and E. B. Aldrich, Pendleton, Oreg., publisher.

Stone said another conference might be held today, and added there was nothing to say on the discussions yesterday. The proposal, known as the Walla Walla plan, already has been presented to President Hoover.

Polish Expose Blames Sabotage on Germany

Cracow, Poland, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The Daily Courier published documents today which it said were evidence that the German foreign office and Reichswehr have aided in organizing and financing sabotage and terrorism in southeastern Poland. The newspaper said the Ukranian military organization, "Uwo," was financed by the Reichswehr department.

One document was a letter purporting to have been written by the chief of the Polish section of the German foreign office to the German Consul at Cracow, discussing forwarding of funds to Ukrainian organizations.

NEW TAXES ADD 202 MILLION TO BRITISH BUDGET

Income Levy Is Boosted to 25 Per Cent; Cut in Exemptions.

FORMER FOES LAUD SNOWDEN'S PROGRAM

Dole and Expenses Slashed in Revenue Program to End Deficit.

London, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, searched the pockets of his countrymen today, taxing rich and poor alike with $202,500,000 in new levies to balance the 1931-1932 budget and restore world confidence in British finance.

His emergency budget, presented to the House of Commons, bristled with drastic assessments. The income tax standard rate, for instance, was boosted by sixpence (12 cents)—which means that every payer of the tax must turn one-fourth of his income over to the government.

The Commons adjourned after agreeing to the tax increase resolutions without a vote, and next Tuesday was set for the debate on the budget. The acceptance of the budget resolutions on the first night is according to custom. The general rule is that government budget proposals are given immediate effect when they are made and challenged and debated later, if at all.

Beer Tax Increased.

The exemption limit for married men will be reduced from $1,125 to $750, and for single men from $675 to $500. Allowances for children will be cut from $300 to $250 for the first child and from $250 to $200 for others.

Those who pay a supertax on incomes will be assessed 10 per cent more than at present.

The beer tax is increased 2 cents a pint. The gasoline tax is increased 4 cents a gallon. The tobacco duty is boosted 16 cents a pound and the entertainment tax, covering movie and legitimate theaters, is raised 16 and two-thirds per cent.

The increased taxation will amount to $405,000,000 for 1932 and 1933.

Economy cuts of $110,000,000 were announced for the present year and $350,000,000 for next year.

Deficit Held Eliminated.

With a saving of $68,500,000 on national debt amortization, the new taxes and other economies, Mr. Snowden declared that Great Britain's threatened budget deficit of $373,395,000 for this year had been eliminated.

An ovation unparalleled for a chancellor of the exchequer was given Mr. Snowden as his crippled body sank into his seat after a budget speech lasting more than an hour, which severely taxed his strength.

It was his fourth budget and his last. As soon as the national government's task has been completed he will retire from the commons.

In a peroration which was his farewell to national finance he proclaimed with great emotion that his daily post-bag was filled with voluntary contributions from rich and poor, all wanting to share in the nation's financial burdens.

Chancellor Cheered.

Shaking his gaunt hands at the Labor opposition, his pale features drawn, Mr. Snowden flung his last words across the house: "All our past proclaims our future; Shakespeare's voice and Nelson's hand, Milton's faith and Wordsworth's truth in this our chosen and chainless land.

Former Enemies Give Acclaim.

Flanked by Stanley Baldwin, Sir Herbert Samuel and Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, who bowed low in tribute, the chancellor hunched in

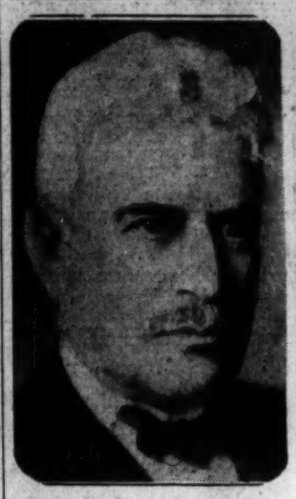
REED ASKS SALES TAX, BACHARACH FOR BOOST IN BIG INCOME LEVIES



Associated Press Photos.

Senator Urges One-Half Per Cent Payment on Retail Goods.

HITS LEGION DEMAND FOR FURTHER BONUS

Member of House Proposes Impost on Luxuries as Temporary Aid.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

Two plans for tax revision, both of them formulated by Republicans close to President Hoover, were advocated on Capitol Hill yesterday.

Senator David A. Reed (Republican), of Pennsylvania, an influential member of the Senate finance committee, urged a general sales tax of one-half of 1 per cent on all commodities sold through retail stores and agencies. Thus, a person buying a $1,000 automobile would have to pay a tax of $5, while a man buying a $50 suit of clothes would pay a tax of 25 cents. The tax would cover all commodities, even foodstuffs.

Senator Reed estimated that his plan would raise $2,000,000,000 a year, nearly half of the annual budget. The Treasury deficit at the end of this fiscal year is expected to be somewhere around $1,500,000,000.

He also advocated a higher inheritance tax, and repeal of the capital gains and lower provision in the income tax law.

Would Tax Nonessentials.

Representative Isaac Bacharach (Republican) of New Jersey, a member of the House ways and means committee, advocated a sales tax only on "luxuries and nonessentials," with tobacco excluded. In addition, however, he would place a higher tax on incomes from $100,000 to $1,000,000; increase the Federal estate tax and supplement it with a gift tax to prevent evasion by owners of large estates.

He did not estimate how much money his plan would raise.

The Reed plan, designed as it is to affect everybody, is certain to meet a savage attack from the Republican Progressives and the Democrats. As a matter of fact, Senator Smith Wildman Brookhart (Republican), of Iowa, attacked it yesterday.

The Bacharach plan, on the other hand, to a larger extent, is in line with the tax ideas of the Progressives, for it is aimed primarily at the rich.

The two plans come near to representing the opposite poles in tax philosophy.

Rich Getting Richer.

Contending that there is good reason for the statement that the rich are getting richer and the poor poorer, Representative Bacharach said yesterday that it was time to place additional levies on the larger incomes.

According to Senator Reed, however, the policy of forcing income taxes upward eventually defeats itself.

The "soak-the-rich" policy, he said, is all right so long as it places the burden on the man best able to pay. But frequently, he said, it tends to drive money into hiding.

Senator Reed pointed out that part of his plan was aimed directly at the rich, through his proposals for a higher inheritance tax and repeal of the capital gains and losses provision, which now permits wealthy persons to evade paying a just income tax.

Close to Administration.

So close is Senator Reed to President Hoover and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon that it is almost impossible to believe that he would make his proposal without their knowledge, although that doesn't necessarily imply that the President favored the plan. Both the President and the Treasury chief have been studying the financial situation in the Government, and seeking some way to balance the budget.

Representative Bacharach is an outstanding administration man in the House.

However, at the last session, it was Mr. Bacharach who was credited with having engineered the compromise on the soldier bonus fight, and paved the way for the bill allowing the vetgrans to borrow up to 50 per cent on their bonus certificates. President Hoover vetoed the bill, but it was passed over his veto. Since then

Highlights of Tax Plans To Meet Nation's Deficit

The tax revision plans proposed yesterday by Senator David A. Reed (Republican), of Pennsylvania, a member of the Senate finance committee, and Representative Isaac Bacharach (Republican), of New Jersey, a member of the House ways and means committee, follow:

The Reed Plan.

Repeal of the capital gains and losses provision in the income tax law.

The Bacharach Plan.

Increased surtax rates on incomes over $100,000, which are now 20 per cent, graduating the rates up to $1,000,000.

Increased Federal estate taxes.

Additional taxes on luxuries and nonessentials, but not on tobacco, which is already heavily taxed.

Senator Reed estimated that his universal sales tax on retail articles would net $2,000,000,000 a year—nearly half of the annual budget, and more than enough to wipe out the expected deficit of $1,500,000,000 at the end of this fiscal year.

The largest returns are expected to come from automobile and food purchases. Based upon the latest retail sales report of the Census Bureau, the tax would net about as follows:

Automobiles, $53,500,000; foods, $53,000,000; general merchandise, $35,100,000; apparel, $20,000,000; furniture and household wares, $11,000,000; restaurants, &c., $10,500,000; lumber and building supplies, $16,500,000.

Representative Bacharach did not estimate what amount his tax plan would raise in revenue.

Senator Reed would make his plan permanent; Mr. Bacharach would have his apply only so long as the depression lasted.

Spain and Vatican Making New Pact

Revised Accord Upholds Exile of Cardinal Segura; France Approves.

Madrid, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Fernando de Los Rios, minister of justice, said tonight the finishing touches were being placed on a new accord between Spain and the Vatican.

Under the accord, the minister said, Cardinal Primate Segura y Saenz, now in exile in France, would be interned there, and his position as primate filled by the vicar general. France, he said, had signified its approval of the plan which, he added, the "papal nuncio proposed" as a means of settling the situation.

Gen. Crowder was said to be improved He blames his illness to old age.

Hurley Answers Island Criticism

Making His Investigation With an Open Mind, He Declares.

Manila, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Returning to Manila after a trip into the provinces, Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley replied in an interview today to assertions printed by some newspapers here that he had displayed hostility toward the Philippine independence movement.

The War Secretary, who is expected to make recommendations to President Hoover regarding the independence question upon his return to Washington, emphasized that he was making his investigation with an open mind.

Pamphlet Called Partisan To Continue in Circulation

No Political Motive Underlay Publication of Material by Bicentennial Group, Executive Committee of Federation of Women's Clubs Asserts.

Despite wide comment on the George Washington bicentennial program pamphlet turned out by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, which has been called "partisan" by critics, the executive committee of the federation at its September meeting yesterday at national headquarters, 1743 N street northwest, took no action toward withdrawing it from circulation.

Criticism had been offered notably by Nellie Tayloe Ross, vice chairman of the national Democratic committee, on the ground that the pamphlet was a political document, because it overemphasized the alleged "similarities of mind and purpose of George Washington and Herbert Hoover and printed in parallel paragraphs sayings of the First President and of the present one, and the photographs of Washington and Hoover appear side by side on the cover.

Mrs. John F. Sippel, president of the federation, who is also chairman of the bicentennial committee, presided over yesterday's meeting. The following members of the committee were present: Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, Brockton, Mass., candidate for president at the next election; Mrs. Henry C. Taylor, of Bloomfield, Iowa; Mrs. Edward Hammett, Sheboygan, Wis., and Mrs. William H. Purdy, of Mount Vernon, N. Y.

A statement was given out by the executive committee after its meeting in regard to the bicentennial program controversy. "In the preparation of this program," it stated, "there was no thought of partisan politics. It was the opinion of the committee responsible for this program that it would serve the purpose for which it was prepared—to stimulate ideals of good citizenship.

"The program," continued the statement, "was prepared to give to them the inspiration of ideals expressed by an outstanding citizen of the eighteenth century and an outstanding citizen of the twentieth century. Quotations were chosen from the writings of our first President, whose bicentennial we are celebrating, and from the speeches of the man who will be our President during that period.

"The General Federation of Women's Clubs," the statement concluded,

Soldiers Patrol as Church Strife Flares in Arkansas

Jonesboro, Ark., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Seventy-five members of the Arkansas National Guard patrolled the streets of Jonesboro tonight to assist civil authorities, if necessary, in maintaining order in a factional fight among members of the First Baptist Church.

Martial law for the city was asked by city and county officials, but was not authorized by Gov. Parnell, following a clash between followers of the Rev. Joe Jeffers, an evangelist, and city officials at the city hall today.

Mr. Jeffers and his followers went to the city hall to protest to Mayor H. J. Bosler the arrest on assault and battery charges of three of their number, after a fight at the First Baptist Church last night.

The mayor, as well as Chief of Police Craig, were manhandled by Jeffers' followers, who gathered on the city hall lawn today for a prayer meeting, which Jeffers sought to hold while waiting for the trial of his followers to begin. The trial was postponed until Saturday.

Mayor Bosler refused permission for the service, but granted Jeffers' request for a "moment of prayer." Police said the evangelist then launced into a lengthy supplication in which he prayed that a bolt of lightning strike the mayor dead for interfering with the services.

Bosler then interrupted him and ordered that he lead his followers from the city hall lawn. A Jeffers follower sprang at the mayor and threw him to the ground. When Chief of Police Craig pulled him away, he sprang at the officer also and was subdued only when a policeman threatened to strike him with the butt of a revolver.

The disorder at the City Hall was the outgrowth of an attack on the character of Dr. D. H. Heard, pastor of the church, by Jeffers, and resultant feeling among the church members, some of whom attended revival services being conducted by Jeffers in a tent here.

Two French Planes Start Race From Paris to Tokyo

Joseph Lebrix and Companion, in Hyphen II and Jacques Codos and Aid, in Question Mark, Seek Record Held in U. S.

Le Bourget, France (Friday) Sept. 11 (U.P.).—Two airplanes, manned by daring French fliers, took off early today from Le Bourget Flying Field on a proposed race to Tokyo in quest of the world long distance record now held in the United States.

The airplane Hyphen II roared down the runway and into the air at 6:12 a. m. (12:12 a. m. Eastern standard time) with Joseph Lebrix, one of France's most famous aviators, at the controls, and Marcel Doret and Rene Mesmin as his aids.

Five minutes later, at 6:17, the Question Mark, manned by Paul Codos and Henri Robida, took the air and started out after the Hyphen II toward the East.

It was understood that both planes intended following practically the same route, veering to the north toward Brussels, passing Konigsburg and Moscow, and following the Transsiberian Railroad across the desolate Asiatic portion of the trip. Atmospheric conditions were described as excellent.

The air line distance from Le Bourget to Tokyo is approximately 6,000 miles. The present world distance record held by the Americans, Boardman and Polando, is slightly over 5,000 miles, made in a flight from North America to Istanbul.

Lebrix, former flying companion of Dieudonne Coste, France's premier flier, was prepared to make a supreme effort this time to capture the distance record which has eluded him in half a dozen attempts. His last attempt was early last summer, when with Doret and the mechanic, Mesmin, he was forced down in Siberia, where his plane was wrecked.

The fueling of Lebrix's plane began at midnight, and shortly after Codos and Robida decided to take advantage of the good weather and start also. The Question Mark is the plane which held the distance record until Boardman and Polando captured it. Costes piloted it at that time from Paris to Manchuria.

The two crews slept at Le Bourget after checking their planes. The machines were moved out to the runway from the hangar, where they had rested side by side, at 4 a. m. At 5 a. m., Codos and Robida appeared on the field. Lebrix and his companions arrived 40 minutes later.

GIFFORD CHOOSES 19 AS NEW COMMITTEE

Group Will Encourage Plans for "Made Work" to Give Unemployed Jobs.

(Associated Press.)

A committee composed largely of welfare leaders was appointed yesterday by Walter S. Gifford, national director, to administer unemployment relief next winter.

Fred C. Croxton, Gifford's assistant, was made chairman and eighteen others were named to the group, including Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War.

Among the welfare leaders appointed were J. Herbert Case, of New York, president of the Association of Community Chests and Councils; William J. Ellis, Trenton, N. J., president of the American Association of Public Welfare officials; John Barton Payne, chairman of the Red Cross; Mrs. John M. Glenn, New York City, of the Russell Sage Foundation; and Col. Edward Underwood, New York City, of the Salvation Army.

Matthew Woll Named.

Others named to the committee were C. M. Bookman, Cincinnati; Martin H. Carmody, Grand Rapids; E. D. Duffield, Newark; John K. Ottley, Atlanta; Frank R. Phillips, Pittsburgh; Raymond Robins, Brooksville, Fla.; Tom K. Smith, St. Louis; Mrs. Robert E. Speer, New York City; L. J. Taber, of the National Grange, Columbus; Thomas H. West, jr., Providence. Matthew Woll, of the American Federation of Labor, Washington, and John W. Davis, Institute, W. Va.

The committee appointed yesterday was the third Gifford has created. He appointed Owen D. Young, of New York chairman of the committee to raise funds through local communities; and Harry A. Wheeler, of Chicago, chairman of a committee to study means of increasing employment. Gifford announced yesterday that Young has called a meeting of his committee here September 18.

In appointing the third group, Gifford indicated one of its functions will be to encourage the organization of "made work" to provide employment for the jobless.

New England in Good Shape.

The report from Boston said general employment conditions in Massachusetts are showing a slight improvement. New England generally was said to be better off than any other section of the country with an industrial output for the first seven months of this year only 5 per cent below last year compared with a 15 per cent drop for the country as a whole.

The listing of unemployed in Lawrence, Mass., was reported to have been discontinued because of improvement among the industries there, especially the textile.

Among the cities reporting improvement were: Buffalo, Birmingham, Chicago and Salt Lake City.

Pittsburgh, Wilmington, Del.; Atlanta, Louisville, Houston, Galveston and Seattle reported little change, while Detroit and Dallas said conditions were slightly worse.

"Encouraging signs of increasing business activity in certain industries" were reported from Chicago.

Nebraska Is Held Ready To Care for Own Needy

Lincoln, Nebr., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Contending that Nebraska is able to care for its own unemployment and drought situation, Gov. C. W. Bryan today authorized Robert A. Flory, State commander of the American Legion, to advise legion officials at Washington that Nebraska would not take part in an employment conference there next Monday.

Gov. Bryan said he had been able to provide $150,000 for highway projects in the drought stricken Nebraska counties, in addition to other improvements included in the usual summer program. Under his plan the counties contract for labor with impoverished farmers. The State supervises the work and pays the bill.

Disaster Relief Worker To Tell of Experiences

Ernest P. Krick, disaster field representative of the American Red Cross, will speak before St. John's Lodge No. 11 at the Masonic Temple, Thirteenth street and New York avenue, tonight, on some of his experiences as a disaster relief worker.

Mr. Krick came to national headquarters of the Red Cross in Washington from the Pacific Coast a few years ago, and directed the drought relief operations in northern Louisiana last winter.

Civil Service Rule Costs Expert Job

Park Board Consultant Is Discharged Over Protest of Grant.

The Civil Service Commission has overridden protests of Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, executive director of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, and ordered the discharge of one expert employe and the examination of another, because they have no civil service status.

George A. Ricker, industrial consultant of the commission, has been dropped, it was learned yesterday, because of the ruling. One of Mr. Ricker's major duties has been to conduct negotiations with Arlington County and nearby Virginia authorities. His successor will probably be chosen soon through civil service channels.

Thomas S. Settle, Washington attorney, who was recently appointed secretary of the commission on a temporary basis, will be required to take an examination along with other applicants, if he retains the post. Applications will be received until September 29. The job pays $4,600 a year.

Senator Hastings.

Picnic, Not Earthquake, Got California Up Early

By JOHN J. DALY

FROM Italy comes word of an earthquake in California.

Rafael Bendandi, famous diagnostician of earthquakes, felt the pulse of the earth and discovered disturbances that shook Pacific Coast towns like Red Bluff, Calif. Residents there, thrown out of bed at 5:27 a. m., disclaimed all knowledge of a tremor, saying the town had got up early to go picnicking.

Bendandi, confronted with statements from irate statesmen of California, threatening international strife, said: "I distinctly heard quakes on the Europa-Asiatic frontier, with repercussions in America."

A California delegation, visiting Italy, immediately rushed to the laboratories of the great scientist and smashed his seismograph.

"Say it ain't so, signor," demanded a Native Son of California, and the Italian Carabineers were called out to quell the riot, the American delegation marching away in triumph, to the strains of their own band playing "California, Here We Come."

* * * *

WHILE all this was going on in Mussolinia, the Pacific Coast quake disturbed adjustment of the seismograph at Mount Harkness, in Lassen Volcanic National Park, a name, by the way, which will soon be changed by popular demand. Andrew Free, a forest ranger, who said his lookout station was severely shaken, was transferred for duty in Utah upon demands of the California Chamber of Commerce. "We'll have no traitors in this State," said the president of the chamber, polishing up a rail to ride the ranger over the border.

The Georgetown University seismographic observatory reported earthquake shocks of more than an hour and a half duration. In deference to the two California senators and the congressional delegation due to return to Washington, the Georgetown scientists failed to spot the location of the quake.

Seismographs the world over record California earthquakes, while Californians, who ought to know, wonder how they get that way.

* * * *

AT Santa Barbara, where the main street is being repaired after the last "storm," the mayor said, as he rocked to and fro on his feet, the city hall shaking under him: "All we know is what we read in the papers."

Sacramento sent a succession of denials, all signed by the governor, to the effect that California has no earthquake, has never had an earthquake, and, furthermore, will never, ever have an earthquake.

END OF COMMUNISM IN RUSSIA CLAIMED

American Engineer Says Form of State Capitalism Is Now in Force.

New York, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Col. Hugh L. Cooper, American hydroelectric engineer, said tonight on his return from Russia that communism had been abolished in that country and supplanted by a form of state capitalism.

Cooper's firm is acting as consulting and supervising engineers for an 800,000-horsepower hydroelectric plant on the Dnieper River in the South Ukraine.

"I have been in a position on my last trip to Russia in connection with the building of the power plant to observe and speak with those in authority," Col. Cooper said.

"And I can not only repeat that communism has been abolished but that the Soviets are now operating on a state capitalism basis. Furthermore, eventually, the Soviets plan to swing to a modified system of private capitalism.

"This is not hearsay, but information from the powers that be."

Russia, the engineer said, offers an excellent market for manufactured American goods. American capitalists, however, should wait some years before investing in the Soviet nation, he advised.

Japanese Plane Lindbergh's Guide

Tokyo, Friday, Sept. 11 (A.P.).—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, passing an aerial vacation here with his wife, announced today he and Mrs. Lindbergh would take off tomorrow morning in their monoplane for Osaka, metropolitan center of western Japan.

They plan to spend several days seeing the sights in the Kyoto district, he said, and then will continue with their projected journey to China.

Col. Lindbergh already has arranged for a Japanese plane to lead them to Osaka, as a precaution against breaking Japanese regulations covering flying over fortified areas.

Alpha Chi Rho Elects Maj. Frailey to Office

Maj. Thomas J. Frailey, 1728 Church street northwest, was elected national vice president of the Alpha Chi Rho Fraternity at the concluding sessions of the thirty-third annual convention of that body held in Chicago.

Maj. Frailey previously served in this office, succeeding in March the late Charles H. Bassford, a New York attorney, by national council appointment. He will give a convention report at the meeting of the Washington Alpha Chi Rho Club on Monday noon at the Lafayette Hotel.

Analostan Island Is Reported Sold

Roosevelt Memorial Body Stated to Have Bought Site in Potomac.

Sale of Analostan Island, in the Potomac River opposite Georgetown, to the Roosevelt Memorial Association, was reported yesterday to be accomplished. Officials of the Washington Gas Light Co., which owns the island, answered a query by saying that no papers had been signed.

If the sale is completed, it is understood that the Park and Planning Commission will withdraw the condemnation proceedings which have been requested against the tract.

Use to which the island would be put has not been announced, but the Memorial Association already has made public plans for a stadium to honor the athletic President. It is reported that the price of the island is about $400,000. The Planning Commission is understood to favor any proper memorial which might be erected on the tract.

86-MILE HURRICANE SWEEPS PORTO RICO

San Juan Power Lines Are Believed Down; Storm Goes North of City.

Miami, Fla., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—A tropical hurricane swept to the north of San Juan, Porto Rico, shortly after 9 o'clock tonight, whipping that city with an 86-mile-an-hour wind, Pan-American Airways radio reports said tonight. Power lines were believed destroyed in San Juan. Reports were lacking as to effect of another disturbance which passed inland south of Belize, British Honduras, this afternoon.

The highest wind of the night at San Juan came from west-southwest, the reports said. This was at 9:06 p. m. (E. S. T.) when the barometer read 29.33. At 9:30 p. m., the wind dropped and at 9:50 p. m., a 55-mile-an-hour wind from the southeast was recorded by instruments at the flying company's airport, with a barometric pressure of 29.68 inches.

Airway officials said the center of the storm apparently passed north of San Juan in the 44-minute period.

Belief that power lines in San Juan were destroyed was expressed here by officials who said the airport in the Porto Rican capital was operated tonight by power generated from the field and not from that generated in the city, as is customary.

St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—This island was in the grip of a storm of mild intensity this afternoon, with heavy rain and high winds, but no damage was reported. The storm is supposed to have passed off to the north.

(Associated Press.)

The Weather Bureau last night issued the following storm warnings: "Advisory 9 p. m. Caribbean disturbance has moved inland over British Honduras, short distance from Belize. Another tropical disturbance central last night short distance northwest of St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, apparently moving west-northwestward with increasing intensity, St. Thomas reporting 60-mile southwest wind."

Capital Man Inherits Estate of His Father

Special to The Washington Post.

Los Angeles, Calif., Sept. 10.—Dr. William Taylor Miller, of Washington, D. C., will inherit the $20,000 estate of his father, William V. Miller, according to terms of the latter's will submitted here for probate. Mr. Miller died August 27 in Glendale a year and two days after making the will. He was 78 years old.

Under the terms of the will all of Mr. Miller's personal property is to go to Dr. Miller at once, and the remainder is to be held in trust. The income from this is to go to Mr. Miller's sister, Louise Klein Miller, of Cleveland, during her life and at her death the trust will terminate and the entire amount will go to Dr. Miller.

OWN PISTOL KILLED BOWERS, STORE HEAD

Ballistics Tests Convince Police; Accident Held as Best Theory.

Police last night were still seeking to explain the mysterious shooting of Jeff Bowers, 26-year-old People's Hardware Store manager, found fatally wounded yesterday in the rear of his store at 1311 Seventh street northwest, a bullet through his chest.

Headquarters detectives inclined to the "accident theory" as the most plausible of three solutions put forward for the slaying. The alternative solutions are suicide and murder.

Reconstructing the "accident," members of the homicide squad suggested the gun may have been discharged as Bowers fingered it, preparatory to taking it out of the drawer. They point out that holdups are not infrequent in this neighborhood, and the man probably was accustomed to keeping the gun in readiness.

Lieut. John Fowler, police ballistics expert, said he was satisfied the .32 caliber bullet which penetrated the body, and a shell lying nearby were fired from an automatic of the same caliber found in a blood-stained drawer at the counter, where Bowers was standing when shot.

An autopsy was performed late yesterday by Deputy Coroner Joseph D. Rogers, and an inquest was set for 11:30 o'clock this morning by Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt. Dr. Rogers found Bowers met death from a gunshot wound.

No Signs of Struggle.

Police were unable to find any witness to the shooting, but John Hoffman, a carpenter, who was repairing a lock in the rear of the store, heard a muffled sound which he did not recognize at once as a gunshot. He said it was accompanied by a "sort of a cry" and a hissing sound.

He investigated at once and found the store manager lying on his face on the floor beside the cash register. There were no signs of a struggle and the money in the cash register was undisturbed.

Bowers' own automatic was later found in the counter drawer, which was closed. The gun had been withdrawn from its holster, which also was found in the drawer. Police took the weapon to headquarters, where Detective Sergt. Fred M. Sandberg examined it for finger prints, and Lieut. Fowler performed ballistics tests.

Hoffman, who is 25 years old and lives at 1424 Ninth street northwest, was arrested, taken to the Tenth Precinct, and afterward booked for "investigation" at police headquarters. He was released after police said he was unable to throw any light on the case.

The bullet passed through Bowers' chest and punctured a tin of paint on a shelf nearby.

No Powder Stains on Shirt.

Bowers, who was married and lived at 3839 Thirty-second street, Mount Rainier, Md., was taken to Casualty Hospital, where he was pronounced dead by Dr. Lee Masters, about 35 minutes after the shooting. He is survived by his widow, a 2-year-old son, Albert; four sisters, a brother and his mother, who live near Troy, N. Y.

No powder stains were found on the white shirt Bowers was wearing. On the counter near where bloodstains were found, were lying a crowbar and a hammer Bowers had used in repairing shelves. The shirt was turned over to Edwin R. Donaldson, police microanalyst.

Ford Dealers Report Increase of Business

Increased business during the first part of September was reported by Ford dealers and representatives in Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia at a business meeting and luncheon at the Mayflower Hotel yesterday.

Sales for the first ten days of this month have exceeded those in the corresponding period last month, it was reported. More than 200 dealers and representatives attended the meeting. W. C. Cowling, director of sales of the Ford Motor Co., Detroit, spoke.

Montgomery Will Mark Defenders' Day Event

Montgomery County banks, county offices and many business establishments will be closed tomorrow in observance of Defenders' Day, a legal holiday in Maryland. This holiday has been observed for more than a century and commemorates the defense of Baltimore, September 12, 1814.

Gen. Ross and Admiral Cockburn had landed large forces of British soldiers and sailors on North Point, at the mouth of the Patapsco River, where they were defeated and driven back, opening an unsuccessful bombardment of Fort McHenry the next day. It was in the course of this attack that Francis Scott Key wrote the "Star-Spangled Banner."

Dick Grace, Plane Wrecker For Movies, Plans to Retire

Ace of Hollywood Daredevils to Crack Up 6 More Ships for Total of 40, and Quit While He Is Still Able.

Hollywood, Sept. 10 (U.P.).—The last of that sturdy little band of men whose business it is to crack up airplanes is about to retire from the movie lots.

Dick Grace is the undisputed ace of Hollywood's daredevil stunt aviators. Out of the 23 who started, he alone has escaped its heavy toll. Eighteen are dead. Four are crippled.

Grace's neck has been broken, his back dislocated. A dozen scars attest to piercings by broken propellers, motor parts and caved-in fuselages. His ribs have been broken nine times. Other fliers in Hollywood will stunt planes, but will not crack them up.

"I've cracked up 34 ships," Grace said today. "I'm going to smash six more and then I'm through. That will be 40 and if I try 41 I have a feeling that my number will be up."

Grace insists that air conditions are best at 11:45 a. m. and will make crashes only at that hour. He risks his life and his neck for $2,500 a crash, in advance. Of late, he has been writing a great deal. Three books are bringing him large royalties.

Three of the six crashes remaining will be in "The Lost Squadron," taken from a story written by Grace himself.

"I take care to get a really protective contract," Grace explained. "In addition to my salary, I receive a guarantee of $100 a week if incapacitated. Also I receive full hospital attention.

"I insist that eight of my own men be provided as a rescue crew. They know their business. They are led by a former captain of the air service. Each is equipped with a different instrument—rip saw, adze, ax, 4-foot steel bar, shears, knives, crowbars and fire extinguishers. Also there is a four-man pulmotor crew and three firemen.

"It takes them about 30 seconds to get me out of a wrecked and burning ship."

INFATUATION SUIT

Suit for $100,000 was filed in Boston Federal Court against Mrs. Henrietta G. Hartford (above), wealthy Newport woman, by Mildred King, who said she was employed to break the fascination of youthful Huntington Hartford for a New York girl. She charged Mrs. Hartford agreed to pay her to break up the romance.

MURIEL M'CORMICK WED UNDER ASH TREE

Kinswoman of Rockefeller and Farmer Get Waiver on Five-Day License.

Bar Harbor, Me., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Muriel McCormick, daughter of Harold H. McCormick and Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, of Chicago, today became the bride of Elisha Dyer Hubbard, 53-year-old resident of Middletown, Conn. The wedding took place less than 24 hours after news of their engagement was made public by Mrs. McCormick in Chicago.

The ceremony was performed in the gardens of Deep Cove, summer home of the bride's godparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander McKinlock, of Chicago. The marriage license was issued an hour and a half before the wedding under a waiver of the five-day law by Municipal Judge Norman Shaw. The license listed the groom's occupation as "farmer."

Mr. Hubbard, a bachelor, is the son of Elisha Kent Hubbard, Connecticut banker and industrialist.

Only a few persons witnessed the ceremony. It was not believed Mr. McCormick was present, as a few minutes before the ceremony Mrs. McKinlock handed a statement to the press in which McCormick announced the marriage. The grounds then were barred to visitors and since no automobiles had arrived at the estate during the morning it was thought only the McKinlock household was present at the wedding.

Bicentennial Body Fixes Hotel Rates

Hostelries Pledge to Bar Higher Charges During Celebration.

Hotels of Washington will not raise their rates during 1932, although the city will be thronged by the hundreds of thousands who will attend the George Washington Bicentennial observance here, A. K. Shipe, chairman of the District Commission's hospitality committee, said yesterday.

Mr. Shipe said the Hotel Association of Washington had assured his committee of its cooperation. Similar assurances that rates will be kept normal have been received from hotels not members of the association, according to Mr. Shipe. Washington hotels have nightly accommodations for 15,000, while boarding houses and apartment hotels can care for 10,000 additional.

Additional plans for special music for the Bicentennial celebration were revealed yesterday. John Alden Carpenter has been asked to compose a choral ode in honor of George Washington, Representative Sol Bloom, associate director of the commission, announced.

Mr. Carpenter has accepted the invitation, and the ode will be published in time for the celebration in 1932. Mr. Carpenter is known as a composer thoroughly representative of America and American ideals. He was born in Park Ridge, Ill., and makes his home in Chicago.

Truck Driver Is Injured In Triple-Headed Crash

Robert B. Collier, 24, of 1333 Euclid street northwest, was injured yesterday at Ninth and I streets southeast when two trucks and a coupe were in collision.

John Cavanagh was driving a delivery truck west on I street when it collided with Collier's laundry truck at the corner, according to police, forcing it against a coupe driven by Marguerite Chinn, colored, 1258 Columbia road northwest. Cavanagh's hardware store is at 3271 M street northwest.

CHACO CLASH HELD NO BARRIER TO PACT

Bolivia-Paraguay Plan Is Believed Safe Here as Both Report Fray.

(Associated Press.)

State Department officials said last night they believed from the notes handed to them by representatives of the Paraguayan and Bolivian legations the Sunday skirmish in the Chaco would not prove an insuperable obstacle to a settlement of that dispute.

It was said from reliable sources last night that both Bolivia and Paraguay have agreed to discuss a pact of nonaggression as proposed recently by the five neutrals.

The Bolivian legation yesterday delivered to the department a report of the fighting in which the minister of foreign affairs placed the blame for the incident on Paraguay.

Previously Paraguay also handed in a brief report of the affair, blaming Bolivians for the clash. In other details the reports were similar, except that the Paraguayans said Commander Estigarridia had informed the ministry of war at Asuncion that one Paraguayan private and a Bolivian officer and four Bolivian privates were killed. The Bolivian report gave the Bolivian casualties as one killed and one critically wounded, mentioning no Paraguayan deaths.

No meeting of the representatives of the neutrals has yet been called to consider the question but American Government officials cited two possible courses of action for the neutrals. One was for the neutral governments to agree upon a common proposal to be made by them for courses of action by both Bolivia and Paraguay. The other was for the neutrals' representatives here to consider such courses of action and then each suggest a common one to his government, which might be recommended separately to the disputing countries by each neutral government.

The nonaggression pact proposed by the neutrals was originally suggested in substance by the Bolivian government.

Sandino Soon to Attack, Mexican Agent Reports

Mexico City, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Dr. B. J. Zepeda, foreign representative of Augustino Sandino, Nicaraguan insurgent leader, said today Sandino was preparing an offensive for November and December, to coincide with the sixth Pan-American Congress and show that his movement is still active.

Dr. Zepeda denied Tegucigalpa reports that Sandino had ordered his troops to burn towns. He said there was no truth in rumors that the rebel chieftain was suffering from tuberculosis and would abandon Nicaragua.

Good Will Flight Starts.

Rio de Janiero Sept. 10 (U.P.).—A "good will" flight touching at every Latin-American capital, including Mexico City, will begin at 7 a. m. tomorrow when the airplane Duque de Gaixas departs for Montevideo, Uruguay, the first stop. Lieut. Mello will pilot the plane and will be accompanied by Capt. Archimedes and Lieut. Vidal as navigators.

Gov. Roosevelt Sails for New York.

San Juan, Porto Rico, Sept. 10 (U.P.).—Gov. He will visit Washington to discuss extension of more Federal legislation to the island.

Vera Cruz Institute Bombed.

Vera Cruz, Mexico, Sept. 10 (U.P.). The Guillermino Institute, where 30 children were living, was bombed today by anti-Catholic agitators. The school recently had been closed on charges that Catholic teachers were violating the state law restricting religious activities.

Hoover Receives Pangborn Appeal

Refers Matter to State Department for Action With Tokyo.

(Associated Press.)

The appeal to President Hoover of Hugh Herndon and Clyde Pangborn, American fliers detained in Japan, has been received at the White House and sent to the State Department.

Herndon and Pangborn requested President Hoover to use his influence in obtaining for them a permit to fly from Japan to the United States. The two fliers recently were fined for having photographed Japanese fortifications while flying from Siberia.

It was said at the White House that there was nothing President Hoover could do in the matter, so it had been referred to the State Department for handling. State Department officials said every effort was being made by Ambassador Forbes in Tokyo to procure a permit for the fliers.

Embezzlement of $428 Charged.

Three charges of embezzlement from Sears Roebuck & Co., the alleged peculation allegedly totaling $428, were placed yesterday against Harold T. Howland, 39, 3708 Massachusetts avenue northwest. He has been held for investigation since Wednesday, when he was arrested by Third Precinct police.

Police Asked to Hunt Boy, 10.

Mrs. Cordelia Fisher yesterday enlisted the aid of Second Precinct police in searching for her 10-year-old son, Carl R. PAMPHLET CALLED PARTISAN TO CONTINUE IN CIRCULATION

"is not a political organization. The women who have guided it in the past and those who are now directing its work have neither political training nor desire to enter actively into partisan politics. As an organization we urge that citizens accept their responsibility as voters, but we leave to the individual's judgment and conviction the determination as to how it shall be expressed."

Purpose of Program.

It is said that the program was prepared to feature the bestowal of citizenship upon the new citizens who come of age in 1932, so as to bring to them a realization of the responsibilities and the privileges of citizenship in the United States.

Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, national Democratic committeewoman from the District of Columbia, stated: "I have always had such an admiration for the General Federation of Women's Clubs and its constructive work throughout the Nation that is a great surprise to me that this organization would seemingly lend itself to partisan politics in this manner.

"It seems a significant fact that such a document should be published on the eve of our national elections.

"To my mind they have done the President a very bad turn in this matter and I am sure that he personally would never trade upon the bicentennial observance in any way for his own political gain."

Mrs. John D. Sherman, woman member of the Bicentennial Commission, would not comment on the circular. Mrs. Sherman is a former president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and at present is the chairman of the department of the American Home. During her administration as president, she started a campaign against propaganda directed at women's organizations. She recommended withdrawal of the federation from the Woman's Joint Congressional Committees, made up of representatives of 25 women's organizations, because of the dangers of the federation being drawn into partisan controversies.

The Federation of Women's Clubs has always particularly prided itself on its record of fifty years of nonpartisan activity in connection with issues which concern women. Before the franchise wsa granted women, it took no part in any political activities, but since the great majority of members now vote, the federation works for legislation it approves, without thought of candidates and parties.

Bloom Maintains Silence.

Representative Sol Bloom, of New York, director of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission, also would not comment on the circular, because it was not a matter that came under his jurisdiction. It has not been submitted to the commission for approval or disapproval. Were it submitted, Representative Bloom pointed out, the commission would simply check up on its historical facts as it has made it a rule not to officially approve or disapprove anything of that character.

Other matters taken up by the executive committee included consideration of the assistance the 3,000,000 women of the federation are giving in relief of the unemployment situation and food conservation. Reports were made on the survey of economic conditions in the homes of the Nation now being made by the federation. Adjustment of boy and girl graduates who have not been able to find employment was also discussed.

KIDNAPER SUSPECTS TO BE GIVEN LIBERTY

Victims Fail to Identify Five Men Seized in Illinois; Police Accused.

Chicago, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The search for a band of kidnapers was back at its starting point tonight, with five suspects absolved by failure of victims to identify them, but with fresh mysteries awaiting solution.

The quintet rounded up at Decatur and brought here last night were viewed today by two men whose freedom was bought for $75,000 and $50,000, but neither James Hackett, Blue Island roadhouse keeper, nor John J. Lynch, racing publisher, could recognize them.

Unexplained yet were the statements of Decatur authorities that Hackett interviewed the five prisoners in a cell for more than an hour Wednesday and positively identified Monte Moore as one of his kidnapers, and the assertion of Patrick Roche, State's attorney's investigator at Chicago, that unnamed police received a $50,000 split from the kidnapers of Hackett and let them go.

Moore and his fellow prisoners, Morris Luttrell, Henry Eslinger, Joseph Yates and William Wallace were to be returned to Decatur late today.

"I'm through with them," said Roche.

Contradictory statements given out here and at Decatur left uncertain the manner of the inquiry at the downstate city. Roche had announced yesterday that he was informed Hackett identified Moore, and at Decatur the jailkeeper confirmed this. When Hackett and a Chicago detective returned here and conferred with Roche, however, it was stated that they had not seen the prisoner until they arrived at Chicago, and then Hackett could not point to Moore as a kidnaper.

Fred J. Blumer, a brewer, of Monroe, Wis., who also was a recent victim of the kidnaping gang, declined, Roche said, to come here for the show-up.

Mayor O. W. Smith of Decatur, in the absence of his chief of police, said a vigilant investigation would be made of Roche's report that certain police, unnamed, accepted a $50,000 bribe from the kidnapers.

Prof. King, Noted Astronomer, Dies

Educator Filled Phillips Chair at Harvard Since 1926.

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Prof. Edward Skinner King, 70, Phillips professor emeritus of astronomy at Harvard University, died today at his home here. He was a native of Liverpool, N. Y., and had been connected with the Harvard Observatory since 1887. The funeral will be held Saturday.

Prof. King, who obtained the first photographic observation of the occulation of a star and the first photograph of spectrum of the aurora, became professor emeritus recently after occupying the chair since 1926. He received his bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees from Hamilton College in 1887 and 1890, respectively, and the same institution conferred the degree of doctor of science upon him in 1927.

Mrs. Lionel Barrymore Ill.

Pasadena, Calif., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Mrs. Lionel Barrymore, wife of the actor and film director, was under treatment at a hospital here today. Barrymore said she was under weight and needed rest. She is the former Irene Fenwick, stage actress.

When Washington Was Younger—No. 41

IN days of old when Washington had more of a nautical atmosphere, this little house was an important factor in the operation of the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal.

It was the lock house for the Eastern Terminal of the canal. For the information of those who don't know their canals a lock house had nothing to do with a hoosegow. In it lived the lock keeper and it was his duty to open the locks and let the canal craft proceed on the way.

This lock house was erected about 1835, and it stands today at the corner of Seventeenth and Constitution avenue; formerly B street northwest, in almost the same spot where it was originally. When Constitution avenue was widened it was moved a few yards.

The canal passed along the present line of Constitution avenue and emptied into Tiber Creek and the Potomac River. Exigencies of the day have done their best to remove the aura of romance from the little rock house. The lower floor is now a public comfort station while the upper story is used as a storehouse by park police.

MOVE TO REINDICT 'AL' CAPONE FAILS

Judge Refuses to Hear Report as Grand Jury Brings In No New Bills.

Chicago, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The Government's effort to reindict the millionaire public enemy, "Scarface Al" Capone, on some of the 5,000 prohibition law offenses charged against him went by the boards today. A grand jury report, containing no indictment, was destroyed.

The Federal grand jury instructed by United States District Judge James H. Wilkerson to look over the evidence and see if it might specify more serious charges against the gangster was discharged without returning an indictment.

The jurors offered to report progress of their investigation, but Judge Wilkerson refused to hear it.

"I am not interested in reports, only in indictments," said the judge, explaining later that Federal courts may receive no written reports from grand juries.

What was in the report was not disclosed. The jury foreman informed Judge John P. Barnes there was no report to make. Between courtrooms he had torn up the proffered statement, later indicating he might release it to the newspapers and still later departing instead for a vacation.

Bishop Cannon to Sail For America Tomorrow

London, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Bishop James Cannon, jr., of the Methodist Church South, who returned from the continent yesterday, said today that he expected to sail for New York on the Mauretania on Saturday, "arriving at Washington at the time I told Senator Nye I would arrive."

The bishop has been in Switzerland attending the international congress against alcoholism. At Geneva he conferred with certain League of Nations officials concerning a resolution adopted by the assembly in 1928, directing "that the health organization of the League of Nations collect statistical information regarding alcoholism considered as a consequence of the abuse of alcohol."

New York Probers Quiz Body Member

Activities as Advocate Before Appeal Board Are Being Checked.

New York, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—A Republican-controlled legislative committee turned today to an inquiry into the relations of one of its Democratic members with a branch of the municipal government.

Senator John J. Dunnigan, of the Bronx, who holds an ex officio membership on the committee by virtue of his position as senate Democratic leader, came under the scrutiny of the investigators. The committee, headed by Senator Samuel H. Hofstadter, New York Republican, revealed that it was delving into Dunnigan's career as an advocate before the board of standards and appeals.

The board has authority to review bids, examine into the suitability of materials and investigate the reliability of firms bidding for municipal contracts. It is empowered to determine when exceptions may be made in zoning laws and other property and building restrictions.

PRISONER IS HELPED BY BRAIN OPERATION

Surgeons Hopeful Man May Be Cured of All Future Criminal Impulse.

Massillon, Ohio, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Howard Buck, 30, Akron, who several days ago submitted to a brain operation in the hope it would correct his alleged criminal tendencies evidenced during lapses of memory, was well on the way to recovery tonight.

Dr. Arthur G. Hyde, superintendent of the Massillon State Hospital, and surgeons who performed the operation at Buck's request, expressed a belief it may have corrected the irregularities in Buck's life. At least, they said, he had escaped from recurrent pains in the head which had troubled him for several years.

Officials said his criminal tendencies, evidenced by two forgery arrests, were not observed until after he suffered a skull fracture. The injury caused him to be held in a hospital several months at that time.

Buck asked the operation after an examination, requested by Don Isham, Summit County prosecuting attorney, disclosed a pressure on his brain. The operation showed an abscess of dense adhesions on the covering of the brain on which a piece of bone caused pressure.

His only law violations, officials said, occurred at the times during which he was suffering from a lapse of memory.

ALLIED DRY FORCES TO SPEND $600,000

nue act of 1929, for example, a tax of $1.10 a gallon is imposed on spirits for nonbeverage purposes. If converted to beverage use, however, the tax jumps to $5.30. Thus the illegal diversion of less than 20,000 gallons of alcohol would bring the tax to more than $100,000.

Other penalties range from a few dollars to a possible tax of $2,000 for dealing in liquor contrary to the laws of a State and on to a $1,000 tax under the prohibition law for manufacturing intoxicating liquor.

Decision Figures in Change.

It was learned yesterday there was considerable discussion within the Prohibition Bureau prior to the issuance of the new instructions several weeks ago.

Although the Federal imposition of civil taxes and penalties upon dry law violators has been practiced since the advent of prohibition, telegraphic orders to withhold all such action suddenly were issued early this year.

These negative orders were contingent upon a decision by the United States Supreme Court in the case of U. S. vs. La France. The decision said, in effect, that a civil action to recover taxes is barred by a prior criminal conviction of the defendant for the same liquor transaction.

After months of consideration as to revising its instructions to dry law administrators in the light of this decision, the Prohibition Bureau has decided the law will be better enforced under criminal prosecutions. However, the new orders provide for liberal use of civil actions in such cases as are not criminally prosecuted.

NEW YORKER SOUGHT IN SINGER'S MURDER

Fred Humbert Found Slain in Summer Home Shared With Charles Chapman.

Norwalk, Conn., Sept. 10 (U.P.).—New York City police were asked to aid in the search for Charles Chapman, New York interior decorator, who is wanted for questioning in the murder of Fred Humbert, 24-year-old chorus man.

Humbert's body, clad in pajamas, was found in the bedroom of the Belle Island summer home rented by Chapman. The chorus man's head had been crushed by a blow from a block of wood.

The body was lying in one of the twin beds in the bedroom. The other bed appeared to have been slept in, and a shoe horn, lying on the floor, gave indication that someone had dressed hurriedly.

Humbert and Chapman had been living in the house, located in an exclusive summer colony for some weeks, and were well known in the neighborhood.

They had played cards with Mr. and Mrs. T. J. King last Sunday night, and were to have played again Tuesday night. They told the Kings, it is said, that they were scheduled to sail for Europe together on the Ile de France tomorrow.

Both Humbert and Chapman were large men and had, in recent weeks, attracted attention in the colony by riding about the streets in an Austin car. The car was missing today.

Humbert's body was discovered by Arthur Clark, owner of the house, who was asked to investigate by Mr. and Mrs. King. New York police have been asked to look for Chapman and to watch the Ile de France for him.

Humbert, according to the medical examiner, apparently had been killed while he slept and had been dead several days when the body was found.

$825,000 Tax Paid By Marion Davies

Settlement Ends Dispute in $1,000,000 Federal Income Claim.

New York, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The Herald Tribune says that Marion Davies, motion picture actress, has settled a $1,000,000 Federal income tax case by paying the Bureau of Internal Revenue $825,000.

Miss Davies, on her return from Europe today, said the deficit in her income tax involved earnings over a period of years on properties she owns in New York.

The actress said her failure to pay taxes resulted from a misunderstanding with her real estate agent, who she thought was taking care of the payments. She made one trip to Washington to effect the compromise adjustment, she told the newspaper.

Cherokee Squaws Vote; Handsome Chief Picked

Cherokee Indian Reservation, Bryson City, N. C., Sept. 10 (U.P.).—A nation within a Nation, the Eastern band of Cherokee Indians today elected as their new tribal chief for a term of four years a college-bred Indian, who can not speak the Cherokee tongue.

The new chief, who will reign over 3,131 Indians and 63,000 acres of mountain country, is Jarrett Blythe, young, tall, handsome and a graduate of the Carlisle Indian School in Pennsylvania. For the first time squaws were allowed to vote.

Diplomats Attend Rites For Mrs. Edge's Mother

Paris, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The entire diplomatic corps was represented today at the funeral services in the American Cathedral for Mrs. Harold M. Sewall, of Bath, Me., mother-in-law of Ambassador Walter E. Edge.

Seven officials of the French Foreign Office represented Aristide Briand, the French foreign minister, who is now at Geneva. The Rev. George C. Gibbs, officiated.

MacNider Coming Here.

Ottawa, Ontario Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Col. He will also attend the national convention of the legion in Detroit returning to Ottawa about September 25.

GUNMEN EXECUTE 3 IN NEW YORK WARS

Two Victims Are Believed Racketeers; Third Was Clothing Worker.

New York, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Gunmen sprayed bullets along three fronts in New York City today, each time taking the life of the man they sought.

James Lepor, alias James Marino, slain in a barber shop in the Bronx, was felled by bullets which whizzed in from the street as he was paying the barber for cutting the hair of his two small children. Neither of the children was hurt. Police said Lepor was believed to have been connected with the wine grape and alcohol rackets.

Salvatore Maranzano, 47, died in what police said was a bootleggers' rendezvous in the New York Central Building. He was stabbed and fatally shot by three or four men who entered the offices known as the Eagle Building Corporation on the ninth floor of the railroad terminal with the announcement, "We are the police." A woman telephone operator and a clerk witnessed the slaying.

Jacob Kiviat, who, police learned, recently was ousted from the clothing cutters union, Local No. 4, Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, was killed in a lower East Side restaurant early in the day by two men who escaped in an automobile. He died after telling police of the clothing cutters labor union row.

In the "Eagle Building Corporation" offices police found printed forms of the United States Department of Immigration which indicated, they said, that Maranzano might have been connected with the alien smuggling ring recently uncovered by Department of Justice agents.

Boys playing in a vacant lot in Long Island City rescued a man who gave his name as Charles McGovern, 36, and who police said apparently had been left to die in a pile of burning rubbish. They pulled him from the fire when they saw his leg protruding beneath the flames.

210 Shipments Seized Under Pure Food Law

Two hundred and ten shipments of food and drugs found to be in violation of the national pure food and drugs law were seized by the Federal food and drug administrator in July and August, it was announced yesterday by W. G. Campbell, director of regulatory work, Department of Agriculture.

The administration also sent to the solicitor of the Agricultural Department 105 consignments of foods and drugs with recommendations for prosecution of the shippers. Foods and drugs seized included: 76 cases of canned peas, seven consignments of ether, 16,000 pounds of tullibee fish and several hundred bottles of a proprietary remedy and many boxes of ointment.

Lisbon-to-New York Fliers Hop Tomorrow

Lisbon, Portugal, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Willy Rody and Christian Johanssen, German airmen, said today that they intended to start on a transatlantic flight to New York early Saturday morning in the hope of arriving there Sunday.

The fliers came to Lisbon recently from Berlin.

give confidence for new investments on a long-term basis?"

The American Minister to Switzerland, Hugh L. Wilson, and 6 officers of the United States Consulate at Geneva are in attendance at the league assembly, with 3 prime ministers and 23 foreign ministers of other nations.

They are observing the formal deliberations of the assembly and have many points of informal contact with their European colleagues and others.

One of the most striking features of the assembly is the weakness of the British delegation. It is recognized that the financial crisis in that country makes it impossible for a cabinet member to attend, but the absence of a responsible statesman is considered a misfortune for the league at such a time.

Mexican Secretary Silent.

Mexico City, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Foreign Secretary Genaro Estrada refused tonight to say whether the statement he cabled yesterday to Geneva that Mexico never has "admitted" the Monroe Doctrine constituted a reservation to acceptance of the invitation to become a member or was merely a clarification of her foreign policy.

He said, however, that having accepted the invitation he considered Mexico automatically a member of the league.

Observers pointed out that if the statement was meant as a reservation, a reply from Geneva would be necessary to make clear whether the league could admit Mexico, inasmuch as article 21 of the league covenant mentions the "validity" of the doctrine.

the men. He refused to say whether he placed any significance on that circumstance.

He did say, however, that Mrs. Collings' general story coincided in many particulars with statements made by Barbara. He said he believed Mrs. Collings was in error in saying she had traveled 9 miles in the canoe with the men, but instead had been taken over a limited stretch of water several times before being marooned in a motorboat.

Picked Boat by Chance.

The inspector said he was convinced the men picked the motorboat in which Mrs. Collings was left purely by chance. It was at anchor and belonged to a wealthy Long Island yachtsman whose name police would not reveal.

Inspector King said that a quantity of jewelry was found in the toe of one of Barbara's shoes, but he could find no reason for its presence there nor could Mrs. Collings shed any light on the discovery.

The inspector said he would make a careful investigation into all phases of Mrs. Collings' story.

MODELS TO EXHIBIT HIGHWAY FEATURES

Display to Be Entered by 4-H Clubs at Exposition in Springfield.

Features of the Mount Vernon Memorial Highway now under construction along the Potomac River, between Washington and Mount Vernon, will be shown through the use of two large models to be exhibited by the Department of Agriculture at the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield, Mass., September 20 to 26, it was announced yesterday.

The models will be exhibited by members of the 4-H clubs. The larger one will show the underpasses which separate the grade of the highway from the main roadway between Washington and Alexandria, and from the railroad between the two cities. Roadways, lamps, trees, shrubs and other details as they will appear on the highway when finished, will be reproduced in the models.

The smaller model will represent the terminal circle and parking areas at the approach to Mount Vernon, and will show how plantings of trees and shrubs will screen the parking places. The models are so large that stairways have been erected to inspection platforms.

A special 4-H club booth at the exposition will include exhibits of fruit drinks and mineral waters and vitamin contents by the Virginia club members and canning by the Maryland group. Selections from new government agricultural bulletins will complete the exhibit of the Agriculture Department.

First Broadcaster Dies at Pittsburgh

Dr. Davis Long Was Active in Development of Radio.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Dr. Harry Phillips Davis, known as "the father of radio broadcasting," died at his home today after an illness of several months.

He was chairman of the board of the National Broadcasting Co., a vice president of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. and a director in numerous other corporations. He was 63 years old.

In the experimental shack which housed KDKA, Pittsburgh, the world's first broadcasting station, he envisioned the growth of radio and had a large part in rapid development of broadcast equipment. The world's first public broadcast was when KDKA transmitted presidential election returns of 1920. In 1926 the National Broadcasting Co. was organized with Davis as its chairman and M. H. Aylesworth as its president.

Seven Baltimore Men Indicted in Conspiracy

Baltimore, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Three indictments, charging conspiracy to defraud the city were returned today by the grand jury against seven men, two of them former city officials.

Those named were Dr. Lawrence W. Houston, former councilman; John H. Robinette, former president of the commission for opening streets; William R. Funk, real estate agent; Robert M. Stein, battery dealer; James J. Hughe, a property owner, and Andrew J. Dietrich and A. Clarence Dietrich, brothers, officials of a cutlery concern.

Brazil Authorizes Gold Basis Tariffs

Reciprocal Minimum of Duties Will Affect United States.

Rio de Janeiro, Sept. 10.—A government decree issued today placed Brazilian tariffs on a full gold milreis basis, supplanting the former practice of payment partly in paper. The decree stipulates a 20 per cent reduction in general customs duties, which must be paid in gold milreis.

To nations charging a minimum tariff on Brazilian products this government will reduce its duties 35 per cent, payment to be in gold.

The United States, Great Britain and Canada will receive minimum tariffs, it was understood.

Globe Tourists Repair Plane.

New York, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Day, of Ridgewood, N. J., making a leisurely tour of the world by plane, cabled to their representatives today that their plane, forced down in the jungle several days ago, was being repaired and that their flight would be resumed in about ten days. The cablegram was from Sandoway, Burma, about 100 miles northwest of Rangoon.

Bomb Damages Portuguese Club.

Oporto, Portugal, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The building of the Fenianso Portuenses Club, one of the most exclusive in Portugal, was badly damaged early today by the explosion of a large bomb. Authorities suspect a political motive for the bombing.

Frances Marion's Mate To Begin Divorce Action

Los Angeles, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The Times says Frances Marion, scenario writer, has left for Europe and her husband George Hill, director, has gone to Reno, Nev., to sue for divorce.

Both departed yesterday, the paper said, leaving word with friends they were separating on account of incompatibility. The two parted several months ago, but later were reconciled. Miss Marion and Mr. Hill were married secretly, in Phoenix, Ariz., in January, 1930.

Amherst College Dean's Resignation Announced

Simultaneously the appointment of Prof. Charles S. Porter as acting dean was announced.

Legal Diploma Forged To Show Dying Mother

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Jack Yarmov, of Atlantic City, N. J., admitted forging a law diploma from the Dickinson Law School, of New Jersey, at a hearing today before the State Supreme Court which was asked to refuse him a license to practice law although he passed the State bar examination.

The protest against Yarmov was lodged by the Lake County (Raleigh) Bar Association which asserted he had not complied with residence requirements. Yarmov said he forged the diploma to show to his dying mother whose greatest wish was to see her son graduated.

STONE DENIES LOAN OF WHEAT TO MILLS

Chairman of Farm Board Says Rumor Is Old One and Without Basis.

(Associated Press.)

Chairman Stone of the Farm Board yesterday denied reports the board was lending some of its stabilization wheat holdings to milling companies.

Gov. Murray of Oklahoma, asserting he understood that the board was lending its wheat thus, challenged the board to disclose where its holdings of the grain were stored.

Chairman Stone said the rumor was an old one, adding that in some instances the wheat was stored with millers but that there was a definite agreement that this be delivered to the Farm Board upon demand.

He said a recent check disclosed that practically all this wheat was intact and that in the one instance where a milling company had used more than 100,000 bushels of it the concern was forced to pay for the wheat at a price of approximately 86 cents a bushel.

The rumors, Mr. Stone said, were that the board was letting the millers use the stabilization wheat, to be replaced by cheap wheat from new crops. He reiterated that they were entirely without foundation.

Government experts yesterday foresaw lower wheat and corn yields than in their August estimate, but the decreases were too small to make an appreciable dent in the agricultural surplus.

The Agriculture Department said the 1931 probable production of all wheat, including the 775,000,000 bushels of winter wheat estimated on August 1, totals 886,000,000 bushels, as compared with the 894,000,000 bushels forecast on August 1. This is 9,000,000 bushels more, however, than was harvested in 1930, and is 64,000,000 bushels above the five-year average of production.

The corn crop was estimated at 2,315,357,000 bushels, a decline from the August forecast of approximately per cent.

The crop reporting board said, however, that this was only 45,396,000 bushels less than the average production of the five years from 1925 to 1929, and was 622,000,000 bushels larger than the production of 1930.

Gold Stock Climbs To 5-Billion Mark

Reserve Reaches Level for the First Time in History.

(Associated Press.)

Monetary gold stock in the United States during the week ended September 9 reached $5,000,000,000 for the first time in history.

The Federal Reserve Board in a statement issued last night said that the gold stock at the close of business Wednesday was $5,000,000,000, an increase of $2,000,000 over last week. In a year the gold stock has increased $497,000,000, partly as a result of foreign owners sending it to the United States as a place where it could be deposited with security, officials have said.

Money in circulation in the United States Wednesday totaled $5,092,000,000, an increase of $57,000,000 in one week and $628,000,000 in the last year.

Boat for Hoover Trip to Yorktown

President Probably Will Arrive for Celebration Before 10:30 A. M.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover probably will go to Yorktown by boat for the October 19 celebration.

He expects to arrive in the historic Virginia town before 10:30 a. m. and will speak at 11 after an introduction by Senator Swanson, (Democrat) of Virginia.

After a luncheon for distinguished guests, which probably will take place in the famous Nelson House, Mr. Hoover will witness the pageant depicting the surrender of Cornwallis 150 years ago.

The return trip to Washington, in all probability, also will be made by boat.

It has been proven many times that Business opportunities, or merchandise for sale in the Classified Columns of The Post are worth investigating.

LONG'S COTTON PLAN MAY HIT TEXAS VETO

Gov. Sterling Gives Hint of Course as Holiday Gains in Favor.

Austin, Tex., Sept. 10 (U.P.).—With Huey P. Long's plan for a total cotton holiday gaining favor in the Texas Legislature, Gov. Ross S. Sterling indicated tonight he probably would veto the bill if it is passed.

The governor refused to say definitely what he will do.

"I would have to see the bill first and know just what provisions it made," he said. "I wouldn't let a child burn itself with fire, if I could prevent it."

He said he had not communicated today with the Louisiana executive after their dispute over the cotton situation before 7,000 farmers, gathered here to urge the special session of the Legislature to enact cotton relief legislation.

Two Fights Waged.

The fight for relief from cotton overproduction centered in two sections of the legislative battlefront. On one side, disciples of Gov. Long and his "drop-a-crop" plan demanded the farmers' be heeded. Opponents of the cotton holiday proposal centered their efforts on a compromise Senate bill, limiting cotton planting to one-third the tilled soil.

The House, as a committee of the whole, heard farmers and professors of agricultural economy advocate conservation. Dean E. J. Kyle, of the Texas A. and M. College, declared farmers were being "crucified on the cross of a single crop system." He urged a law supporting diversification, without which he said Texas soil never can regain its fertility.

A House committee late today began fashioning a consolidated bill out of plans introduced by individual members. One of these provided crop rotation, another called for terracing to halt soil erosion, and another would require staple cotton to be used in stuffing mattresses, pillows and cushions. Linters and sweepings are used now.

Conference in Prospect.

The compromise Senate bill was sponsored by Senator Walter Woodward, Senator Oliver Cunningham and Senator Clint Small. It provides neither jail sentences nor fines for violation. A penalty varying from $20 to $50 an acre, recoverable by suit in the county where the violating acreage is located, was proposed instead. Such penalties would be payable to the State school fund.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Plans for a South-wide conference of commissioners of agriculture and marketing experts to devise substitute markets and crops in event of a general cotton holiday were being formulated here today, A. D. Jones, head of the Georgia Bureau of Markets, announced.

WRIGLEY TO KEEP ON WITH COTTON BUYS

Gum Company Finds Purchases Are Good Business and May Net Profit.

Chicago, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Unlike the Federal Farm Board, which has announced that it will buy no more cotton and wheat to relieve a falling market, the experiment of the William Wrigley Co. in purchasing those commodities in Canada and the South with part of the receipts from gum sales in those regions has proved so satisfactory that it will be continued until December 1 as planned and probably thereafter.

William Wrigley, jr., today said the indirect business benefits counterbalanced temporary book losses in the purchased commodities, and that eventually there might not only be no real loss but even a small profit from wheat and cotton.

Only recently the Cudahy Packing Co. started a similar campaign in the South, while International Harvester has a plan for accepting farm products in exchange for agricultural machinery.

The Wrigley purchases of cotton began on April 1 and of wheat last December with an original deadline for next December 1. Good will gained through the plan, Wrigley said, had kept the sales of his company in twelve cotton States and the wheat provinces of Canada to a level with 1930. In addition, there had been the benefit of steady output in what promised to be an off year.

J. A. Ross, vice president, explained that the falling market had constantly lessened the risk by creating a lower average purchase price, and said he believed it would be even smaller from now on because, in his opinion, cotton and wheat would not drop much lower than they are at present.

Ross, who conceived the Canadian wheat plan and put that and the cotton purchase system into operation, said the plans consisted of depositing money received from wholesale dealers in the banks of the South and Canada and turning it over to brokers, who purchase the commodities in the open market.

The cotton and wheat will be held in storage by the company indefinitely, presumably to await a rising market.

Baruch Sees War Threat.

New York, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Bernard Baruch, financier and prominent Democrat, returned today from a trip to Europe convinced that the world is in a precarious state. The threat of war hangs over Europe, he said, and the elements needed for world well-being are lacking.

POLICE INVESTIGATE DEATH AT HOSPITAL

Fatal Injuries Are Believed to Have Resulted When Man Hit Head.

Police last night were investigating the death of John J. McCoy, 48, of 1335 Eleventh street northwest, who died at Sibley Hospital yesterday morning from injuries believed to have been sustained when he struck his head on some object in Blagden Court while delivering ice Wednesday afternoon.

Robert E. De Lay, of the same address, who claims to be well acquainted with McCoy, told police that early Wednesday afternoon the man obtained 25 cents with which he said he was going to get something to drink. The next time De Lay saw him, he said, was when he was driven up to the Eleventh street address in a taxicab, in an unconscious condition. De Lay said he immediately took the man to Sibley Hospital.

Three colored women were still being held at the Second Precinct last night for questioning. They were arrested shortly after the man's condition was made known at Sibley Hospital.

An inquest will be held at the District morgue this morning at 11 o'clock.

Mexico Suspends Anti-Chinese Rule

U. S. Not to Intercede in Sonora Unless Asked by Government.

Mexico City, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Dispatches from Hermosillo today said that the nationalist committee in charge of the State anti-Chinese campaign has declared the campaign suspended on the ground that the problem caused by Chinese merchants has been disposed of.

The committee reached the decision after receiving reports that almost all the Chinese in the State of Sonora have abandoned their businesses, leaving Mexican merchants free of what was called ruinous competition.

(Associated Press.)

Unless Mexico requests the United States to intercede, this country plans no participation in the controversy over expulsion of Chinese from two Mexican States.

The Chinese Government has already presented a formal request for the American Government to employ its good offices. State Department officials indicated yesterday, however, they would not act unless Mexico made a similar request.

Mrs. M. V. Church To Be Bride Today

Bond Salesman Will Wed Vanderbilt Heiress in Civil Rite.

New York, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Mrs. Muriel Vanderbilt Church, whose friendship with Henry Delafield Phelps came to public notice at the fashionable horse shows, will be married to the Providence, R. I., bond salesman tomorrow in a quiet, civil ceremony at her mother's Long Island estate.

Mrs. Church, daughter of Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt and W. K. Vanderbilt, will be unattended and the ceremony will be witnessed only by relatives and close friends. Her brother, William K. Vanderbilt, jr., will give her in marriage. Edgar Morris Phelps, gentleman farmer of Middletown, R. I., father of the bridegroom, will be best man.

For Mrs. Church it will be a second venture into matrimony. Her marriage in 1925 to Frederick Cameron Church, of Boston, member of an old New England family, was dissolved four years later by divorce.

MacArthur to See Huge Plane.

Rheims, France, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—A new giant airplane, the "Dyle Et Bachalan," capable of carrying 28 soldiers and transporting a load of fourteen tons, will take part in the aerial maneuvers here, which are to be witnessed by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff of the United States Army. He is scheduled to arrive tomorrow.

SLIM CHANCE GIVEN FLIERS, STILL LOST

Two Reports of Plane Being Heard Mystify Searchers for Moyle and Allen.

Seattle, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Forty-four hundred miles of ocean and land between here and Japan still hold the secret of the whereabouts of Don Moyle and C. A. Allen, missing transpacific fliers.

Reports that an unidentified plane had been sighted or heard in widely separated parts of the North Pacific region mystified searchers, who were at a loss to know where to begin to look for the lost California aviators.

The latest report came from Whitehorse, Yukon Territory, where it was reported a plane unknown in the region had been sighted flying southward over Carmacks, 200 miles north of Whitehorse at 9:30 a. m. (12:30 p. m. E. S. T.). If it was the missing monoplane, Clasina Madge, it was far afield from its charted course from Japan to Seattle.

Heard by Ship Passengers.

Several hours earlier the naval radio station at Dutch Harbor forwarded a report from the steamer Arthur J. Baldwin that four passengers had heard a plane in the fog headed northeast yesterday morning. This was 45 hours after the take-off from Japan at 3:30 p. m. (E.S.T.) Monday.

Both reports could have been authentic, but aviation circles here were frankly pessimistic, partly because of the flood of spurious reports which always follow airplane disappearances.

If the plane seen above Carmacks were that of Moyle and Allen, it would indicate they were forced north of their charted route. They must have landed somewhere en route to take on additional fuel, but many small settlements in Alaska unequipped with a radio station have ample supplies of airplane gasoline.

Thorough Watch Kept.

Meanwhile Coast Guard vessels and ships of private companies kept watch for the plane. In Alaska, cable and radio stations, Government and private, were alert to flash the news, should the Clasina Madge or her pilots be discovered.

The Coast Guard cutter Haida, about 100 miles off the south end of Vancouver Island, and the cutter McLane, about half way across the Pacific between Unalaska and San Francisco, were assisting in the search. Canadian authorities had instructed all points to be on the lookout.

"I believe they went down somewhere south of the Aleutians and will never be found," said Capt. H. D. Hinckley, North Pacific division commander of the Coast Guard. "There is one chance in a million of finding them."

But Miss Frances Bresson, Riverside, Calif., Moyle's fiancee, who yesterday waited at Boeing Field for the fliers, refused to give up hope of their safety. "I still believe they will be found," she said, before leaving by plane for her home.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

U. S. Dept. of Agri., Weather Bureau, Washington, Thursday, Sept. 10—8 p. m.

Forecast—For the District of Columbia, fair and continued warm Friday and Saturday; light to gentle southwest or west winds.

For Maryland and Virginia, generally fair and continued warm Friday and Saturday; gentle to moderate southwest or west winds.

The Caribbean disturbance has moved inland over British Honduras a short distance south of Belize. Another tropical disturbance is central tonight a short distance northwest of St. Thomas, Virgin Island, apparently moving west-nothwestward with increasing intensity. St. Thomas reporting a 60-mile southwest wind.

The northern disturbance is now centered between Hudson Strait and Greenland, moving northeastward. Resolution Island, Hudson Strait, 29.32 inches, and pressure is low thence southward to Newfoundland. Belle Isle, 29.54 inches. Pressure remains low over the western half of North America. Nome, Alaska, 29.40 inches. Lander, Wyo., 29.40 inches, and Norman, District of Mackenzie, 29.58 inches. Pressure is relatively high from the Ohio Valley and the South Atlantic States eastward to Bermuda. Elkins, W. Va., 30.12 inches. The weather has remained fair, except for scattered showers in the Rocky Mountain region, portions of the north Pacific States, northern New England, and the extreme South. The temperature has continued to rise in middle and northern sections east of the Mississippi River, and it is now abnormally high east of the Rocky Mountains, except in the extreme South. At Minneapolis, Minn., it reached 104 degrees, equaling the previous all-time at that place. The following stations report the highest temperature ever registered so late in the season: Milwaukee and Green Bay, Wis.; Huron, S. Dak.; Sault Sainte Marie, Mich.; Charles City, Iowa; Ithaca, N. Y.; Harrisburg, Pa., and New Haven, Conn. The maximum at these stations range from 92 degrees at Sault Sainte Marie to 102 degrees at Huron.

General forecast for Atlantic States, lower lake region, Ohio Valley and Tennessee—The weather will continue warm and generally fair Friday and Saturday, except for local thundershowers in southern Florida.

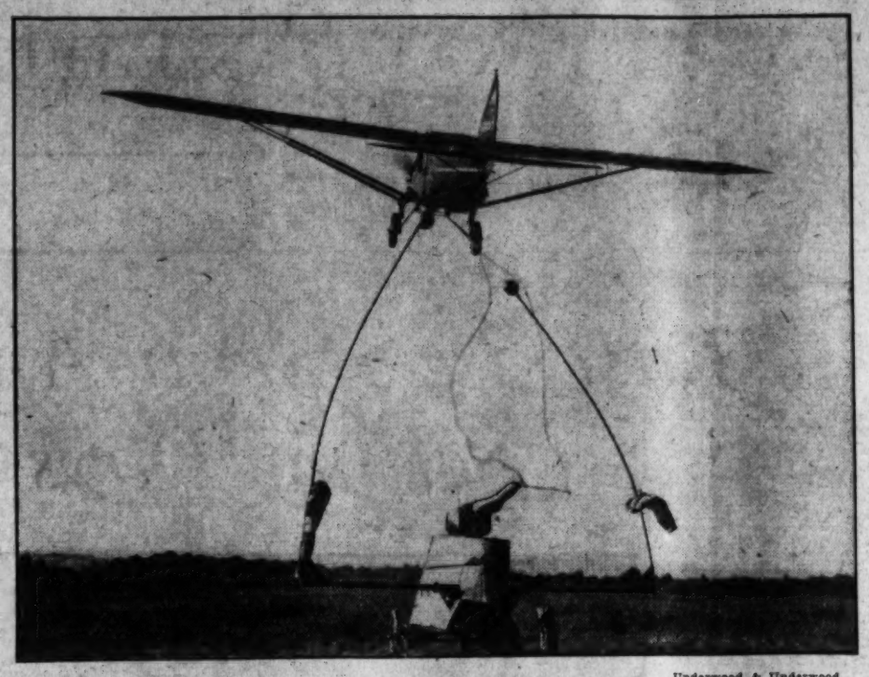
PLANE IN FLIGHT PICKS UP MAIL HERE



Underwood & Underwood.

A new aerial pickup device which permits an airplane to take on mail sacks and other articles without slacking its flight was successfully demonstrated yesterday at Washington-Hoover Airport. The device was invented by Godfrey Cabot and A. W. Card. Photo shows the pickup. The hook, which is swung from the plane, has just engaged in the cord, suspended between the poles, and the sack of mail is being thrown into the air by the catapult.

REED PROPOSES SALES TAX

Senator Reed, after giving out his tax revision plan, called at the White House and had a lengthy talk with President Hoover.

Last night he conferred with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who recently, in a radio speech, said that taxes should be spread out more greatly so that in times of depression the Treasury would not be dented as it is now.

Raps World War Veterans.

When Senator Reed left the White House he scored those World War veterans who are demanding $2,000,000,000 more in bonus loans.

If, he said, the American Legion, at its Detroit convention, should ask for loans on the full value of bonus certificates and at the same time demand a strong American Navy, it would constitute a paradox in patriotism.

For, he said, if the veterans get their bonus legislation there will be no money left with which to build up the Navy.

A few months back, President Hoover issued a formal statement in which he said that there would be no need of increased taxes if Congress practiced economy and special groups refrained from making extraordinary demands. Since then, however, the deficit has continued to grow. Last week the White House made it known that the President was studying the financial situation, and nothing was said that closed the door to revision.

It has been assumed that, with a presidential election coming next year, neither of the big parties would want to advocate a tax increase.

Tax Increases Opposed.

Just before the Reed and Bacharach statements came out yesterday, Senator James E. Watson (Republican), of Indiana, the Republican leader of the Senate, and Senator Claude L. Swanson (Democrat), of Virginia, declared that they were opposed to tax increases.

Whatever be the position that President Hoover eventually takes with regard to tax legislation, the man who is expected to be his rival in the next election—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York—already is out with a proposal for taxing the rich in his state.

Representative Bacharach, in proposing his increased tax on incomes above $100,000, higher inheritance taxes, gift taxes and taxes on luxuries, declared that there was good reason to say that "the rich are getting richer and the poor are getting poorer."

Favors Timely Program.

It would be better for the Congress meeting in December to adopt a "timely program of increased taxes with reasonable rates," he said, "than to delay until the situation becomes more desperate and the door is open to more radical legislation with unreasonable rates."

To illustrate his statement that "the rich are getting richer and the poor are getting poorer," Representative Bacharach, who is himself an extremely wealthy man, said:

"The only class which reaped substantial profits during the years 1925 to 1929 consisted of about 14,700 individuals with net incomes in excess of $100,000 per annum.

"This class increased their investment income and probably their capital by more than 50 per cent; the other classes lost ground.

"In view of the fact that the Government has placed no substantial limitation on the accumulation of wealth, and because in recent prosperous years the relatively few taxpayers with net incomes in excess of $100,000 have actually accumulated extraordinary amounts of capital, it seems obvious that these individuals are able to bear and should bear the bulk of any increased tax burden."

Luxuries Not Defined.

Representative Bacharach did not define the luxuries and nonessentials on which he would place a tax. He did say, however, that there should be no increase in the tax on tobacco, which is already a heavy one.

All the taxes he was proposing, Mr. Bacharach said, could be repealed if "prosperity returns quickly, as we all sincerely hope."

Senator Reed, on the other hand, would make his one-half of 1 per cent tax on commodities a permanent one. It would not be hard on the consumer, he said, yet the $2,000,000,000 it would bring in represents nearly one-half of the Government's running expenses each year.

Senator Reed's statement in a sense echoed the radio speech recently made by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

"Our present dilemma in the Treasury," Senator Reed said, "illustrates the unwisdom of having a very narrow tax basis. We have been trying to get our Federal revenue out of one-half of 1 per cent of the population. We have been doing this on the theory of taxing those best able to bear the burden, but as a matter of fact we haven't actually reached that group. It isn't the rich man who is actually paying the tax, but the big earner; not the rich capitalists, but the successful engineers, doctors and other workers. Capitalists have had no trouble at all in minimizing their burden.

Tax Revision Necessary.

"Thus, the moment that earning diminishes, as in the present depression, the whole bottom falls out of income tax collections. The results show the necessity for tax revision rather than for tax increase."

Senator Reed stressed the importance of his proposal that the capital gains and losses provision be eliminated from the income tax law. President Hoover, too, has advocated the elimination of this provision.

Under this provision, an investor whose stocks gain in value must add the gain to his income in making out his return. However, when his stocks lose in value he may deduct the losses. Since the stock market crash the Government has lost millions of dollars through this provision.

Vigorous on Bonus Drive.

In discussing the drive for further bonus legislation at the White House, Senator Reed was most vigorous. He himself is a member of the American Legion, having served as a major in the World War. He fought the original bonus legislation in 1922, and as a result his campaign photographs were torn from poles and walls, and he was told that he was dead politically. Nevertheless, he was reelected with no perceptible change in his majority. In 1928, he was again elected, and this time by the largest vote ever given a Pennsylvania senator.

If the rank and file of veterans realized that they were burdening their country with heavier taxes and stunting the American Navy, Senator Reed said, they probably would be less voracious in their demands.

The blame for excessive demands, he said, lies not so much with the average veteran as it does with the politicians who conduct the affairs of the veterans' organizations.

Hits Legion Politicians.

Senator Reed expressed the hope that the veterans could be made to realize the grave plight in which the country now finds itself, to the end that they would restrain themselves from making further inroads into an already overburdenad Treasury.

If this fails, he said, he hopes Congress will have the courage to turn down their demands at the next session.

"It will be up to Congress to have the courage to say no," he said, "We ought to have learned from the last bonus bill what will happen. Not more than 30 per cent of the veterans who borrowed on 50 per cent of the value of their loan certificates really needed it. Quite a number of the others spent their money on second-hand automobiles and liquor. Oh, it was great for the second-hand dealers and the bootleggers. And I know of one young fellow who used his money to take a pleasure trip to Europe.

Pretty Hard to Resist.

"In a way, you can't blame the veteran. It is pretty hard for him to resist borrowing $500 when you place the temptation before him."

Senator Reed estimated that it would require $2,100,000,000 to pay the full value of the bonus loan certificates. Obviously, he said, this money could only be raised by the floating of a bond issue. Pointing out that American investors are not nearly so eager now to purchase Treasury issues as they formerly were, Senator Reed said that Uncle Sam would have to offer an interest rate of at least 3 per cent on the bonus bonds.

The $70,000,000 that would have to be paid in annual interest on the bonds, together with the money that would have to be put into a sinking fund for the ultimate amortization, Senator Reed said, undoubtedly would call for an increase in taxes.

Representative Will R. Wood (Republican), of Pennsylvania, chairman of the House appropriations committee, said recently after a visit to the White House that the Army and Navy would have to suffer first in next year's drastic economy program. This brought a howl from patriotic societies.

Service Cuts Unnecessary.

Senator Reed said yesterday that he saw no need to cut the Army or the Navy, provided the veterans did not siphon more money from the Treasury. In fact, he expressed the opinion that a program could be adopted to start upbuilding the Navy toward the strength allowed it under the London naval treaty.

He conceded that it is now virtually impossible that the Navy can be built entirely up to treaty strength.

Discount Rate Reduced.

Budapest, Hungary, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The Hungarian National Bank today reduced the discount rate from 9 to 8 per cent.

Income Tax Rates of U. S. Well Below British Scale

(Associated Press.)

American income tax payers may well be happy with their lot as compared with their British brothers in view of the proposed increases outlined by Chancellor Snowden yesterday in the House of Commons.

Americans pay a meager income tax when computations are made for men of like incomes in the two countries. The American of small income pays 4½ per cent after a 25 per cent deduction is made on earned income, but he is exempt $1,500 if single, $3,500 if married and receives an additional exemption of $400 for each child. His British brother is to pay 25 per cent under the new rates, is to be allowed $500 exemption if single, $750 if married and in addition, if he has children, $250 for the first child and $200 for each other.

An American single man or woman with a salary of $2,000 pays only $5.62 income tax after deducting the allowed exemption and making no other allowanble deductions. Under the new British rates a single man with the same income will pay approximately $375.

The married man with a $2,000 income in the United States pays no income tax; in Britain he will pay $312.50 income tax, while one with an income of $4,000 would pay $812.50. An American married man with a $4,000 income would pay $5.62. A married man with one child and a $4,000 income in England will pay $725 under the new rates, while one with similar income and a child in the United States pays only $1.12.

MRS. GALEN L. TAIT INJURED IN CRASH

Mrs. Galen L. Tait, wife of the collector of Internal Revenue at Baltimore, and three women companions were injured yesterday when the car in which they were riding was in collision with a truck at Wilson lane and River road, Montgomery County, Md.

Three children in the car escaped injury. One of the occupants, Mrs. Richard Barber, 70 years old, who suffered a severed artery when her forehead was cut, was probably saved through the quick work of Sergt. Leroy Rodgers, of the Bethesda substation.

Sergt. Rodgers hurried Mrs. Barber, and her daughter, Mrs. Emeline Barnhill, of Wardman Park Hotel, driver of the car, to the office of Dr. E. G. Bauersfeld. The physician said Rodgers' speed may have prevented Mrs. Barber from bleeding to death. Her daughter was treated for bruises.

Sergt. Rodgers and Corpl. Oscar Gaither, of the Bethesda substation, arrested Charles L. Walters, 228 E street northeast, driver of the truck. He was charged with reckless driving and released in $100 bond for appearance in Police Court October 22.

relaxation. Then he turned toward the ladies' gallery, high above the speaker's seat, where his wife sat. His face was wreathed in smiles.

Men who a few weeks ago were bitter political enemies now acclaimed him. His former colleagues of the Labor party, now the opposition to the MacDonald government, sat silent and sullen. A few booed and taunted him.

Boldly the little Yorkshireman had discharged what he called one of the most disagreeable tasks that ever had fallen to his lot in his 40 years of political life.

Dole Is Cut.

"Only the consciousness that these sacrifices and burdens are necessary to avert far greater sacrifices and burdens makes my task this afternoon tolerable," he told the House.

Drastic economies accompanied the new burdens of taxation, effective October 1. These economies will roll up a total of $350,160,000 during the full year 1932-1933.

A cut in the unemployment dole will save $129,000,000. The expenditure for education will be reduced $51,500,000 and for the fighting services $25,000,000. Sliced government salaries will contribute $22,670,000, with miscellaneous cuts all the way down to police pay.

Treasury Allots 3 Per Cent Bonds

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Mellon announced yesterday that $803,294,400 in 3 per cent 20-24 year bonds had been allotted among $940,559,550 in subscriptions.

The Secretary said the bonds, which will be dated September 15, had been allotted to Federal Reserve districts as follows: Boston, $39,375,050; New York, $228,950,850; Philadelphia, $80,100,000; Cleveland, $121,633,200; Richmond, $42,665,600; Atlanta, $51,032,300; Chicago, $60,286,550; St. Louis, $29,762,600; Minneapolis, $17,771,000; Kansas City, 30,065,900; Dallas, $50,295,150; San Francisco, $49,774,150, while $1,641,550 were allotted on subscription filed with the Treasury.

On the issue of one-year Treasury certificates bearing 1½ per cent interest the Treasury allotted $314,279,500 from a total of $1,251,196,000 in subscriptions.

British Scheme to End Deficit, Pile Up Surplus

London, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Here are the main budget proposals submitted to the House of Commons today:

Taxes.

Income—Standard rate raised 6 pence, bringing it to 5 shillings in the pound (about $1.25 in $5), or 25 per cent.

Beer—Increased 1 penny (2 American cents) a pint.

Entertainment—Movies and legitimate theaters, increased 16⅔ per cent.

Total new taxes this year, $202,500,000; next year, $400,000,000.

Savings.

Dole—Cut 10 per cent.

Police wages—Cut to a sliding scale upward from 5 shillings (about $1.25) a week.

School teachers' wages—Cut 15 per cent.

Civil servants of all kinds, from cabinet ministers down—Pay cuts ranging as high as 20 per cent.

Heavy reductions in outlay for defense services, education and road fund.

Recapitulation.

This year—Economies, $110,000,000; savings on debt redemption, $68,500,000; new taxation and inland revenue, $145,000,000; customs and excise, $57,500,000. Combined, they turn an estimated deficit of $373,395,000 into a surplus of $7,500,000.

Next year—Economies, $350,000,000; debt savings, $100,000,000; new taxation and inland revenue, $287,500,000; customs and excise, $120,000,000. Combined, they turn an estimated deficit of $850,000,000 into a surplus of $7,500,000.

Lunn Is New Head Of 1898 Veterans

Los Angeles Is Chosen for 1933 Convention as Session Closes.

New Orleans, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—George R. Lunn, former lieutenant governor of New York, today was elected commander-in-chief of the United Spanish War veterans in reunion here. He won over Otto N. Rath, of Minnesota, by a vote of 1,063 to 260. Los Angeles was chosen for the 1933 reunion, next year's reunion going to Milwaukee.

Commander Lunn announced the reappointment of James J. Murphy, of Washington, as quartermaster general of the organization. Other appointments to national posts will be made later.

Before adjournment, the convention turned down a proposal from the department of Illinois that it be made mandatory that State departments having no separate Negro departments accept Negro camps upon application.

For the Woman Who Is Blessed With Taste!

There are admittedly many women; charming people too, who can never be attracted to Erlebacher's . . . They, and we speak a different language. They want fantastic clothes, we dislike furbelows. Our creations are interesting . . . but not extreme. They represent the unfailing adherence to good taste that is characteristic of Erlebacher Fashions.

The frock pictured is typical of the way good taste is expressed at this shop.

Fashioned of black crepe, its principal details are the cleverly cut sleeves, white satin cuffs and vestee. Genuine White Ermine bands the neckline and peplum.

INDISCREET CRITICISM.

Gov. Roosevelt indulged in a little premature campaigning in his address to New York farmers at Syracuse. His inference that the Federal Government's financial policy is "foolish and recreant to trust" was indiscreet and entirely uncalled for. The governor's address was on the subject of State finance. He went out of his way to strike at President Hoover and Secretary Mellon, apparently in anticipation of the campaign he hopes to make in 1932.

It is difficult to believe that Gov. Roosevelt's understanding of national finance since the war is as limited as his reference to the recent bond issue indicates. He enunciated his belief in a pay-as-you-go policy for governments, except in cases of public improvements that continue to be useful for long periods and quasi-public utilities which have the assurance of a steady income. Since the governor left no doubt that he intended to apply this comment to the Federal Government, it may be assumed that he would recommend higher taxes in the present emergency.

It can hardly be supposed that Gov. Roosevelt would advocate taxes that would pay off the $16,500,000,000 national debt in one year. That would be nonsense. What does he mean, then, by a pay-as-you-go policy? In the eleven years since the Government began paying off the national debt nearly $10,000,000,000 has been used for that purpose. All of its surplus funds, which should be considered as a reserve for lean years, have been poured into debt reduction. Now, when the Government's revenue has fallen to subnormal levels and its expenses have increased, it is necessary to issue new bonds to replace those that were paid off too rapidly.

In the last decade the Government has not only paid its expenses as it went along, but each year it has taken up nearly $1,000,000,000 worth of bonds that were costing taxpayers large sums in interest. At the same time it reduced taxes. Under normal conditions the existing tax rate will continue to yield sufficient revenue to allow rapid reduction of the debt. If no new taxes are imposed business may recover sufficiently in the next year to balance the budget with the present levy. It would be extremely unwise to tamper with tax laws every time revenue falls below or rises above the needs of the Government.

When a nation is forced to defend its people and their interests by warfare it is impossible to operate on the cash-and-carry plan. The cost of the World War can not be wiped out in a few years. There is a strong conviction that the Treasury reduced the national debt too fast when times were prosperous. But it is more reasonable to regard the surplus funds that were invested in debt reduction as a reserve that is now available to carry the Government through this critical period. When the situation is viewed from the perspective of the whole postwar period Gov. Roosevelt's criticism falls into the class of petty fault-finding.

CANADA PLANS RELIEF.

Conditions across the Canadian border present many of the same trying questions of winter relief that exist in the United States. To the serious drought in the Western prairie States have been added extensive agricultural losses from grasshoppers and late hailstorms. The rains came in some sections in time to improve cattle ranges, but not to save the crops. The wheat areas will hardly produce half an average yield this year.

Premier Bennett has returned from an extensive trip through the stricken region and is preparing a broad program of emergency work that will be continued through the winter months. Heads of families will be given work as near home as possible, but many unattached workers will be sent into the Northwest to labor on the great transcontinental motor highway.

Improvements will be in charge of the provincial administrations, as a rule, but the Dominion will render financial aid. In the road camps men will be paid $2.40 a day, from which 80 cents will be deducted for food and 50 cents a month for hospital service. It is estimated that at least 50,000 families will require assistance in the Western farming areas. This will take the form of food, clothing, fuel and seed to be distributed in exchange for work.

In the industrial provinces it is believed that the number of unemployed probably has reached 400,000, which is a large percentage out of an industrial population of about 4,000,000. Parliament voted the Premier very broad powers to deal with unemployment and relief as the situation requires, and his extensive business and executive experience is shown in his energetic measures to prepare for a hard winter.

HOPE FOR COTTON.

While the South is wavering on the question of whether it should accept Gov. Huey Long's counsel of despair, President Hoover has come forward with a constructive plan to ease the cotton situation. Instead of declaring a "cotton holiday," thus impoverishing growers and stimulating greater production in other countries, the President suggests that steps be taken to dispose of a part of the excessive crop abroad. Many European mills are anxious to have a supply of American cotton, but their cash is low. It is President Hoover's plan to stimulate negotiations between industrialists in Europe and banks in America for the necessary credit to purchase at least 1,000,000 bales of cotton.

There is good reason to believe that such arrangements will be made and that they will encourage business on both sides of the Atlantic. Unquestionably, President Hoover and his financial advisers are on the right track. The Farm Board suggested that every third row of cotton be plowed under. Huey Long is trying to induce the South to quit growing cotton entirely for one year. Southern senators are advocating preposterous schemes of price stabilization to be financed with a few more hundred million dollars out of the Treasury. In the midst of all this quackery the administration's simple plan to increase cotton exports comes like a refreshing breeze on a desert.

The two objectives of the cotton industry are to get rid of the existing surplus and to restore a balance between supply and demand. The latter is a problem which the Government can not undertake to solve. Only the farmers themselves can restrict their crops. The Constitution forbids the exercise of dictatorial powers by either State or Federal governments. But if the Government can assist farmers in disposing of their present excess holdings without attempting to fix prices or invest additional money out of the Treasury in cotton, it will perform a notable service. So long as President Hoover is directing this project the public may be assured that it will be confined to a stimulation of economic processes and will not attempt to repeal economic law.

PHILIPPINE PROPAGANDA.

Effects of the independence propaganda which Senator Hawes has been spreading in the Philippines with the aid of native politicians are beginning to be felt. A dispatch from Manila indicates that prominent enterprises are withdrawing capital from the islands, fearing that investments would not be safe if the islands should be cut loose from the United States. Construction of a $250,000 apartment house and of a large automobile and gasoline distribution plant has been postponed; a large order of industrial and agricultural machinery for the islands has been canceled as a direct result of this agitation.

Emilio Aguinaldo, who led the Filipino insurrection against the United Sttaes after the Spanish-American War, pretends in his recent statement broadcast by Senator Hawes that the Filipinos are not worried by the dangers of an economic collapse, civil war or invasion by an Oriental power. The Filipinos, he says, are ready to pay the price for "immediate, complete and absolute independence;" but there are many indications from the islands that public opinion does not support this position. There is clamor for independence, but what the agitators really have in mind is political autonomy together with free trade with the United States.

On his return to Washington Senator Hawes accused the press of distorting news from the Philippines. Opposition to the independence movement, he says, comes chiefly from the 7,000 Americans in the islands and from interests that have invested money there. The Filipinos generally, including the Moros, according to his statement, are in favor of severing their connection with the United States.

Secretary of War Hurley is in the islands making a survey. He visited the Sulu Islands in the southern extremity of the Archipelago to find out how the Moro people feel about the Filipino demand for independence. Hadji Butu, former senator and leader of 500,000 Moros, welcomed Mr. Hurley by a public address in which he denounced the independence movement and gave assurance of the loyalty of the Moro people to the United States.

A conference with the most influential Moro leaders brought from them a plea that, in the event of independence, the United States return the arms that were taken away from the Moros after the Spanish-American War, so that they may defend themselves. Yet Senator Hawes, after arousing the natives into a frenzy, returned to the United States with a report that the Moros were generally in favor of independence.

The question of Philippine independence can never be decided satisfactorily on the basis of sentimentality. The country will look forward to an unbiased and factual report from Secretary Hurley. But even when the wishes of the Filipino people are fully known the question must be decided by the United States on the basis of its safety and welfare, as well as of the safety and welfare of the Philippines. Fantastic aspirations of Filipinos who have no conception of international affairs can have no weight in the deliberations of the United States.

SILVER'S PERMANENT FATE.

A comprehensive study of the silver question in its international aspects has just been completed by the Foreign Policy Association and published in an attractive summary made by Maxwell S. Stewart and the research staff of the association. This interesting report presents an impartial discussion of the causes of the decline in the price of silver and the interaction of depressed silver and bad economic conditions, particularly in nations that are still upon a silver basis.

The important conclusion to be drawn from this candid presentation of the facts is that any attempt at present to restore silver to its former monetary position, or to fix arbitrarily a price for silver at nearly double its present commodity value, is doomed to certain failure. All the important commercial nations of the world are upon a gold basis. They have achieved this position after much labor and expense and have, with few exceptions, even reduced the silver content of their subsidiary currency.

To believe that this position will in any measure be modified today because it is not in line with backward nations of the East is to cherish a chimerical hope. It is much more reasonable to suppose that China will adopt the gold standard. In fact, China might have done so before now had not that country been disturbed by civil war and great calamities. India, too, is becoming accustomed to a gold bullion standard, while at the same time the natives continue to hoard silver as they always have done. Great Britain will not undo the progress made, and make the imperial monetary system conform to that of India.

Silver advocates, most of whom are very closely allied with silver-producing interests, are constantly claiming special inherent qualities in silver, demanding that it be governed by special laws because of its one-time standing in the monetary world. It is interesting to have confirmed the position frequently maintained in these columns, that silver has reached the status of a commodity, a condition that the world can not profitably or safely change by legislation or international agreement.

The commission report draws few conclusions, but it states that "it is important to note that during these (World War) years of inflated values, silver roughly followed the trend of all commodities, just as in the past few years its depreciation has been in line with the decline of commodity prices the world over." Furthermore, the Foreign Policy report turns right side up the inverted arguments of the silverites when it says: "It is difficult to say just how much of the depression in China is due to the fall of silver and how much the decline of silver is the result of business stagnation resulting from civil warfare, banditry and excessive taxation. But there can be little doubt that the chaotic conditions in China and the political unrest in India have intensified the decline of the white metal."

In its conclusion the commission endeavors to break the sad news to the silverites in gentle terms when it declares that "some form of bimetallism, or at least the restablishment of silver as a monetary metal by the leading Western nations, are apparently the only feasible methods for restoring silver to its former value, but either procedure is fraught with serious difficulties."

UNCLE SAM'S GOLD

New York Herald Tribune.

Washington officials are reported to be concerned over the heavy flow of gold into this country and over criticism voiced in some quarters that the United States is "hoarding" the metal.

There is abundant reason, of course, for concern over the maldistribution of the world's gold stocks, a development that has brought our holdings of the yellow metal to approximately $5,000,000,000, as compared with $1,290,000,000 before the war and with $4,000,000,000 as recently as 1927. It is difficult to understand, however, how any sensible person can take seriously the charge, direct or implied, that we have been deliberately seeking to corner the world's supplies of gold.

There is only one way in which a country can consciously induce an inflow of gold. That is by the adoption of a high-money policy. One of the apparent contradictions of the present shifting of the world's stocks of gold is that the movement, generally speaking, is away from high-money centers and toward those where extraordinarily cheap money prevails, namely, Paris and New York. The discount rate of the Bank of France is 2 per cent; that of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York is 1½ per cent, the lowest in the institution's history. It should be abundantly clear to every thinking person that our central banking authorities have done, and are doing, their utmost to discourage the inward movement of gold. Moreover, American bankers only recently went so far as to refuse to take metal from London when the rate on sterling exchange fell so low as to make such transactions financially attractive.

If we look over the last five years we find that there have been three major movements of gold, so far as this country is concerned. Throughout the greater part of 1927 and the first half of 1928 we lost large quantities of the metal on balance. This was due to our heavy foreign bond flotations over that period. The year 1929 witnessed a reversal of this trend, and our gold stocks were swelled by heavy imports. The years 1930 and 1931 have also been marked by heavy imports, but the movement has been distinct from that of 1929, not only because the end of 1929 saw gold leave the country for a brief period, but because the origin of the 1930-31 inflow was entirely different from that of 1929.

In 1929 the unprecedentedly high money rates resulting from our speculative excesses provided the magnet that drew gold here from all parts of the world. The 1930-31 movement has been the result not of money rate abnormalities but, primarily, of the dislocation of commodity prices, particularly the prices of raw materials. Practically all the metal received here has come from countries whose exports are preponderantly of this type. Japan, for example, whose chief export, silk, has declined to unprecedentedly low levels since 1929, sent us more than $150,000,000 in gold last year, while Brazil, which has suffered similarly through the severe break in the price of coffee, sent us nearly $90,000,000 in the same period. In other words, many countries, owing to the decline in commodities, have been unable to settle their balances—visible or invisible—by exports of goods and have been forced to settle in the only medium available, which is gold.

There is no great mystery to the phenomenon, and, unfortunately, there is little that can be done about it. It is one of the many unhappy consequences of the combined effects of the war and the collapse of the speculative boom whose correction must wait upon a turn in the business tide.

POST HASTE.

If 1,000,000 members of the American Legion, out of 36,000,000 voters, can force another $2,000,000,000 bonus payment, American farmers, properly organized, can easily get $10,000,000,000 and rest for a year on the price of an annual crop.

PAUL HUDSON.

YANKEE DOODLE.

The latest object of the American penchant for preserving historical buildings is the alleged birthplace of "Yankee Doodle." Although the origin of our first national air is regarded by some authorities as uncertain, a tradition has it that "Yankee Doodle" was written in 1755 by Dr. Richard Shuckburgh, a British army surgeon at the old Van Rensselaer manor near Rensselaer, N. Y., according to the Detroit Free Press. Anyway it is this old Dutch house for the rehabilitation and preservation of which an appropriation has been obtained from the New York Legislature. The work of rejuvenation will be aided by various historical societies.

The Shuckburgh legend states that the doctor was standing by the old stone well on the Van Rensselaer property when a detachment of colonial troops marched back from the French and Indian War. Their ragged condition inspired in the doctor the words of "Yankee Doodle," which were written in derision. The original name of the song was "The Yankees' Return From Camp." Several versions have developed in the course of time. The melody was suited to the fifes and drums of the Continental Army; and during the Revolutionary War Washington's troops picked it up and popularized it.

PRO AND CON

Problem of Unemployment.

Atlanta Constitution.

Unless some general plan is formed to employ the 7,000,000 workers that President Green, of the American Federation of Labor, says will otherwise be in forced idleness this coming winter, public feelings and public funds must be drawn upon for their food, clothing, shelter and fuel.

The situation again emphasizes how important and economically profitable it will be for business, corporations, factories, municipalities and States to supply employment for their fellow citizens and get real work done for the money handed over to them. A nation with so large a per cent of its people on charity must necessarily be a miserable nation; but a nation with its people all employed and its permanent values being built up by contented labor receiving value received for wages earned, is bound to be a contented and progressive nation.

Trouble With the World Court.

New York Herald Tribune.

The reaction in this country to the World Court's advisory opinion on the Austro-German customs union has inevitably been unfavorable. Some of the strongest friends of the court have expressed the greatest disappointment. It could hardly be otherwise. For the line-up of the court exhibited a depressingly strong political bias, and its decision by an 8 to 7 vote robbed its findings of all weight or pretense to finality. Faced by a major issue, affecting the fundamentals of European organization, the court failed to function either judicially or effectively.

The tragedy is threefold. The court has suffered a severe loss of prestige. Its members are just so much farther from achieving the habit of a judicial approach to international problems. And as long as the advisory opinion remains in the court statute, the same demoralizing influence can recur again and again.

The Farm Board's Discovery.

Minneapolis Journal.

The gaudy plan of Southern senators to have the Government buy up this year's cotton production from such planters as agree to grow no cotton next year, is sidetracked by Carl Williams, cotton member and acting chairman of the Farm Board, who tells them:

The board has discovered, and it hopes the American people have discovered, that continued purchases in the face of overproduction is not the remedy for the agricultural situation.

That's a fairly safe hope, that one about the American people's discovery of the futility of Government buying and selling as a panacea for a price depression induced by overproduction. A great many of the American people had made it long before the Farm Board ever started "stabilizing" the cotton and wheat markets. Some of them even warned the Farm Board of the flaws in its plan.

How to Beat the Dole.

New York Times.

All our public officials from the President down are resolved to do everything possible in aid of the unemployed, but all are equally determined never to countenance the "dole."

Every one will agree that, whenever possible, the money raised ought to be paid out, not in charity, but in wages. This would mean a direct appeal to American ingenuity in finding or making work for the unemployed. Any one who can produce a scheme to give jobs to, say a thousand men, without interfering with any established and going business, will be welcomed with joy by the relief commissions, who will be only too glad to provide the corresponding funds.

Efforts of this kind are already being made, and will, doubtless be enlarged. The principle is sound, as are the economics. Let the word go round widely to everybody who is frightened at the mention of the dole that the way to beat it is to invent and provide new jobs.

Government Fights Its Citizens.

Wadena (Minn.) Pioneer-Journal.

In the past American citizens have always taken pride in the absence of paternalism in their Government. It has been our proud boast that in the United States it was a fixed policy that in normal times the Government should under no circumstances invade the domain of private initiative, but should confine itself strictly to the exercise of its proper function, namely, the protection of life, liberty and property. Competition between citizens was in every way desirable, but competition in business between the Government and the citizen was intolerable and not to be encouraged because of its manifest unfairness to the citizen. An adherence to this policy of governmental noninterference in the legitimate private business activities of the citizen is primarily responsible for our country's material greatness.

In recent years, however, there has been a marked change in governmental policy. The Federal Government has been gradually entering more and more into competition with private enterprise. Some 80 governmental agencies have been established in Washington, many of which are using the money of the taxpayers to compete with the business of the taxpayers. This tendency should and must be checked promptly. We must not permit the American system of Government to be undermined by becoming impregnated with the principles of socialism and communism. It behooves us to remain true to the splendid traditions of the past. In free America every citizen should be given the fullest opportunity to climb the ladder of business success without being in any way hampered by the unfair and improper competition of the Government to which he has always given loyal support in every national emergency.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

EXPLAINING IT TO THE JUDGE.

Your honor, may I let your know
Exactly why I struck the blow?
I am a golfer; so is he.
Patient with him I've tried to be.
For fifteen years I've watched him grin
As he would sink a putt to win.
Then with my ball 10 feet away,
I'll give you that!" he'd sweetly say.

Always the putt that couldn't save
The hole for me he proudly gave.
But left with putts to half or win
He'd stand and make me drop them in,
Nor did I mind that, thinking he Would some day really generous be
And from the twelve-inch ring concede
The "four" of which I stood in need.

He never did! As I have said,
Though I was lying stony dead,
He waited till my ball fell in
Before the hole he'd let me win.
Such was his right. I'd no complaint.
Golfers have notions rather quaint,
And some there are who seem to think
That players every putt should sink.

But he, and it is truth I state,
Gave only putts that scored an "eight."
And then assumed so smug a smile
That all my venom it would rile.
Having the hole won, soft and low,
Like one who seeks a chance to show
His kindly nature, with a grin
He'd say: "Take eight and call it in!"

For fifteen years, day after day,
With that I've let him get away
Until my nerves were worn and frayed
And yesterday again we played.
Again the match was close. Again
He sank a putt to win, and then
Said: "Pick up your ball! I'll give you that!"
And it was then I knocked him flat!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Why Not Raise Turkeys in Northwest to Destroy Grasshoppers, Rather Than So Much Wheat to Feed Them?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: This summer a plague of grasshoppers descended upon Nebraska, Iowa, the Dakotas and other parts of the Northwest. Why is it that in India, where all forms of life are sacred and where they do not, I believe, wage wars of extermination against insects, as we do, insect plagues no not seem to occur? If it be actually a fact that in India they are not troubled by hordes of grasshoppers, corn borers, boll-weevils, army worms, cut worms, wire worms, apple worms, potato bugs, &c., I fancy the reason is that in India the balance of nature is not disturbed as we disturb it. There the birds and animals and "varmints" that feed upon insects and their eggs are not destroyed, so nature maintains the balance of life. Here in our country man steps in with his "scientific" knowledge and, thinking that he has power of life and death in his feeble hands, decides to destroy this creature and to let that creature live. The result is an upheaval in nature. Nature retaliates by turning her vast floods of life upon the puny, presumptuous men who defy her.

Instead of growing wheat which grasshoppers destroy (apparently too much wheat is grown in the world, anyway) the Northwest might become the turkey district of the world by raising vast flocks of turkeys to feed upon the grasshoppers.

Economist Asks Best Minds of America to Concentrate on Problems Arising Out of Depression.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A letter by Marx Lewis appeared a short time ago in The Post, and it ought to start some people to thinking. Of course, I realize that many people can not think. All the brains they possess are wrapped up in the stock market, in baseball or the races or in the intense effort required in clipping coupons. But Lewis' letter, for those who can and do think, leads to one clear conclusion, viz: Capitalism has collapsed, and although the capitalists are still breathing they are planning nothing. If they continue in this pitiful "status quo" the dreadful Socialists will step in and convert the country to Socialism.

This seems logical when you stop to think that we have the world's largest gold supply, mountains of wheat, cotton, corn, &c., and are starving because we have produced too much, and hear advice in high quarters that the producers ought to destroy all or part of what they have produced to keep prices up. "Plow under every third row of cotton," says the Farm Board. Others advise that no cotton be planted next year. Boatloads of bananas near Baltimore are dumped into the sea, and fruit is rotting on the ground. Something ought to be done to bring about a better articulation between producer and consumer.

Certainly the best minds will have to function more clearly and more quickly to solve our economic problems or what Mr. Lewis says will be upon us. It is certain that the masses of people are not going to starve quietly to death while investigating commissions and "surveys" spend the third winter of the depression issuing yellow-backed pamphlets.

ECONOMIST.

Prospects of Demagogy and Stupid Action on Tariff in Next Session of Congress Makes Citizen Shiver.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I notice that Senators Brookhart and Shipstead are demanding that President Hoover call a special session of Congress to enact relief legislation. Brookhart, who is noted for his silly actions, indorses the Hearst plan, which he says should be adopted so as to provide for relief this winter.

Uh, huh! But Brookhart, who leaps before he looks, seems to be ignorant of the fact that the Hearst plan calls for a huge public building program, which, if adopted, could not possibly be put into effect before next spring or summer, owing to the fact that plans would have to be drafted and run the gamut of red tape. By that time there would be no need to help the people who would probably have starved to death.

I dread to see Congress convene, even in the regular session, because the demagogues will hold the balance of power. Business conditions may become more uncertain, throwing more people out of work. Besides, the Democratic members are not going to do anything toward ending the depression. They will follow their traditional stupid policies regarding the tariff. The fact is, they are hopeful of the depression lasting until November, 1932, as they think they will be able to win the Presidency if it holds out that long.

President Hoover's plan is the best, as it provides for immediate relief. By calling a special session he would only jeopardize its success.

E. D. LYLE.

Writer Who Pretends There Is No Depression Offers Cure for It.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: There is not and never was such a thing as a depression. Today we need as much food, as many clothes, and as large an amount of all the necessities of life as we ever did.

We who labor are willing to produce these things. We have the raw material and the machinery, made also by labor, to stop want in ten days. Why, then, this specter of starvation and want that today stalks through the richest land on this earth? Because manufacturers will not produce an article and sell it for the cost of production plus a reasonable profit. That is why 6,000,000 men daily walk and walk and walk and beg for work.

FEDERAL WORKERS REELECT STEWARD

Miss McNally Also Named to Succeed Self After Being Storm Center.

Special to The Washington Post.

Seattle, Sept. 10.—The Federation of Federal Employes today reelected Luther C. Steward, Washington, D. C., president; Miss Gertrude R. McNally, Washington, secretary-treasurer, and John Fitzgerald, New York, first vice president. Kansas City was selected as the 1933 convention city.

A resolution charging "favored treatment" of Women's Union, No. 105, of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, at the expense of other locals, failed of adoption today by the federation after precipitating a bitter debate at the federation's eleventh biennial convention.

Miss McNally, a former officer of the women's union, was charged with giving immediate consideration to complaints of the women's local, but handling cases presented by Local No. 249, men's union of the bureau, in a "negligible manner."

The incident ended with John R. Newman, president of Local No. 249, apologizing to Miss McNally for statements made during discussion of the resolution, which did not have the support of the District of Columbia Federation. The debate, between Mr. Newman, Belle A. Treuland, president of the women's local; Miss McNally and other delegates, followed a report of nonconcurrence by the resolutions committee. Mr. Newman later declared the report "entirely satisfactory."

"Injustices" Are Alleged.

A resolution disapproving "injustices and inequities" alleged to exist in Government manufacturing establishments, was adopted by the convention. Indorsing the resolution, William Rapsher, president of Local Union No. 23, declared that "sweatshop" conditions existed in some of the units.

Addressing the convention, Representative Frederick R. Lehlbach, of New Jersey, chairman of the House civil service committee, pledged his support to legislation to make the American Civil Service system "a model for the world."

He outlined the history and development of three pieces of legislation affecting Government workers—retirement, classification and the Saturday half-holiday. He charged that the Bureau of Efficiency, as previously constituted, "nullified the entire intent of the act," but that William H. McReynolds, present director of the personnel classification board, is leaving no stone unturned to bring about improvements needed.

Personnel Boards Touched On.

Put forward by Local No. 250, of Washington, a resolution asking that steps be taken to reorganize the local personnel classification boards set up at the military stations in the field service, by adding at least four members selected from the civilian personnel, was adopted by the convention.

The federation agreed to strive to prevent any "discrimination" against employes of military departments, recognizing that importance of their "supervisory, administrative and technical work" is not lessened by their "being under military control." The federation adopted a resolution to this end, proposed by Local No. 261 of Washington.

Other resolutions asked that all Government workers be paid twice a month; that women in the so-called production divisions of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing be placed in the clerical-mechanical service; and that the Bureau of Engraving and Printing regulations designed to protect the seniority rights of employes be enforced.

Ground Is Broken For U. S. Embassy

Foreign Service Building in Paris to House Various Federal Agencies.

Paris, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Representative I. Charles Linthicum, of Maryland, turned the first shovel of earth today for the construction of an American foreign service building on the Place de la Concorde. It will house the embassy, consulate and other state departments.

Mr. Linthicum, who is chairman of the House foreign service building committee, was assisted by Capt. Richard L. Smith, American military attache, and representatives of the contractors and the International Federation of Building and Public Works.

The edifice will cost $1,600,000 and will harmonize with historic surroundings on the famous public square, regarded by many as the finest in the world. It is expected to be completed in November, 1932.

JOYS OF VACATION AVAILABLE TO ALL

Post Woodland Beach Easily Reached; Site Prices Are Reasonable.

Nature has provided many things for the comfort of human beings during the days when a hot sun makes life miserable within the confines of the city. Taking advantage of the opportunities offered by nature is all that is required of the average citizen.

The Washington Post is ready to help those who want to find a place in which to spend the summers comfortably and who do not care to spend a great deal of money each season in making long trips; paying big hotel bills and "dressing" for the occasion.

The Post is offering Washington residents a chance to buy the location for a permanent summer home in a spot where nature has been indeed kind. That spot is Woodland Beach on the South River of Maryland. It is well chosen as to location, for it is only 32 miles from the Capital and is reached by excellent roads, with bus and electric cars serving it.

Purchasing property at Woodland Beach need not strain the family purse. Lots there are selling at $93, and the down payment required is only $9. The only other restriction is that the purchaser subscribe to The Post. The balance of the original price may then be paid off in monthly installments of $3.50.

Out at Woodland Beach there stretches 4½ miles of waterfront on which to enjoy yourself, almost the year around. There are groves of shade trees. There are sheltered coves in which the children may play. There is a community clubhouse. And above all there is the pride of a community anxious to grow into the finest summer colony in this section of the country. You will want to participate in this. Buy now.

Sanitary Engineers Elect Thomas M. Dugan

Richmond, Va., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Thomas M. Dugan, of McKeesport, Pa., secretary of the American Society of Sanitary Engineers, was elevated to the presidency at today's session of the society's annual meeting. He succeeds A. R. McGonegal, of Washington.

J. F. Doud, of Cincinnati, was named treasurer and James R. Walker, of Waterbury, Conn., was reelected librarian. A convention city will be chosen tomorrow.

SCOUTING CRUISERS DUE IN ROADS TODAY

Newport News, Va., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The cruiser divisions of the United States scouting force will arrive in Hampton Roads tomorrow. Their arrival marks the opening of the annual fall battle maneuvers off the Southern drill grounds.

With the exception of the Salt Lake City and the Marblehead, which have been operating on the grounds off the Virginia Capes in gunnery practice for two weeks, all cruisers are coming here from Newport.

Vice Admiral A. L. Willard will command the force from his flagship Augusta. Vessels accompanying the Augusta include the Richmond, Trenton, Concord, Chicago, Chester, Pensacola, Memphis, Milwaukee, Omaha and Louisville.

The battleships Arkansas and Wyoming, now on a cruise off Halifax with naval reserves aboard, are scheduled to arrive Sunday.

The maneuvers off the Virginia Capes will be continued until the middle of November when the ships will depart for their respective home ports and yards, to prepare for winter battle maneuvers in Southern waters.

Airplanes of the force will participate in the maneuvers, and the ships are expected in port almost every week-end during the next two months.

At least seven flag officers are expected to arrive with their commands, which include between 12,000 and 15,000 men on the 14 ships putting in, and on the accompanying auxiliary craft, which are to arrive during the maneuvers.

Farm Wife Ends Life By Swallowing Poison

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., Sept. 10.—Despondent on account of failing health, Mrs. Beulah M. Rice, wife of Stanley Rice, a farmer near Lewiston, ended her life yesterday by swallowing poison.

After taking the dose, Mrs. Rice sent her 9-year-old daughter to the barn to inform her husband of the deed. Mrs. Rice died before the arrival of a physician. County authorities made an investigation after which Coroner Sherman P. Bowers returned a verdict to the effect that the woman died from self-administered poison.

(Associated Press.)

More women over 75 years of age are living in the United States than men, although the total male population is greater.

Census Bureau statistics issued yesterday showed 997,444 women within five years of the four-score mark, as against 915,752 men. The male population of 62,137,080 outnumbered the female by 1,499,114.

However, the percentage of men in this advanced age group had increased from 1.3 in 1920, to 1.5 in 1930, whereas the percentage of women had only increased from 1.5 to 1.8.

Increasing also was the age 65 to age 74 category, bearing out the contentions of the Public Health Service that the life span is lengthening.

At the other end of the age-scale, a falling birth rate showed itself in lowered percentages of children under 5, with lowered percentages for boys in age groups up to 15 and lowered percentages for girls up to 25 years.

Boy babies under 1 year of age totaled 1,112,171, only 1.8 per cent of the 1930 population, whereas in 1920 they were 2.1 per cent of the male population.

Baby girls less than a year old at the time of census-taking numbered 1,078,620, or 1.8 per cent of the total female population, as against a 2.2 per cent record ten years ago.

England's Tax Increase On Tobacco Is Surprise

Danville, Va., Sept. 10.—An increase of 16 cents per pound, added by the British government in its emergency budget to the present import duty of $2.16 per pound on tobacco, announced in London today, took the Southern trade, where large purchases for British account are made, completely by surprise.

Only last Monday A. B. Carrington, president of the Tobacco Association of the United States, had declared that no increase was contemplated. He said today that the higher duty would have some adverse effect on the American industry, as British manufacturers probably would absorb the extra cost by using inferior tobacco.

Lady Astor Lauds Snowden's Appeal

Only Those Blinded by Hate, She Says Will Not Respond.

London, Sept. 10 (U.P.).—Lady Astor, American-born member of Parliament, said tonight that Britain "can not fail to respond" to Chancellor Snowden's budget speech.

"Never in my life was I more moved in the House of Commons than by Mr. Snowden's speech," she said. "I felt a tremendous admiration for him. He made an appeal which the whole country is bound to hear, rich and poor, high and low. Only people blinded by hatred and prejudice can fail to respond. The increased tax on beer is all right, I suppose. It won't stop people who want it from having it."

Indian Viceroy Recovers.

Simla, India, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Viceroy Earl Willingdon has recovered from an attack of dysentery, an ailment prevalent here during the rainy season. He will return from Dehradun to Simla, the summer capital, tomorrow and will address both houses of the legislature on Monday.

Have you what is commonly called that Tired Feeling?

"Mother, I do wish you were well and strong"

Why you should be interested in your Blood Count

It is a great protection to health and physical well-being to keep the red-blood-cell count up to normal. These cells build and sustain—they also remove impurities.

(Left) Microscopic view of healthy red-blood-cells. The blood stream should contain about 5,000,000 of these cells to the cubic millimeter. They carry nourishment and oxygen to every part of the body—they also remove impurities from the tissues.

(Right) Weak red-blood-cells—only 60 per cent of normal strength—they lack the power to resist infection and disease or to rebuild flesh and to carry away the impurities. Such a condition is often responsible for body weakness, paleness, sallow complexion, pimples and boils.

Don't let them count you out!

So often the reason is simple—that good body of ours has "run-down" under the strain of our way of living . . . pressure of work and worry.

Those important precious red-blood-cells that mean so much to vitality become lowered in count . . . the hemoglobin percentage begins to fall and we wonder "what is the matter."

If this is your trouble, why not take steps to overcome it—remembering that a "tired feeling" may be a warning . . . so are pimples, boils and paleness. A general run-down condition means a lack of normal resistance to infection and disease.

Sometimes it is a lagging appetite that leads to underweight and ill health in various manifestations.

You cannot be low in strength and be happy—let's be happy.

For generations S.S.S. as a tonic has been helping people gain New Strength, better health and happiness. Its successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood surely warrants your giving it a good trial.

You should know that S.S.S. has the distinct advantage of being composed of fresh vegetable medicinal ingredients in concentrated form . . . it is Mother Nature's formula.

French Guests Will Be Feted In New York

Yorktown Visitors to Be Given Dinner on October 24.

As a prelude to their Washington visit, members of the official French delegation to the Yorktown celebration, arriving in this country in October, will be entertained at dinner in New York on Saturday evening, October 24, under the patronage of Gov. Roosevelt and Mayor Walker. The fete will be held at the Waldorf-Astoria. Mr. William D. Guthrie, president of the France America Society, will preside.

Among those representing France will be officers of the army, navy and Diplomatic Corps, and descendants of commanders of the French forces who aided the colonies in the War of Independence.

Marshal Petain will head the delegation, representing the French army. With him will be Comte de Chambrun, Commandant de Rochambeau, Commandant de Lacoste de Laval and Capt. de Beauvillers.

The representatives of the navy, headed by Admiral Descotes-Genon, will include Capt. de Vaisseau Lacroix, Commandant Marzin and Lieut. de Vaisseau Martinant de Preneuf.

Those who will represent their forbears who fought in the American Revolution include Marquis de Grasse, Marquis de Rochambeau with her son, and the Duke de Noailles and Gen. d'Ollone, who will represent the French Society of the Cincinnati. Others in the delegation and who have been invited by the American Government are the Duke de Broglie, president of the French Society of the Cincinnati, and the Duchess de Broglie; the Marquis de Chambrun, deputy of Lozere, and M. de Beaumarchais, French Ambassador to Italy, and Mme. de Beaumarchais.

The French delegates will leave New York on Sunday, October 25, for Newport, R. I., where they will spend two or three days.

Mrs. Doak Plans Party For Republican League.

Mrs. William N. Doak, wife of the Secretary of Labor, will give a garden party September 21 in honor of the League of Republican Women, in the picturesque garden of her country residence, "Notre Nid," in Fairfax road, Va. The fete will be held at 2:30 o'clock.

The United States Minister to Guatemala, Mr. Sheldon P. Whitehouse, has accompanied his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Fitz Hugh Whitehouse, on a three-day fishing trip to Fisher's Island from Newport, where they are spending the summer.

They are making the trip aboard the schooner yacht Ventura of Mr. and Mrs. William Greenough, and in the party are Miss Adelaide Whitehouse and Mr. William F. Whitehouse, 3d, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. William Fitz Hugh Whitehouse.

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Hanson E. Ely and Brig. Gen. and Mrs. John Ross Delafield will be the honor guests at a large reception October 8, following the presentation to Gen. Delafield of the Commander of the Crown of Italy. The presentation will be made by the Italian consul general in New York, Signor Emmanuele Grazzi.

Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Samuel T. Ansell entertained at a dinner dance last evening at Congressional Club for Miss Anna Dodge Sturgis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sturgis, of Chevy Chase, Md., and their son, Mr. Burr Tracy Ansell, whose marriage will take place tomorrow at 4:30 o'clock in the All Souls' Unitarian Church. This evening Miss Annie Graham will entertain at a dinner dance at the Shoreham for Miss Sturgis and Mr. Ansell and the members of their wedding party.

Sutherlands Return To City This Week.

The Alien Property Custodian and Mrs. Howard Sutherland are expected to return to Washington this week. Mr. Sutherland went to New York to meet Mrs. Sutherland, who arrived from Europe Tuesday. They went on to Westport, Conn., to spend a few days with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Harris, who have had a cottage there through the summer with Mrs. Harris' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Wallis Dunckel, of New York. Mrs. Dunckel has been in Rhode Island for visits for several weeks. Mrs. Sutherland spent the summer in and around Paris with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mayo, who had a house abroad. Mr. and Mrs. Mayo arrived Wednesday in New York.

Mrs. Frank C. Letts, who has been in Bar Harbor for some weeks, will return today or tomorrow and open her home in Massachusetts avenue.

Mrs. Pendleton Mayo and her daughters, Miss Charlotte Mayo and Miss Virginia Mayo, will move shortly to the house which they have taken at 1410 Thirty-fourth street. They have been living at 3023 Q street.

Mrs. B. Frank Hoffman, of Trenton, Mo., and Washington, has returned to the Mayflower from Indianapolis, where she visited the last few weeks after spending some time in Missouri.

Mrs. Hoffman accompanied Mrs. Arthur M. Hyde on the trip to the Philippines. Mr. Hoffman returned to the Capital about a month ago with Secretary Hyde.

Returns From Europe

of Denver, Colo., with Mr. Mayo has arrived from Europe, where she spent several months. Mrs. Mayo, formerly Miss Katherine Sutherland, of Washington, is a daughter of the Alien Property Custodian and Mrs. Howard Sutherland.

Blooms to Give Tea Honoring Mrs. Davison

Visitor Is Distinguished for Philanthropy to Soldiers.

Representative and Mrs. Sol Bloom will be hosts at tea informally tomorrow afternoon at their summer residence, Hemlock Hedge, Edgemoor, Md., in honor of the noted philanthropist, Mrs. D. H. Davison, of New York, known as "Mother Davison," by the veterans of the late war.

Her activity in behalf of Army, Navy and Marine Corps veterans since the close of the war has been endless, and has gained her a Nation-wide reputation. She tours the country, presenting plays at the various Government hospitals for the amusement of the soldiers.

In her troupe are a group of girls, amateurs. Seven of them will accompany her to Washington, arriving tonight for a two-day visit. They will stay at the Hotel Gordon, in Sixteenth street, and during their Washington sojourn will offer theatrical presentations at the Government hospitals in and around Washington.

Mrs. Davison is a sister of Daniel Frohman and the late Charles Frohman, both famous in the theatrical world. She is also an aunt of Hubert Frohman, architect for the Washington Cathedral. In commemoration of her philanthropic work, a bas relief of Mrs. Davison was recently unveiled at Governor's Island, N. Y.

Justice Peyton Gordon, of the District Supreme Court, and Mrs. Gordon have returned to their apartment in Wyoming avenue after spending the summer in Europe.

Dr. and Mrs. Harold Krogh have returned from a month's vacation spent in Minneapolis, Canada, Chicago and other points in the Northwest. They made the trip leisurely by motor and visited Dr. Krogh's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter M. Krogh, in Minneapolis.

Mrs. May B. Ramsdell, widow of the Rev. Dr. Charles B. Ramsdell, is spending this week with her son and daughter-in-law and their two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Hobart H. Ramsdell, in their home at Gaithersburg, Md. She will spend next week with her other son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Ramsdell, and their four children at Cloppers, Md. She will return to her apartment in Pelham Courts for the winter.

Miss Virginia Hunter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fenley Hunter, of Kings Point, Long Island, who made her debut at a dance at the Manhasset Bay Yacht Club in Port Washington on Wednesday evening, has as her guest Miss Elizabeth Shouse, daughter of the executive chairman of the Democratic national committee and Mrs. Jouett Shouse.

Dr. Herman Feis has returned to his duties in the State Department from a visit in New York and on Long Island where he went with Mrs. Feis for a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Stanley Brown, the latter formerly Miss Mollie Garfield, only daughter of President Garfield. Mrs. Feis will remain with her parents for a short time yet, before joining Dr. Feis in their Georgetown home.

Kirtlands Visiting Hassans Here.

Mrs. Roy C. Kirtland and her daughter, Miss Helen Kirtland, are spending a few days in Washington as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Acheson E. Hassan, having come from Langley Field, Va., where Col. Kirtland is commanding officer. Before going to Langley, Col. and Mrs. Kirtland had spent several years in Washington, where the colonel attended the War College and later represented the air corps of the Army with the general staff. He is one of the small group who learned to fly at College Park, Md., in 1910, in the earliest type of Army plane.

Miss Kirtland, who graduated from Western High School last June, will enter Connecticut College at New London, Conn., next week.

George Aubrey Hastings Visited by Son.

Mr. Aubrey C. Hastings, of New York, is the guest of his father, Mr. George Aubrey Hastings, administrative assistant to the President.

Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Bernreuter, of State College, Pa., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hosmer, of Reno road.

Army Officer Will Marry In December

Lieut. Seitz and Helen Hardenbergh Will Wed in Chicago.

Maj. Raymond V. Hardenbergh, U. S. A., stationed at Fort Hamilton, N. Y., and Mrs. Hardenbergh, announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen Stewart Johnson Hardenbergh, to Lieut. John Francis Regis Seitz, U. S. A., also stationed at Fort Hamilton, son of Mrs. George W. Hilleary Seitz, of Wilmington, Dela. The wedding will take place in December in Chicago, the home of the Hardenberghs.

Miss Hardenbergh was graduated from the Abbott Academy at Andover, Mass., and finished her studies abroad. She made her debut in society in Chicago, when she was introduced by her grandmother, Mrs. Lorenzo M. Johnson, of Winnetka, Ill. In 1927 Miss Hardenbergh was presented at court at the first drawing room in London and joined her parents for a season in Washington, when her grandmother also spent the winter with them here. Since that season she has spent much time in Santa Barbara, Calif., and in New York with her parents. Lieut. Seitz was graduated from West Point, the class of 1929, and is with his regiment, the Eighteenth Infantry, at Fort Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Belmont, who are now in Switzerland, will sail for New York early in October.

Lieut. Comdr. I. W. Kite, U. S. N., and Mrs. Kite have returned to their apartment in the Cordova from their cottage at Blue Ridge Summit, Pa., where they spent the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Inskeep and Lieut. John L. Inskeep, of McKeesport, Pa., are at the Powhatan.

Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins, who has been in her home at Ventnor, N. J., since the early summer recuperating from a serious illness, will return to her apartment at 2029 Connecticut avenue early in October.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. MacCracken have as their guests at Wardman Park Hotel Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. Pritchard, of Chicago, who will remain with them for a few days. Mr. Pritchard was formerly associated with Mr. MacCracken in the practice of law in Chicago.

Miss Belle Sherwin, president of the National League of Women Voters, has returned to her home after spending the summer at her country estate near Cleveland, Ohio.

Army Girl

Harris & Ewing.

MISS BETTY M'ALISTER, daughter of Lieut. Col. and Mrs. J. A. McAlister, has been spending several weeks in New England.

Airplane Used By Mrs. Moss, Visiting Here

Flies From Philadelphia and Will Later Again Come to City.

Mrs. Moss, widow of Judge Mackenzie Moss, former Internal Revenue Commissioner, spent part of yesterday in Washington, flying down from Philadelphia.

She went to her former home, Bowling Green, Ky., in the early spring, and with her mother, Mrs. N. B. Brewer, of Bowling Green, came east and they made visits to Mrs. Moss' sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Buffington Simonin and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Whitney Howe, jr., both living in Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia.

They spent August at Camp Ninomis on Saranac Lake in the Adirondacks, the summer camp of Mr. and Mrs. Simonin. Mrs. Moss and her mother will come to Washington later this month to spend some time with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. McElroy Moss in their country home near Olney, Md.

Mrs. George A. Ford is visiting in Miami, Fla., at the Hotel Everglades.

What Today Means to You

"VIRGO."

IF September 11 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:15 a. m. to 11:50 a. m., from 1:25 p. m. to 3:50 p. m., from 5:10 p. m. to 7:20 p. m., and from 9:30 p. m. to 10:55 p. m. The only danger period is from 7:30 a. m. to 9:50 a. m.

September 11 is, according to the Signs, full of great promise. In all fields—business, domestic and spiritual—there will be great stimulation. It is an ideal occasion—although a Friday—to strike out on a new path, to forget disappointments, to discount difficulties and to forge ahead.

Children born on this September 11 will possess considerable originality, but little self-reliance. They will be able to think out new methods, but will lack the courage to put them into action. Only if they can depend on outside assistance will they achieve that measure of success for which they were primarily destined.

You, if born on September 11, have much for which to be grateful. Your natural gifts are many, and, with perseverance and determination they can be capitalized to the nth degree, and bring in their train, commensurate rewards. Because you are gifted, though, is no excuse for not making use of your talents, or hiding your light under a bushel. At times you lack self-confidence, but this, as the years roll by, should vanish, and you ought to feel sure of yourself.

You, in all work entrusted to you, are very prompt, and an apt disciple of the "do it now" cult. You do not believe in aliphod effort, and do everything to the best of your ability. Dependability and accuracy are also assets of your "make-up." As a friend, you are unbeatable. You can always place yourself in the other person's shoes, give sound advice, render timely help and keep your mouth shut.

You are strong and true in your affections, but by no means demonstrative. In the choice of a mate—and this is not a question that you will settle on the impulse of the moment—you will be guided more by your head than by your heart. Constancy and loyalty will, however, be the result.

Successful people born September 11:

William S. Macy, artist.

Lord Byng, London's police commissioner.

Isaac Roberdeau, engineer.

Felix Grundy, jurist and statesman.

Sarah Bache, philanthropist.

Henry C. Bowen, merchant and editor.

Indoor—Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

DARKSPUR AND OTHER PLANTS.

HOT weather, such as we have had in August, is hard on larkspur. About this time a fungus growth is apt to attack the crowns of the plants. The first indication of the disease is that you will notice that the plants are beginning to wilt. The malady can be easily checked by spraying thoroughly with a lime and sulphur solution. It is well to spray not only the plants but the surrounding growth as well.

In early September it is a good idea to spray your chrysanthemums for black asphis, which are inticed by the young growth of these plants. You can soon rout the enemy with a solution of nicotine sulphate. In some sections of the country grasshoppers show a decided liking for the foliage of the chrysanthemums. To chase these enemies, spray with arsenate of lead.

Early September is the time to transplant perennials to permanent quarters so that their roots may become firmly established before frost. Pansies that are to be wintered in the open can, before frost, be covered with straw, pine needles or dried autumn leaves.

These pansies which have been flowering in your border all summer should now be cut back, which will insure a second crop of fair-sized flowers for the latter part of the month. They will be further benefited by having some bonemeal worked into the soil about their roots.

This is a good time to prepare your bulb beds. Spade them deeply and literally, as far as possible, pulverize the soil. Mixing a little bonemeal with the soil will be beneficial; about a quart to 4 square yards will be sufficient. Should the soil seem heavy mix some sand with it.

Madonna lilies can be planted up to September 20.

Jane Interprets the MODE

New York, Sept. 10.

WE-L-L-L, here we are in the Casino at Deauville. What fur? Well, for heaven's sake—fur 'n' fur 'n' fur! For all the lovely ladies are furred all over the place—look at that Gorlicious ashy blonde over there with a black tulle dress on, banded, think of it, all around the hem and around the edge of the two wide sleeves that go only from wrist to elbow, in silver fox! That's too delightful—that contrast between the fragility of tulle and the weight of fox fur!

I'd like to know where hard times are, anyhow! There isn't an elegante here without a thousand dollars' worth of fur on her, honestly. Of course, fur is much cheaper than it has ever been, but does that mean anything when you wear three of four foxes now instead of one?

'Scuse me—I'll be right back. I have to get a closer look at that silvery looking fur cape over there—from here I can't tell what it is, except that it's not chinchilla or squirrel—and there isn't any other gray fur that I know of. Oh, yes, what do you think. It's platinum dyed ermine.

M. Hein told me about this last year—he said that platinum dyed ermine was going to be more expensive than even the priceless chinchilla, for the good reason that only the finest and youngest ermine skins could be dyed this pearl gray, also that only one out of three or four skins came out right, and the rest had to be thrown away. Consequently a platinum-dyed ermine coat costs four times what the finest ermine coat would cost. And there I see one! And it's too lovely for words—it looks just like moonlight, really!

* * * *

Autumn coats are arousing enthusiasm in lovely ladies who formerly loked on a coat as a boring necessity, to be worn only when cold weather made going about in a dress or light suit impossible! But who could resist the colorful smartness and beauty that distinguish coats for cooler days. Who, for instance, wouldn't adore to have the coat I have illustrated today, from Redfern, of gay green fantasy wool with large cuff insets and pointed collar insets of black caracul, and the collar itself of the upstanding ruff type? The plain, slender silhouette is just the perfect setting for the unusual trimming.

* * * *

The smartest coats this season are the ones with charm and imagination equally present in their fur trimmings. Don't be satisfied to buy your coat with "just a fur collar and cuffs" when there are such stunning new ideas about!

* * * *

And little tip-tilted hats are matching themselves with scarves these days? The set I sketched for you today, a Scotch bonnet and a soft scarf, is of green velvet and black felt!

* * * *

What furs are evening furs? 'N' what are the only ones worn for sports? What kind and color of fur is the best for you to wear, and how should you have your furrier attend to last year's coat to bring out unexpected good points? All these things make such a difference in your apearance and smartness—and they're easy to find out about! In fact, all you have to do is sit right down and send off your stamped self-adressed envelope to the Dare Department of the Post for this week's leaflet. It will save you dollars and dollars if you're buying new furs, and hours of perplexity if you're having old ones remodeled.

SOCIETY EVENTS

Lieut. James C. White, U. S. A., Lieut. Paul W. Caraway, U. S. A., and Mr. William Bowie Clarke have returned from a week-end and holiday visit in Roanoke, Va., where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Fairfax. They went to attend the dance at the Roanoke Country Club last Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Fairfax entertained at a large dinner party preceding the dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Harrison, jr., have returned to their apartment in the Carlton after a visit of ten days with the former's parents, Senator and Mrs. Harrison, in their summer home at Biloxi, Miss.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Corrin Strong are spending several days at the Mayflower and will return tomorrow to their summer home at Gibson Island, Md.

Col. Cootes Joined By His Family.

The commandant of Fort Myer, Col. Harry N. Cootes, was joined yesterday by Mrs. Cootes and their son and daughter, Mr. Merritt Cootes and Miss Mary Cootes, who arrived from the Far West, where they spent several weeks.

Mrs. Logan, wife of Dr. John A. Logan, of Chevy Chase, and their children, accompanied by Mrs. Logan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Bronson, of Chevy Chase, are spending September in Dr. Logan's cottage at Long Beach, N. J., where Dr. Logan joins them for the week-ends, and will make a longer visit at the end of the month.

After a two months' visit in England, Miss Gwen Gesch, of the Bradford Apartments, has returned to Washington to resume her duties as congressional secretary of the National League of Women Voters.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elmore Cropley have returned to their apartment in Cathedral Mansions after spending some time at Casa de Manana at La Jolla, Calif., and returning to Washington through Canada. Earlier in the summer Mr. and Mrs. Cropley were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Talbert at their estate near Lexington, Ky.

Mrs. Pearl S. Hase and her daughters, Miss Betty Hase and Miss Hilda Hase, wife and daughters of Col. W. F. Hase, of the Coast Artillery headquarters office in Washington, and Mr. Hugh Stewart, of 2825 Belmont road, Washington, were among the passengers who debarked at Baltimore yesterday from the Baltimore Mail Liner S. S. City of Norfolk from Havre and Hamburg.

Mrs. Harry K. McHarg, jr., arrived in Washington yesterday accompanied by her young daughter. They will live at the Shoreham pending the completion of their new home, 2550 Massachusetts avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Hevener, of Sacramento, Calif., have arrived in Washington for an indefinite visit, and are living at the Potomac Park Apartments.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Aiken, of Greenville, S. C., are spending a few days in the Capital and are guests at the Dodge while here. They are accompanied by Miss Rita Richardson, also of Greenville.

Mrs. Jacob Klatskin announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Sara Klatskin, to Mr. Herman Pressman, of New York. The ceremony took place yesterday at the home of Rabbi J. T. Loeb. Mr. and Mrs. Pressman will reside in Washington.

Lieut. Comdr. Paul F. Dickens, U. S. M. C., Mrs. Dickens and their son, Paul F. Dickens, jr., have arrived in Washington from the West Coast and have taken an apartment in Corcoran Courts while waiting to occupy their home at 3727 Reservoir road. Dr. Dickens has been attached to the U. S. S. Relief and is now on duty at the Naval Medical School.

Mrs. Calderon Carlisle will remain at Pine Lodge, Newport, where she has spent the summer, until the end of this month, when she will return and open her Washington home. Mrs. Carlisle's daughter, Mrs. Walter Bruce Howe, with her children, is staying late in their summer home, Berry Hill, at Newport, and will not join Mr. Howe here until the end of this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Howe both are deeply interested in the organization of the new National Symphony Orchestra, Hans Kindler conductor. Mr. Howe is chairman of the executive committee. Mr. Kindler returned to Washington yesterday after a summer trip in Europe with his family.

Mrs. Henry Lewis Prichard, who has been visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Walter A. Wells, for a week, left yesterday to return to her home on Granada Heights, Atlanta, Ga. Mrs. Prichard came here to stay while Mr. Prichard was in Cleveland for the air races, and he joined her to return home.

Mrs. James Irvin Steel gave a unique entertainment at her home in Mechanicsburg, Pa., this week when she had what she called a "travel salon." The guests for the most part were much traveled and gave talks on their experiences in foreign lands. Among the talkers were Mrs. L. C. Bucker, on the Holy Land; Miss F. Underwood, India; Mrs. G. Brindle, Hawaii; Mrs. G. Flower, Scotland, and Miss Witmer, Scotland. Mrs. Steel spends her winters in Washington.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

By ELY CULBERTSON

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

CAREFUL COUNTING AND CLEVER END PLAY.

No matter how accurate the bidding, the bidding is not the end of Contract. If that were so, the game would soon lose the charm of infinite variety, which holds its countless followers in a deathless grip and increases that army of followers every day. Bidding is mental play. It is a prediction of the number of tricks that can be made with the twenty-six cards held in the combined hands of the partnership. Sometimes the most expert play will not add a single trick to those that can be secured by even a novice. Fortunately, however, for the sustained interest in the game, this is rarely the case. Contract is not, as some people have said, a game of Aces and Kings. It is a game of accurately drawn inferences in the bidding and accurately reached conclusions in the play.

A Bridge lover in Melbourne, Australia, Mr. M. M. Phillips, sent me the other day a hand which demonstrated the fact that play in Australia can be just as accurate as in the most expert circles in America.

South dealt and bid one notrump. North bid two spades and South with more than four honor-tricks raised the contract to four spades. South could have made game at notrump, but the menace of the poorly guarded clubs and hearts was such as to cause him to believe that game at spades was more probable.

East opened the diamond Queen and the hands of North and South were:

North:
Spades K Q J 8 4
Hearts 6
Diamonds 10 5 2
Clubs K 10 8 5

South:
Spades A 6 3
Hearts A 4 3
Diamonds A K 8
Clubs Q 6 3 2

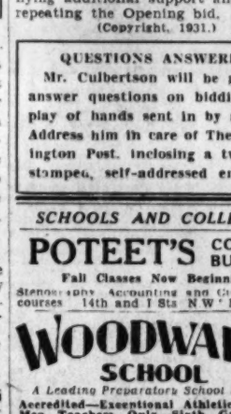
North won the first diamond trick and played three rounds of trumps. Both followed to the first two rounds and on the third round West discarded a diamond. North then led a club from his own hand and the Queen in Dummy held the trick. West played the seven. Only one more club trick was required for game, but the fact that West had no more was revealed in the return of the suit and East held A 7 9 over North's K 10 8, so that North's only chance was to force East to lead diamonds or clubs to him. East's original Opening lead of the Queen of diamonds seemed to place J 9 in his hand, especially in view of West's diamond discard. Apparently, East's remaining cards were: Clubs A J 9, Diamonds J 9 (at least) and two or three hearts. If he had only one heart, West would have held eight. East won the second round of clubs and led a heart which South won with the Ace. The remaining North and South cards now were:

North:
Spades 8 4
Hearts —
Diamonds 10 2
Clubs 7 10

South:
Spades —
Hearts 4 3
Diamonds A 7
Clubs 6 3

The heart three was now led from the Dummy. West played low, North ruffed and East played the Knave, probably locating the heart King in his hand. If West held the heart King he would have attempted to take this trick in order to lead up to his partner's diamond holding and establish a trick in that suit. This would make East's original hand consist of four clubs, three spades, three hearts, and three diamonds; so North had to readjust himself to this situation and force a lead of clubs up to his hand rather than a lead of diamonds. He, therefore, played a small diamond, won with the Ace, led the last heart from Dummy, ruffed with his last trump and put East in the lead with his last diamond. If North had played a club instead of a diamond at the ninth trick, East could have defeated him by playing his last club before leading his last heart, thus forcing North to lead diamonds to him.

The complete hands were:



Thus, by accurate play North was enabled to make his contract. Less accurate play would have resulted in sure defeat.

TODAY'S POINTER.

It must be borne in mind that the most radical and original feature of the Forcing Takeout is that the Jump does not necessarily show great length or strength in the bid suit, but merely game (or Slam) strength in the hand. Partner therefore must assume a minimum trump suit and support or deny accordingly.

Partner's (Opening bidder's) precise selection of a response will depend on the nature of his hand.

First: if able, show another biddable suit.

Second: rebid own trump suit if it is a strong five-card or a fair six-card suit.

Third: support partner's Jump suit bid if holding at least Q 3 2 or four small trumps. If holding more than the value of one Raise (after deducting the Opening bid values) jump the full amount of Raises.

Fourth: jump the notrump response if holding at least 3½ honor-tricks.

Fifth: lacking any trick values other than those already shown in the Opening bid, respond with the required number of notrumps. This constitutes a minimum response denying additional support and merely repeating the Opening bid.

Mr. Culbertson will be glad to answer questions on bidding and play of hands sent in by readers. Address him in care of The Washington Post, inclosing a two-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

Family Quarrels.

STRANGE the conceptions people have of family life. Strange the bonds that hold together humans, who should in the name of general decency part and go their separate ways in peace. How futile to talk of family ties while flying at each other's throat! How absurd to consider the comments of others when life has become a battle ground with each day adding its casualty. Family life is beautiful or hideous depending upon the individuals involved. When people hate, it matters little that they were born of the same parents. They should part, which answers Nita and a thousand more:

Dear Frances McDonald: I am married to the best man in the world but our happiness is being threatened because of my family. They are constantly demanding that we take sides in their fights. My husband has now forbidden me to go near their home. I do not blame him. They start some senseless quarrel over there and come in sections to our home to thresh it out and make us so nervous and jumpy that we get sore at each other.

These battles are never about anything in particular. Just anything at all. I have two sisters at home. And two brothers. It seems they can not let each other's affairs alone. One picks on the other. If a day would pass without some battle they would call it a day lost. I left home myself. I preferred to never see my folks again rather than see them every day fighting. I was never happy at home and the minute I got over my first homesickness away from them I became the most cheerful person, met my husband and have had never a glimmer of trouble since. Except since they began coming here with their troubles which are not even troubles. They could be the happiest people on earth if they would be decent toward each other. They simply go looking for trouble.

I want my sisters to leave as they claim the boys cause all the trouble. My mother then accuses me of giving bad advice. That was when I was forbidden to go there. Was I really wrong in advising the girls to break up the family rather than go on like this? They all read your column, so will you write something about such ways of living? I would give anything to see them all as happy as I am. Yet they have so much more in a material way. Everything in fact. It seems a downright sin to me for people who are supposed to love each other. They may accuse me of trying to break up the family and cause talk—but what is that compared to what they are doing? It makes me so nervous I can not enjoy life. Please help me. NITA.

Nice picture. Wild animals at play. What sort of memories will the young people in such a home carry through life? Let the neighbors talk. But let the brawling cease in decency's name.

SAVINGS BANK BOARD CHOSEN AT MEETING

Directors Are Reelected by Woodridge-Langdon for Fiscal Year.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Reelection of the following directors of Woodridge-Langdon Savings & Commercial Bank was announced yesterday following the annual meeting: H. P. Baldwin, J. P. Benfer, R. John Boehs, M. O. Bull, R. S. Campbell, C. C. Edwards, Ora E. Haines, J. H. Harwood, A. S. Henderson, J. B. Higdon, J. L. Knopp, T. S. Mallon, Eppa L. Norris, W. S. Plager, W. B. Putman, John B. Rubino, S. S. Symons, Kenneth Vieth.

Woodridge-Langdon Savings & Commercial Bank was organized in 1922, opening for business at 2030 Rhode Island avenue northeast and moving to its present location, 2027 Rhode Island avenue northeast, in 1924.

Its first president, F. P. Clark, was succeeded by A. S. Henderson, its present chief executive, in 1923. The bank's surplus has been increased from $10,000 to $50,000 and its deposits have grown from $30,000 to $575,000. Its capital is $50,000.

Electric Output Increases.

For the month of August, Associated Gas & Electric System reports electric output of 262,635,240 units (k. w. h.), an increase of 2.3 per cent over August of last year. For the twelve months ended August 31, electric output was 3,184,406,366 units, or 4.8 per cent above the same period of 1930. Excluding sales to other utilities, the units generated were 1 per cent less for August of 1931 and 2.6 per cent less for the twelve months ended August 31, than in the corresponding periods of 1930.

Gas output for this month totaled 1,261,065,900 cubic feet, which is 4.9 per cent under August 1930. For the twelve months, the total was 18,218,339,800 cubic feet, or one-tenth of 1 per cent under the same period of last year.

The National Coal Association, from incomplete car loading reports from the railroads, estimates bituminous coal production in the United States for the week ended September 5 as about 7,560,000 net tons. The Bureau of Mines estimates production for the week ended August 22 as 7,116,000 net tons, and for the week ended August 29, 7,500,000.

Hahn Stores Dividend.

Hahn Department Stores, Inc., have declared a regular quarterly dividend of $1.62½ a share on the 6½ per cent convertible preferred stock, payable October 21, 1931 to stockholders of record September 21.

The Washington Stock Exchange adjourned yesterday out of respect to the memory of the late Arthur Forraker, a member.

J. William Harrington has returned to the office of W. B. Hibbs & Co. after an illness of nearly a year. Before association with W. B. Hibbs & Co., Mr. Harrington was manager of the brokerage of the late John L. Edwards and was at that time a member of the Washington Stock Exchange.

Members of the Washington Stock Exchange have sent a handsome floral gift to President Edward J. Stellwagen, Union Trust Co., for many years an active member, who is now ill at Emergency Hospital.

George Bowie Chipman, resident partner of Harriman & Co., has been reelected to the board of Van Camp Packing Co., Indianapolis.

Hoover Salesmen Will Meet Today

One hundred members of the sales force of the Hoover Co. are expected here today to hold a special meeting at the Shoreham Hotel.

The company is inaugurating an "On to Prosperity" program in hopes of turning inactive funds into productive channels. In the furtherance of the idea, the officials of the Hoover Co. have invited other companies to cooperate with them in an attempt to stimulate business.

The meeting will start at 10 a. m., and will be held throughout the day with a program of entertainment planned for the evening. Heads of the organization who are expected to attend, and who will speak include: W. W. Steele, director of sales; T. F. Kelley, head of the dealer's relationship division; H. E. Schiltz, sales promotion manager; W. W. Powell and E. S. Bishop, from the company's factory at Canton, Ohio; J. N. Adam, branch sales manager of Philadelphia, and J. T. Dill, assistant branch manager of Philadelphia.

Additional Financial News will be found on Pages 17 and 18.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Bond issues called in whole or in part in August totaled $137,978,484, the largest amount reported for any month since November, 1929, Standard Statistics Co. reports. Public utility bonds accounted for $118,564,290, and industrial bonds $14,622,884.

Three New York Curb Exchange memberships have been sold at $61,500, $60,000 and $57,000, respectively. The last previous sale was at $55,000.

Directors of the Southern Railway declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 on the preferred stock, payable October 15 to stock of record September 21. At the last meeting the board announced that no further dividends would be paid on the common this year, and that the question of 1932 payments would be considered at the December session.

The Long Bell Lumber Corporation and subsidiaries reported for the first half net loss of $1,926,892, compared with net loss of $610,721 in the corresponding period of 1930.

New York City today arranged for a $20,000,000 loan in three-month bills at 1.45 per cent. Chase National Bank, National City Bank and Barr Bros. & Co., Inc., took the issue.

Bond Fluctuations Ignored by Banks

Comptroller Allows National Institutions to Carry Holdings at Cost.

(Associated Press.)

Attention was called yesterday by John W. Pole, Comptroller of the Currency, in response to questions, that his office for a year had permitted national banks to retain Government, State municipal and high grade commercial bonds in their assets at full value rather than writing off depreciation due to market fluctuations.

This, the Comptroller said, not only protected the banks but protected the public. The commercial bonds that were permitted the preferential treatment, he added, were those listed in the four brackets by statistical corporations.

The Comptroller said that his office took the view that high grade bonds intrinsic value was not impaired by market fluctuations and the banks were entitled to include them in their assets at full value. In the speculative or inferior bonds he said his office was asking a reduction in their value for depreciation but was permitting it to be written off over a period of time.

Fair and Horse Show Opens For Three Days at Fairfax

Baby Contest to Be Feature as Crowds Gather for Pony Races and Athletic Events Arranged by Chamber Committee.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 243, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Fairfax 166.

The eighteenth annual Fairfax County Fair and Horse Show opened yesterday at Fairfax and will continue through Saturday.

While the entries of farm produce and live stock this year are not as numerous as in former years, the quality of the exhibits is excellent.

Today has been designated as Chamber of Commerce Day at the fair. The Fairfax Chamber will act as hosts to the representatives of the trade bodies of the neighboring counties and cities. A number of athletic events have been arranged by the local chamber under direction of William A. Cleveland.

The main attraction of the day will be a baby show, sponsored by the Fairfax Chamber under the direction of County Health Nurse Fannie Lou Seamons and Mrs. G. Ashley Money.

The Fair Association has arranged for special entertainment this evening. Military authorities will stage an antiaircraft battle over the fair grounds. The War Department has detailed fifteen pieces of equipment, including a bombing plane, large search lights, antiaircraft guns and more than 50 men to stage the demonstration.

The list of winners in yesterday's horse show and races were listed as follows: Mrs. D. N. Lee, of Middleburg, Va., winning the larget number of prizes.

4 Road Bids Asked For Montgomery

Maryland State Body Is to Open Offers on September 22.

The Maryland State Roads Commission has advertised for bids on four Montgomery County projects, to be opened at noon September 22 at its Baltimore office.

The projects are: Construction of 1 mile of concrete State highway along the Poolesville-Martinsburg road toward Martinsburg; construction of concrete shoulders on both sides of the section of State highway along Flower avenue from Carroll avenue to Sligo avenue in Takoma Parks, Md., a distance of about .98 miles; construction of the new highway to provide an outlet to Sixteenth street for citizens of Woodside, Montgomery Hills, and the Forest Glen-Kensington-Capitol View area, a distance of 1.12 miles; new section of State highway along Franklin avenue from Colesville pike to Carroll avenue extended in Takoma Park. This will provide a short highway connecting the Sixteenth street extended, Colesville-Baltimore pike with Carroll avenue in Takoma Park. The road will be .89 miles in length.

These projects will be built with county funds and will become a part of the State highway system when completed, to be maintained by the State.

Virginia Firemen Told Of Rank Over Police

Speaking at the meeting of the Arlington-Fairfax Volunteer Firemen's Association last night, Sheriff Howard B. Fields declared the authority of the firemen when in actual service was superior to that of the police.

He stated that there is a law in Virginia that firemen have power to direct traffic when going to and returning from a fire, and when at the scene and that the chief of the company in charge had authority to see that the safety of all persons is protected.

Alexandria Kiwanians Honor Past Officers

The Alexandria Kiwanis Club yesterday observed past presidents' day, with six past presidents in attendance. They were Harry B. Caton, jr.; J. Randall Caton, jr.; Thomas Chauncey, John G. Graham, Elliott F. Hoffman and Carroll Pierce.

Mrs. Kenneth W. Ogden presented the club with a basket of flowers in remembrance of her husband, who was a past president of the club, and the flowers were subsequently placed on the grave of Mr. Ogden.

Driver of Automobile Absolved of Fatality

Edward B. McConnell, 623 Franklin street northeast, driver of the automobile in which Ned W. Foster, of 1609 Lincoln road northeast, was killed on August 26 on Queens Chapel road, was absolved of all blame for the accident by a Prince Georges coroner's jury last night.

Montgomery Road Closed.

The Montgomery County, Md., commissioners yesterday ordered the closing of the road from the Germantown-Dawsonville State road to the Unglesbee property for repairs. The road will be hard surfaced by the State Roads Commission for some distance toward the Boyds-Dawsonville road.

Cuts in Alexandria Expense Proposed

Commerce Body Appoints Committee to Confer With Officials.

The board of directors of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce has decided to recommend a program of economy to the city council with the idea in mind that the expense of retaining the many employes in the city hall might be reduced. Frank W. Noxon, president of the chamber, and Dan S. Hollenga, business manager, were appointed a committee to confer with Mayor Edmund F. Ticer with a view to going over the matter.

The Chamber of Commerce also will make formal request of the city council to prepare the annual budget as far in advance as possible, so as to give the citizens an opportunity of going over it and affording an opportunity for suggestions as to reductions in salaries and other budget expenses.

Fire Pension Given Marlboro Woman

Mrs. Cranford, Widow of Captain Killed by Truck, Receives Aid.

Members of the advisory council of the Prince Georges County Firemen's Association were told at their meeting in Bowie that Mrs. B. Wesley Cranford, of Marlboro, had received her pension as widow of a fireman killed in the line of duty. Mr. Cranford, captain of the Marlboro Company, was crushed beneath the Marlboro truck when it overturned on its way to a fire last fall.

It was also announced that George Colburn, president of the State Association, has given a cup to be presented to the fireman credited with the most heroic act each year. The cup must be won for three successive years to be held by one man.

4,000 Pupils in Alexandria.

More than 4,000 pupils reported at the Alexandria public schools yesterday for the opening and were given lists of the books required for their studies. They will report at their respective schools today and be assigned to classes, and studies will start Monday.

SERIES OF MEETINGS TO HEAR CANDIDATES

Lyon Park Association Will Sponsor Nonpartisan Political Sessions.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 569. Clarendon, Va.

A series of "good government meetings," during which all candidates for local offices will have opportunity to be heard, is planned by the Lyon Park Citizens Association, according to a statement yesterday by Arthur Orr, president of the body.

The first of the meetings, which will be at the Lyon Park Community House on Thursday evening, September 17, has been styled "County Judge Night." There are eight candidates for the office of trial justice, and all of them have received an invitation to appear on the program. They are J. Hammond Brewer, jr.; H. W. Dudley, Melvin G. Ely, W. Thomas French, Bryan Gordon, B. M. Hedrick, Hugh M. McCaffrey, and Walter U. Varney.

During subsequent weeks of the campaign, meetings will be held each Thursday night at the Community House. The second meeting, September 24, is planned as "Commonwealth's Attorney and House of Delegates Night," at which the five candidates for Commonwealth's Attorney and two for the House of Delegates will be heard.

The evening of October 1, will be "Sheriff and Commission of Revenue Night," and the four remaining Thursday evenings before election day will be divided among the approximately 50 candidates for the County Board.

"The meetings are to be strictly nonpartisan in character," the announcement says, "and in the interest of no one candidate or slate of candidates, the object being to enable the voters of Lyon Park to see and hear all the candidates, so that they may cast an intelligent vote on election day."

Two Hitch-Hikers Take Car and $40

Friendly Guides Menace Man With Knife and Ride Away.

After being relieved of $40 by two young hitch-hikers he picked up in Washington while en route from Sharon Hill, Pa., to Culpeper, Va., yesterday afternoon, James Lawrence, colored, suffered the unpleasant experience of seeing his car also go the way of the $40.

Lawrence told police, after he had trudged all the way back to Washington from Radio, Va., that he picked up the two young white men at Rhode Island avenue and M street northwest when he inquired of them the direction of Culpeper. They said they were also going to that town and would be only too glad to show him the way.

Near Radio, Va., one of the men stuck a knife against his neck and told him to stop the machine and get out. They took all his money, climbed into the automobile and disappeared down the road.

Amended Charter Upheld by Smith

Takoma Park, Md., Counsel Says Old Ordinances Are Carried Over.

J. Bond Smith, corporation counsel of Takoma Park, Md., yesterday informed The Post from New York City, where he is making a business trip, that he feels that the charter of Takoma Park, Md., as amended in 1929, provides for the continuation of the ordinances adopted prior to that time by the town council.

He said that he could not discuss the merits of the Howard Bonifant case, which was dismissed by Judge A. L. Wilson when attorneys for the defense pleaded that the town had produced no ordinance to show that it was unlawful to be disorderly and that the 1929 charter revision had voided earlier ordinances. He could state, however, that a clause in the town charter, as amended, states that all laws not inconsistent with the provisions of the charter shall remain in force until altered or repealed.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

WHILE I have not been opening your mail or anything like that, I will make so bold as to say that you haven't been hearing much about natural color photography during the past year or so. Well, you will from now on.

Color is about to experience a notable rehabilitation and lay claim to a new lease of life—something after the manner of a genuine renaissance. A perusal of the best informed and most reliable trade journals indicates that a minimum of twenty features are on the 1931-32 schedules of five producer-distributors, with six companies still undetermined on a color policy and liable to jump either way.

Forced into a year of practically utter quiescence through admitted imperfections in process and the death blow it received as an almost inseparable partner of the ill-fated musicals, color is at the present moment being developed as an invaluable adjunct to picture production along saner lines than a year ago and with a view to being "built up" over an extended period.

Warner Brothers' new contract with Technicolor, the acknowledged leader in the field, is for six features in color, work on the first, starring Winnie Lightner, to begin October 5. First National, the affiliated company, will also have color features on its schedule for the current season.

Five all-color subjects are to be made this year by RKO, including "Fanny Foley" and "Runaround," already completed; "Bird of Paradise," "Macheta," and "Babes in Toyland."

Paramount has contracted for eight, at least two to be incorporated in this year's releases.

"March of Time" and "The Merry Widow" will represent Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Universal and Fox have not committed themselves, but are reported to be leaning toward a resumption of polychrome productions. United Artists is uncertain, as may also be said Columbia, Tiffany and Educational.

The new two-color process is reputed to have been aided appreciably by Eastman's new speed film, and, according to Technicolor executives, will permit of the maintenance of a normal black-and-white studio schedule of production and release.

It is further understood that the complications arising from the Warner Brothers' virtual monopoly of all the color cameras on the West Coast when the last craze for color set in will not be repeated. When that situation was ironed out, the ensuing rush—with the producers insisting on their own determination of color schemes, costuming, sets, &c., so swamped Technicolor that the company found it impossible to keep abreast of its commitments.

So they have gone back to scratch and are starting all over again, and won't you be glad to see what some of the newcomers really look like with their hair platinumed and their make-up on and everything?

There is no motion picture theater in the National Capital that has been so determinedly and doggedly improved as the Metropolitan. It has been built at least twice since it was built, if you know what I mean. Ever since its reopening last Saturday I have been trying to get around to remark that the latest revamping has done it a world of good from the viewpoint of the casual layman who cares for an atmosphere of quiet and homelike comfort.

The most obvious improvement that has been made is the carpeting of the lobby and entrance foyer, clear down to the box office, which is virtually at the structure's building line. The fact that the carpet does not quite match the lobby wall tapestries is a matter that will be given early attention by the management—so I hear. The present effect, even so, is no less than 1,000 per cent on the side of betterment.

You might have noticed some fresh paint about the Rialto and Gayety, too, applied during the season of midsummer darkness.

Speaking of the Gayety, it has always been a source of speculation to this department what might have been the circumstances giving rise to the bizarre system of naming burlesque companies that has prevailed since a time when the memory of man runneth not to the contrary.

There has just come to my desk a bit of a blurb from the office of I. H. Herk—Izzy to you, if that's the way you feel about it—president and general manager of the Columbia Burlesque Circuit, in which the names of the companies on tour this season are set forth. They are as follows:

Bohemians, Bare Facts, Billy Watson's Big Fun show, Big Revue, Facts and Figures, Flapper Follies, Frivolities, Footlight Flashes, Giggles, Girls in Blue, Girls from the Follies, Hindu Belles, Hi, Ho, Everybody, Kuddling Kuties, Liberty Belles, London Gayety Girls, Nite Life in Paris, Novelties of 1932, Pleasure Seekers, Playin' Around, Rumba Girls, Sam Raynor and His Gang, Satan's Daughters, Step Lively Girls, Sugar Babies.

It must have been definitely determined at some time or other, I take it, that this form of nomenclature exerts some kind of superlative box-office "draw." For example, I presume that anyone arising from the dinner table with the fixed determination of attending a performance of "Satan's Daughters" has it in the back of his mind that he is in for one devil of a time!

But who—if anybody—knows how it started? Or when?

However, it may have begun, it has given something in excess of 3,000 people employment this late summer and early fall.

And the unemployment problem, by the way, is also being given another very nasty jolt this week and next. Approximately 1,000,000 idlers throughout the land are finding work as freshmen!

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

THE world series may prove something in the case against the lively ball. In the first two games of the series which are scheduled in the National League city, the deader National League ball will be used. In the three succeeding games, if all three are necessary, the American League ball will be in use in Philadelphia.

The recent Yankees-Giants game for the unemployed proved nothing. While the American League pellet was in use during the first half of the game, the contest was a pitching duel. The deader National League ball was inserted in the fifth inning and the Yankees broke out into a rash of baseHits that won the game.

But the home run records are the best commentary on the effectiveness of the raised stitches and heavier cover in the National League. For the first season since home run hitting became the rage, the American has taken the lead in round-trip clouts with yesterday's totals showing 524 and 462 for the National.

✣ ✣ ✣ ✣

The National League has succeeded in pinning back the ears of the rabbit ball so effectively that the American League has stolen the home run show again. The case against the National League's ball also is strengthened by the presence of such band-box parks as the Phillies' Baker Bowl, the Polo Grounds and Sportsman's Park in St. Louis, all conducive to synthetic home runs.

It is not too bold to forecast that the National League will revert next season to the old ball. At least a modification of the present ball may be attempted. The attendance shows that the fans like the long-distance slugging and when the National altered both the stitches and the cover, too long a step might have been taken in the other direction. The American League merely raised its stitches. The National is likely to discard its heavier cover next season in the hope of getting back into the home-run competition.

Alvin Crowder's five consecutive victories over the Athletics in a season when the A's will win the pennant by fifteen games is something of an achievement.

A pitcher on a runner-up club who is capable of beating the leaders five times in a season is a tremendous advantage if the second-place team is close enough to make a serious challenge. But with the Nats far out of it, Crowder's performance is still noteworthy.

Crowder is gaining a reputation as a good late season pitcher and an extremely poor spring twirler. This season he was a consummate flop during the spring and early summer but last year had set a precedent. He came from the Browns in the Goslin deal after losing eight straight games and then finished the season for the Nats with sixteen victories.

Connie Mack, who likes to confound the experts with his pitching strategy, is in a perfect spot to introduce something new into world series competition by employing only two pitchers throughout the series.

The series schedule gives the Mackmen a great edge. After the first two games in St. Louis, the clubs are idle two days due to traveling and the Sunday ban in Philadelphia, resuming on the fifth day of the series. Mack would be able to use Grove in the first game on Thursday, Earnshaw on Friday, Grove again on Monday and Earnshaw in the fourth game on Tuesday. If a fifth and sixth game is required he could use his iron men in turn again without disrupting the pitching schedule that has marked his campaign since the start of the season.

Then, again, nobody can figure Mack's pitching selections except Mack himself. He might find a spot for Walte Hoyt or even Jimmy Dykes on the mound in the series.

Cubs Finally Triumph, Trouncing Phils, 17-4

Chicago, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The Cubs broke a nine-game losing streak this afternoon when they slaughtered the Philadelphia Phillies by a 17-to-4 score. It was the first league victory for the Bruins this month and enabled them to gain a game on Brooklyn for third place.

The Phils, weakened by the absence of Chuck Klein, who is suffering from lumbago, were in the ball game for four innings, but in the fifth Chicago scored nine runs off Jim Elliott and Watt, and after this continued to score freely in every inning, Gabby Hartnett driving home six runs with a home run, a double, and two singles. Every Cub who was in the starting line-up got one or more hits during the melee. Malone and Hurst also hit home runs.

Pat Malone, making his first start after his recent fine by the club, was a fair pitcher, and, aided by the heavy attack of his mates, had little trouble getting his thirteenth victory of the season.

Manor Golfer 3 Strokes In Front

Peacock Second With Nolan Third for First 36 Holes.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

HARRY G. PITT, of the Manor Club, had a three-stroke lead yesterday afternoon at the conclusion of the first 36 holes, medal play, one-half of the contest which will decide the new golf champion of the District, played on the Burning Tree course. His card was 74—77—151, while his nearest competitor was Roger Peacock, the District junior champion and a number of the Argyle Club, whose score was 75—79—154. M. Parker Nolan, of the Congressional Club, stood third with 79—76—155.

All day long Old Man Par laughed at the futile efforts of the 50 contestants to make a dent in his figures. At the conclusion of the morning round of eighteen holes there were only seven players who had scored under 80 and the majority of the scores were only slightly under 90. This was not due to the condition of the greens which, with the exception of the third, presented fine putting surfaces, nor to the fairways, for the latter afforded good lines everywhere. The course, however, is 6,610 yards the tournament tees and its length, from the tournament tees and its length, as well as the fact that there was little roll to the ball, gave the golfers a real battle from the time they drove from the first tee until they holed out on the last green.

Pitt Holds Lead at Halfway Mark.

When the players went to lunch the best score had been turned in by Pitt, 38—36—74, with Peacock one stroke behind, 37—38—75. Byrn Curtiss, Indian Spring, and Miller B. Stevinson, Columbia, were three strokes in the rear with 78s, and while Curtiss kept up his good work by scoring another 78 in the afternoon, Stevinson battled with the woods on the fourth hole, finally holing in 8 and later withdrew from the competition.

John C. Shorey, Bannockburn, who qualified for eligibility to play in the national amateur championship, could not do better than 80, having no less than four 6s on his card, while Thomas P. Bones, jr., Columbia, who also qualified for the national amateur, completed his round with a total of 84 strokes and failed to turn in his afternoon score.

Pitts' fine 74, 2 strokes over par, in the morning was followed by an almost equally creditable 77 in the afternoon, so that he was never dislodged from the lead throughout the day.

Berg Defeated On Points by Canzoneri

Englishman Floored Twice But Makes Game Battle.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Special to The Washington Post.

POLO GROUNDS, New York, Sept. 10.—Tony Canzoneri, the lightweight champion, whose knob of a nose, curly black hair and ear-to-ear mouth give him an appearance of Babe Ruth at the age of 10, this evening dealt a pretty good all-around beating to Jack Kid Berg, the emaciated English welterweight, who insists on fighting about 4 pounds below his safe minimum weight for a title he couldn't defend if he were to win it.

Canzoneri won the decision at the end of fifteen rounds in the course of which he dropped his man twice for counts of eight once with a small left hook to the chin, the other time with a low foul. Under the current rules of the New York prize fight commission legalizing the foul, Canzoneri was declared to have lost that round only, the eighth. Berg seemed to suffer great inconvenience for a half minute, but it was not long until he was flapping his arms again in his usual energetic but harmless style.

Berg's Punches No Menace.

As a puncher Berg is about as dangerous as a man calling another man names on a telephone, and Canzoneri, meeting him now for the third time, realized that his only risk was fatigue. So the champion stalled and idled for a spell every now and again, sometimes bobbing and swaying his head and body mockingly, while Berg, his left eye wounded and his lips parted over a huge mouthful of white dental rubber, labored over

Reds Rout Robins, 5-1, To Break Up Duel

Cincinnati, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—After seven innings of a close duel between Red Lucas and Dazzy Vance that gave Cincinnati a 2-1 lead, the Reds broke loose against Jack Quinn in the eighth and trounced the Brooklyn Robins, 5 to 1.

In the second inning, Vince Barton scored the first Chicago run when he raced all the way home from second on Dan Taylor's long fly to Brickell in center field.

Vance gave only five hits before he was removed for a pinch hitter in the seventh, but three of them were combined with an error in the fifth for two runs. Quinn yielded four blows and retired one man on a sacrifice in the eighth, then stepped down for Hollis Thurston, who was touched for the last Cincinnati run. Red Lucas gave eleven hits, but the only Robin counter was scored on two singles and one of the Reds' five double plays.

Two Rookies Purchased By Nats

Infielder and Pitcher Come Here From Chattanooga.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

ANNOUNCEMENT of the purchase of two rookies from Chattanooga was made by President Clark Griffith of the Nationals, last night. One is a 17-year-old prodigy answering to the name of Travis. He is an infielder with little experience, but plenty of ability, while the other is a right-handed pitcher named Frederich.

Travis, more than 6 feet tall, was picked up on the sandlots near Chattanooga last spring and drew pay from the Lookouts while keeping in shape playing semipro ball. He was recently recalled and has been putting up a smashing game at third for the Engels. Fredericks performed with Terre Haute, of the Three-Eye League, having a record of three wins and no losses, before being bought by Chattanooga. He has looked quite impressive there recently, but has not participated in enough games to give him much of a record.

The Nats and Indians draw a rest day on the schedule this afternoon, with the series being completed with single games tomorrow and Sunday. Fred Marberry and Wesley Ferrell are expected to clash in a mound duel tomorrow.

Pitcher Walter Masters, sent to the Lookouts on option, was recalled and rejoined the Nationals yesterday. Catcher Gordon Phelps, optioned to Youngstown, has been told to report here at the close of the Middle Atlantic League season this week, while Infielder Bill Andrus, recently purchased from Chattanooga, has been told to report to Skipper Johnson Monday or Tuesday.

The Nats' twin murder in the third was beautiful to behold. After Montague had opened with a double and advanced on an out, Hale rolled sharply to Myer, who trapped the runner trying to score. Spencer's peg to Bluege enabled the third sacker to touch Montague almost as he caught the ball, and he then wheeled and nipped Hale trying to advance on the expected long run-down.

Schaaf Stops Roberti; 8th Knockout in Row

Boston, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Ernie Schaaf, slugging Boston heavyweight, registered his eighth consecutive knockout here tonight by flattening ponderous Roberto Roberti, New York Italian, in the third round of the Argonne A. A. feature contest, scheduled for ten rounds. Schaaf weighed 207 and gave away seventeen pounds to the latest victim of his savage head hooks.

Ernie gave Roberti such a terrific battering during the first two rounds that he was barely able to crawl out of his corner when the third opened. Schaaf pounded over a pair of heavy hooks that dropped the Italian for an eight count early in the first round. Then he coolly watched his opponent pull himself upright. As soon as he gained his feet, Schaaf gave another furious rush, battered Roberti's face with both hands and in less than ten seconds had him helpless on the canvas. The Italian stayed down for the full count.

Nats, Outhit, Score Over Tribe, 5-3

Four Double Killings Aid Nats to Check Indians' Attack.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

SUPER-FIELDING by the Nationals yesterday enabled them to snap the Cleveland Indians' winning streak at seven in a row when the Tribe was beaten, 5 to 3, in the first game of the final 1931 Western invasion of the Capital. The New York Yankees idled, hence a half-game Washington gain in the second-place fight, which puts the Johnsons two up on their Yankee rivals.

The Indians out-hit the Nationals, 13 to 10, and had Lloyd Brown, Nat starting moundman, hanging on the ropes throughout, although they were unable to put over the knockout pinch until the ninth. One would have had to have seen the game to appreciate the manner in which his mates backed up the Washington southpaw.

In five of the nine frames, the Indans inserted at least two safeties and only in the second was Brown able to set them down in one-two-three order. Four native double plays were turned in, three coming at most opportune times, while in addition to these Joe Kuhel contributed one brilliant play, Ossie Bluege several, and some of the other Nats made better than ordinary stops or catches in the clinches.

Cronin's Error Starts Trouble.

One error was charged, however, and it almost upset the Washington applecart. It came in the ninth when, with one dead, Joe Cronin fumbled Sewell's roller. But for this, Brown would have finished his game and the round would have netted the allies nothing. It, however, seemed to be a signal for the Indians to go on the warpath and they did so with a will, pounding home two unearned runs and having the tying markers on the runways when Irving Hadley rushed to Brown's relief and ended the game by striking out Earl Averill, the Tribe's home-run king.

After Cronin's miscue gave Sewell life, Montague coaxed a pass and Pilot Roger Peckinpaugh sent Wes Ferrell to pinch-hit for Pitcher "Sarge" George Connally, who had relieved the starter, Mel Harder, in the seventh. Ferrell meant well by his mates, for he crashed one to the base of the stands in deep center. It would have been a homer in most of the other parks in the circuit, but it was only a beautiful out when Rice camped under it. This made the second out and Brown began breathing easier.

First Hale and then Porter singled, however, each of these blows propelling a mate over the plate, and Brown was waved out of the box by Skipper Walter Johnson, who called in Hadley, who had been toiling off and on in the bullpen most of the game. He found Averill facing him.

Averill Strikes Out In Pinch.

A double would have knotted the string and a homer—and Earl has poled out 29 of them this season—would have given the Tribe a one-run lead. It was a great spot for Averill to do his stuff, but he missed the first strike, took a second one, watched a wide one pass him and then ended the game by swinging, and missing by a big margin, at a fast ball which almost scorched his chest.

After pulling him out of holes with twin murders in three of the first four rounds, Brown's mates could not help him in the fifth, which saw the Tribe score the first run of the game. It was molded from singles by Hodapp and Sewell, a sacrifice and Hale's scratch topped one-baser to Cronin, this latter blow coming after two were out. Two Tribe hits were wasted in the sixth, another was not used in the seventh and a double play kept a walk from hurting in the eighth before Brown finally heard the shower call.

Meanwhile, Harder had held the Nats to two scattered hits in the first four rounds. They came back in their fifth to overcome the alien lead and go one up themselves. An error by Morgan gave them their start. It put Spencer on first with one dead and Brown's lusty triple almost to the

Wilson Claims He Is 'Goat'; Denies Drunkenness Charge

By GEORGE KIRKSEY.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10 (U.P.).—Hack Wilson, shorn of his batting laurels and burdened with troubles, will leave tomorrow for his home at Martinsburg, W. Va., to hunt and fish and await news of his transfer from the Chicago Cubs to some other baseball club—major or minor.

Still insisting that the higher-ups on the Cubs made him the "goat" of the unfortunate affair at Cincinnati last Saturday night when Pat Malone, Chicago pitcher, slugged two newspapermen, Wilson, however, refuses to blame any one but himself for his prodigious batting slump.

"I'm a hell of a long way from through," said Wilson, "and I still have four or five more years of major league baseball in me. I'll prove it, too, regardless of where the Cubs send me."

"Did you break the training rules as much as Hornsby said you did?" Wilson was asked.

"Yes, I broke the training rules, but not any more than last year. The difference was I was batting .356 last year and hitting plenty of home runs. This year I was batting below .300 and couldn't get going.

"They say I started breaking training rules as far back as spring training. Well, Hornsby told us we could take a drink as long as we were in bed by midnight and I didn't violate the rule any more than some of the other players did.

"When they found out I had broken training this year Hornsby would tell me to report to the office and President Veeck would fine me. Last year, if I stayed out late, Joe McCarthy would call me off and tell me to lay off that stuff and I obeyed him.

"When they suspended me Veeck said the charge was 'being drunk.' Well, I wasn't any more drunk than I am right now and you can see for yourself that I'm not intoxicated. It looks to me like they wanted to get rid of me and they pinned the first thing that came along on me."

"All I have to say about the management of the Cubs is that I think

JOHNNY DOEG.

Doeg Regains Form to Beat Shields in Four Sets.

To Meet Lott Today; Latter Rallies to Beat Van Ryn.

WEST SIDE TENNIS CLUB, Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—John Hope Doeg, the champion, proved to the satisfaction of some 8,000 spectators today that talk about his abdicating the tennis throne was a little premature. He polished off Francis X. Shields, the country's ranking No. 2 star, in four sets just as in the finals of the 1930 tournament. The score today was 6—2, 11—9, 4—6, 8—6.

Shields put up a mighty struggle, but in the end fell victim to the champion's blazing service. Only four times in the match could he break Johnny's service, and he was aced fourteen times. Behind this bulwark, Doeg had only to bide his time until Shields wobbled on his own service and then crash through to victory.

Doeg Reaches Semifinals.

Today's triumph put Doeg into the semifinals of the Golden Jubilee Tournament along with a trio who covet his crown, Ellsworth Vines, of Pasadena, Calif.; George Lott, jr., of Philadelphia, and Frederick J. Perry, England's lone surviving hope. Tomorrow he faces Lott, who has been playing brilliant tennis all week, while Vines and Perry will fight it out in the upper bracket.

Lott alone was extended to five sets in his quarter-final bout today. He made a valiant comeback after losing two sets to eliminate his fellow townsman and Davis Cup doubles mate, John Van Ryn, 5—7, 1—6, 6—0, 7—5, 6—1. It was a match replete with prolonged rallies and sensational returns. Van Ryn played unbeatable tennis in the opening sets and looked like a certain winner, but he let up perceptibly in the third, losing it and never again hit the same stride.

Perry, playing the only match of the day on an outside court, overwhelmed Frank Bowden, of New York, 6—2, 6—3, 6—4.

Vines Eliminates Bell.

Vines took care of the tournament's other "dark horse," Berkeley Bell, of Texas, 6—1, 6—1, 8—6. Bell did all his justly famed acrobatics and made many noble returns, but the lank Californian was his master.

Doeg, who has been none too impressive in previous tournaments this season, losing twice to Vines, among others, apparently can play just as well as he wants to. After doing indifferently in his opening matches this week, he has become a holy terror the past two days in disposing of Bryant Grant, jr., and Shields.

While his burning service was his principal weapon today, he also was steady with his chop strokes that skimmed the net, and when the going got tough he was a hard man to take a point away from. He reached his peak in the final set, when he served four aces and made eighteen placements against the tiring Shields. He had match point four straight times before he finally drew Shields to the net and slapped one past him to settle the issue.

Giants Halt Pirates' Streak, Winning, 6-1

Pittsburgh, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The New York Giants halted the Pirates' winning streak after eight straight victories today when they pummeled Remy Kremer for five hits in the first inning and took the series opener 6 to 1.

Freddy Lindstrom made his first appearance in the field for the Giants since he suffered a broken foot July 9. He played five innings at second base.

64 TO START PLAY IN WARDMAN NET EVENT TOMORROW

Jacobs Heads Star Field in Tourney

Best of Washington's Players Entered in Singles.

Mitchell - Yeomans Tilt Looms; Draw Pairings Today.

HEADED by Eddie Jacobs, No. 1 ranking player in the Middle Atlantic section, and bristling with the names of local and nearby tennis stars, the Wardman Park Hotel invitation tennis tournament, the last major net rally on the season's schedule, will start tomorrow afternoon with a select field of 64 seeking possession of the Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson Trophy.

The pairings of the players will be made tonight by a committee of the Washington Tennis Association, and play will start at 2 o'clock tomorrow on the hotel's courts.

Jacobs Near Victory Over Doeg.

Jacobs, who had Johnnie Doeg licked last Tuesday at Forest Hills, but permitted an inadvertent line decision to throw him off balance in the fifth and deciding set, will not appear until Sunday afternoon. He heads an out-of-town delegation, made up of Billy Jacobs, former national boys' champion; Elmer Rudy, who beat Dooly Mitchell in the intercity matches two weeks ago; Frank Roberts, Baltimore, and Fred Roll, Philadelphia.

The outstanding feature of the tournament will be the possible clash between Eddie Yoemans, District champion, and Dooly Mitchell, City of Washington champion, the winner of which match will clinch the No. 1 ranking for the District this year. The two local youths, who stand head and shoulders above all competition in town, have not met this season.

Shortage of Courts Limits Field.

In choosing the players an effort was made to include all ranked netmen of the 1930 season, plus the major players on league teams and the newcomers. Shortage of courts at Wardman prohibited an open event, which would have drawn, it was felt, more than 100 players.

The invited players follow:

Eddie Jacobs, Billy Jacobs, Elmer Rudy, Frank Roberts, Walter Beuchelt, Fred Roll, Dooly Mitchell, Eddie Yeomans, Bud Markey, Frank Shore, Maurice O'Neill, Harney Welsh, Alan Staubly, Bill Seidel, Anthony Latona, Pat Deck, Muscoe Garnett, Gene Hermann, Bill Buchanan, Stanley Haney, Hugh Trigg, Harry Goldsmith, Jay Ruttenberg, Frederico Sendel, Jimmy Heiskell, Clyde Yeomans, Maurice Coubeau, Fellowes, Gilbert Hunt, Mason, R. R. Jones, Larry Phillips, Johnny Neale, Harry Bill, Fred Doyle, Bob Doyle, Happy Jacob, M. G. Martinez, Knowles Blanchard.

—Lincoln Fields Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

LINCOLN FIELDS RACE TRACK, Chicago, Ill., Sept. 10.—Two six furlong sprints, one for juveniles and the other for the older horses, which will be decided under allowance conditions, will headline the card at Lincoln Fields tomorrow. The Wacker Drive, fifth on the card has attracted eleven seasoned campaigners to match strides for the $1,500 purse. The juvenile feature, third event, received a list of twelve entrants to contest the $1,300 prize.

In the richer purse F. A. Carreaud's consistent sprinter, DOUBLE-HEART winner of his last start at this distance, is admirably placed, and nicely weighted with 110 pounds, is favored to annex the honors. The Greentree stable's JUSTIANIAN, picking up three pounds off his last victory, appears to be the contender. PANSY WALKER has several clever performances to her credit and should gain the show.

Of the twelve two-year-olds named to start in the supporting feature, DYAK, a highly regarded juvenile, has shown the most speed of this group and on his recent splendid races will be hard to beat. CHATTER QUEEN, from the Northway Stable, scored impressively to graduate last outing, and should account for the place, with MARMION, which raced with the leading juveniles, favored for the short end of the purse.

FIRST RACE—A band of juvenile fillies will be dispatched over the six-furlong distance in the opener. EVER FAITHFUL, from Mrs. Cafraud's string, has been freshened up since her last winning effort and appears best of this cheap lot. MAYETTA, which finished second to the top one, figures to repeat. RAPID BIRDIE displayed speed last start and is given the show call.

SECOND RACE—BARON KING should hold his opponents safe in the second event which will be decided over the six-furlong distance. The J. A. Pink color bearer finished second last start and figures to improve. MISS ROSEDALE and RAHWAY, two speedy sprinters, should account for the remainder of the purse.

FOURTH RACE—Another large field of platers will face the barrier in the mile of the fourth. BILL LOONEY, which finished second to Lieut. Russell last start and previously scored over a similar field, is favored to gain the award. SAN PRESTO showed plenty of speed last outing and will prove a dangerous contender, with PLAY BIRDIE as the show selection.

SIXTH RACE—In the sixth at a mile and an eighth, thirteen 4-year-olds and upward, will battle it out. GO TO IT from the Mose Goldblatt string will have SEARINGTON to beat for the honors. The latter will favor the route and should furnish stern opposition. TISHYBO did not run his race last start and is capable of a better showing.

SEVENTH RACE—An even dozen oldsters will contest the purse in the final event at a mile and an eighth. SHOW DOWN has the most consistent form of this contingent and is given the call. GORMOND will appreciate the route and should force the pace with GOLD MINT, from the Mrs. R. Pollard string, favored to gain the short end of the purse.

Notre Dame Will Play Reserves to Aid Fund

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The opening gun of the national drive for the Knute Rockne memorial fund will be fired here September 26 when the Notre Dame Varsity meets the reserves in a full regulation football game at the Notre Dame Stadium. A moderate admission price will be charged and the gross receipts turned over to the fund.

A new field house will be constructed with the funds.

LINCOLN FIELDS, ILL., CHART, SEPT. 10, 1931

FIRST RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. The Ridgeland Purse. For 2-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:16. Off at 2:18. Winner, A. A. Baroni's ch. c. (2), by Lee O. Cotner—Joyance. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $830; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23, 0:47 1-5, 1:13.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—LEJOY, $20.40, $8.82, $5.80; FRENCH HONEY, $5.10, $4.22; IKARD, $11.78.

LEJOY, a forward factor from the start, but forced to lose some ground, responded gamely to vigorous urging after reaching the stretch and got up in final strides. FRENCH HONEY had good speed, raced well in hand first half mile and held on well, but was not good enough. IKARD, hustled along from the start, went determinedly in the final drive. RED DIAMOND dropped out of it as far turn and closed some ground inside in stretch. DURANGO broke slowly and closed going well. CURMUDGEON dropped back at the turn and was in close quarters in stretch. ANITA ORMONT lost much grounw.

SECOND RACE—Seven furlongs (out of chute). Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:46. Off at 2:53. Winner, Mrs. H. Two-dollar mutuels paid—OUTORY, $35.82, $15.50, $8.52; ST. AGNES, $46.36, $33.66; LILLIAN TOBIN, $17.42.

OUTORY began slowly and remained a good distance back the first half mile, moved up rapidly thereafter and, heading the leaders, came away fast. ST. AGNES had speed, saved ground and held on well under strong hand riding. LILLIAN TOBIN, taken to the front, was rated under slight restraint to stretch, where she held on well to final stages. RIVER FOREST raced wide, carried on repeatedly and appeared too much for his rider. MARY'S TOY began slowly, DURVA was in close quarters much of the race, particularly so in stretch run and had little chance. WOLPY quit. ST. JIM was always far out of it. EL RELICARIO had early speed.

THIRD RACE—Seven furlongs (out of chute). Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:27. Off at 3:27. Winner, B. Pendody's h. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—MARTIE FLYNN, $4.60, $5.04, $3.34; BAG SMASHER, $8.16, $4.16; COPPERFIELD, $2.88.

MARTIE FLYNN, well up from the start, came to outside in stretch and, responding gamely, easily wore down the leaders, then continued well to stall off BAG SMASHER. Latter improved his position half way to outside after reaching the stretch and, standing the drive gamely, was wearing down the winner. COPPERFIELD, much used racing HIGH COLOR into submission, weakened in final drive, but outlasted GRAND PRINCE. Latter raced forwardly and had no mishaps. BEAR CRY closed gamely. ESSIE was weakly ridden. HIGH COLOR quit badly after showing speed in stretch.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:55. Off at 3:58½. Winner, Knebelkamp and Morris' ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—DICK MORRIS, $4.98, $3.50, $2.98; DON ALVARO, $4.98, $4.02; GETTIN EVEN, $9.38.

DICK MORRIS, fractious at the post and away in a tangle, quickly worked his way clear, was taken under restraint after a vain attempt to get to the leader, responded well when urged hard and was up in final strides. DON ALVARO, away fast, had good speed, saved ground in final eighth. GETTIN EVEN, a forward factor throughout, held on resolutely. SWEEP PAST, well up, lost considerable ground. TANTALIZING met interference. BEAUTIFUL DOLL lacked speed under strong urging. MONKEY SHINE raced wide. GAY DONN had early speed.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300; allowances. The Buena Vista Circle. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:26. Off at 4:27½. Winner, Mrs. F. A. Carreaud's b. m. (5), by The Porter—Harlem Lass. Trained by J. Howard. Value to winner, $950; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23, 0:47 1-5, 1:12 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—PORT HARLEM, $3.54, $2.58, $2.46; MUCKER, $3.96, $3.76; LISTO, $4.04.

PORT HARLEM, going in her best, was quick to get going, drew clear in opening three-sixteenths, saved ground after reaching the turn and, holding on resolutely, withstood MUCKER. Latter improved, moved up with a rush after a quarter, stood the drive courageously and was getting to the winner. LISTO, taken back repeatedly, closed with a rush while racing wide. QUATRE BRAS II made up some ground in closing quarter. ENERGY raced well. WEIDELEEN had no mishaps. LAMP BLACK quit. VERY WELL stopped badly after showing good speed to last three-sixteenths.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-quarter miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:58. Off at 4:58½. Winner, A. A. Baroni's ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—WIRT G. BOWMAN, $5.10, $3.10, $2.46; LADY BIENVILLE, $4.08, $2.86; ORMONTIME, $4.18.

WIRT G. BOWMAN, greatly benefited by tactics of his rider and under steadying restraint opening three-quarters, responded gamely when called upon, impeded TIMOUR after heading him and forcing ORMONTIME into close quarters, outstayed him. LADY BIENVILLE, placed in close quarters by winner at first turn, came to outside in stretch and closed strongest of all. ORMONTIME had speed, was crowded back by winner at far turn and, racing on inside in stretch, held on well despite lack of room near end. TIMOUR was used up making the pace and was tiring when impeded in final eighth. EARL OF WARWICK unseated his rider when he stumbled shortly after a half mile.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:26½. Off at 5:30. Winner, Audley Farm's ch. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—ANNIE REE, $43.86, $12.54, $6.80; REVERBERATE, $4.50, $3.20; MICHIGAN GIRL, $4.40.

ANNIE REE, away well and taken across sharply in the run to the first turn, easily raced around the leaders after five-eighths and, maintaining good speed to the end, won in hand. REVERBERATE, forced to lose some ground, responded well when called upon, but could not get to the winner. MICHIGAN GIRL began slowly, met interference and closed going strong. OUTBURST had belated speed. FLYING CHEROKEE was in close quarters at far turn and went well when clear in stretch. DRASTIC DELIGHT was urged hard throughout. KERRY GREEN quit. SUN MASK had early speed. CHICAGO GIRL breezed off five-sixteenths before the start.

ELDBROOKE TIES COMMERCE, 4 TO 4, WITH RALLY IN NINTH

Taylor Unable To Hold Lead Of 3 Runs

Constructioneers and G. P. O. Meet Today in Play-Off Series.

STANDING OF THE TEAMS.

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON.

BOB FREEMAN'S single in the ninth inning which scored Thompson and Hunt, enabled the Eldbrooke M. E. nine to stave off defeat in its game with Commerce and gain a 4-4 tie with the latter after nine innings of torrid play on the Ellipse yesterday. The game is the first tie result recorded in the week-day championship series this year.

For eight innings it looked like Commerce would emerge from the fray with its third victory tucked under its belt. "Shout" Taylor, Commerce twirler, held the Churchmen to five blows until the ninth when four successive hits rattled off the bats of the Eldbrooke sluggers. Going into the ninth on the short end of a 4-1 score, Scheele, the first batter to face Taylor, drove a long single to centerfield. Thompson and Hunt followed with hits, the latter's blow scoring Scheele, but it remained for Bob Freeman, elongated twirler, to deliver the final punch. Freeman selected one of "Shout's" tossers and socked it down the third base line to knot the count. Taylor finally managed to retire the side, fanning the last man to face him.

Freeman Does Well On Mound.

To Freeman goes the lion's share of the glory for salvaging the game. The erstwhile first baseman set Commerce down with eight well scattered hits. Schneider's two errors in the fifth round probably cost Eldbrooke the victory.

With Commerce leading by two runs, Povich opened the fifth with a hit to center field. Shapiro was safe on Schneider's error. Povich taking third. Wells' infield out scored the first runner and Schneider's wild toss on Gorman's roller permitting Shapiro to score. The opportunity to make heroes of themselves was presented both Povich and Shapiro in the ninth after Eldbrooke had overtaken its rival, but neither player could connect for the hit that would have scored Hessler with the winning run.

A good game is on the schedule for today, Constructioneers opposing G. P. O. at 4:15 on the South Ellipse. The Industrial League champs will be striving to regain the ground it lost last week, while the Printers will share the top rung of the ladder with Commerce if it wins.

Diamond Dust

JAKIE LEWIS played through the ninth inning of the game between Commerce and Eldbrooke M. E. yesterday with the index finger of his right hand broken. A foul tip was responsible for the injury, but it did not deter Jakie from finishing out the fray.

The Skinker Eagles and St. Mary's Celtics will clash Sunday at 3 p. m. in Baggett's Stadium. Wolf, Davidson, Euscher, Wilson and Berger, all Maryland University stars, will perform for the Eagles.

The Foxall A. C. will meet the Phoenix nine Sunday at 3 p. m. on the latter's diamond. Phoenix will be gunning for its eighteenth consecutive victory. The team has not been defeated this season.

The Chevy Chase Grays will meet the Skinker Eagles Saturday and the Auth's unlimiteds Sunday. Both games will be played at 3 p. m. on the Chevy Chase playground diamond.

The Gaithersburg A. C. is forced to cancel its game with the Washington A. C., which was to have been played tomorrow. H. R. Keefer requests Bob Moore, of the Washington nine, to communicate with him at Gaithersburg 201-J between 6 and 7 p. m. Sunday the Marylanders engage Congress Heights in a double-header.

The Mount Pleasant Seniors want a game for Sunday. The Nation-Wide Grocers are especially challenged. Call Manager Clow at Adams 9313.

The Washington A. C. will drill today on the Fairlawn Diamond at 5 p. m. in preparation for Sunday's game at Sykesville, Md.

The Northern A. C., which will seek a berth in the semipro league to be formed this season, will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock at 755 Newton street northwest.

The Woodmen of the World will cross bats with the Rover A. C. Sunday at 1 p. m. on the South Ellipse.

"Wee Willie" Glascoe's Griffith-Blue Coals will play the Cherrydale A. C. Sunday at 1 p. m. on the Phoenix diamond. The Griffs plan to use this diamond for the remainder of the season. A movement is on foot to have a wire fence erected around the field and work on the grounds for next season.

Hallahan Wins No. 16; Cards Beat Braves, 7-3

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Hurling shutout ball for eight innings, although weakening temporarily in the ninth, Bill Hallahan scored his sixteenth victory of the season for the Cardinals here today as the National League champions turned back the Boston Braves, 7 to 3, in the first of a three-game series.

C. U. TO PLAY BALTIMORE LOYOLA

'Homecoming' Game to Be Played on Thanksgiving.

LOYOLA, of Baltimore, will occupy the homecoming day spot on Catholic University's 1931 football schedule. This announcement, forthcoming yesterday, automatically rounded out Catholic's nine-game booking for the impending season.

Expected to supplant the now defunct George Washington contest in interest, this game involves rivals of long standing and is to be presented in the Brookland Bowl Thanksgiving Day afternoon.

Washingtonians will have have ample opportunity to size up Bergman's 1931 team, since six of the nine games are scheduled locally.

With the Boston College inaugural a little more than two weeks distant, Coach Bergman is daily increasing the length and intensity of his squad's workouts, and, despite yesterday's unusual heat, the athletes were sent through their customary morning and afternoon drills.

While light scrimmaging and line plunging were in order during the afternoon, most interest was centered around forward passing. The aerials were heaved accurately and for distance by both Johnny Oliver and Tom Whelan.

3 All-High Gridmen Report at Maryland

Three members of The Washington Post's All-High Football Team put in their first appearance at Maryland University yesterday, when Dick Nelson, quarter back; Luther Goldman, guard, and Sid Kolker, tackle, all of Tech High, reported ready for work with the Old Line Freshman team.

Nelson and Goldman appeared in good shape, but Kolker appeared aided by a cane, the result of a twisted ankle received playing basket ball during the summer. He is expected to be in shape before the season starts.

Jones-Ouimet to Pair Against Burke-Von Elm

New York, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Bobby Jones and Francis Ouimet, 1930 and 1931 national amateur golf champions, will meet Billy Burke, 1931 open king and George Von Elm, business man golfer, in a four ball match for charity at the Essex Country Club, West Orange, N. J., September 23.

Jones thus will be playing with two of the men who succeded to half of the four major golf crowns he wore when he retired from amateur competition.

Bobby's first joust with one of his successors will come Sunday, September 20, when he meets Burke at Grenwich, Conn.

Foxx, on Crutches, Out of Game a Week

Philadelphia, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The latest addition to the Philadelphia Athletics' hospital list is Jimmy Foxx. He will be out of action for at least a week with a sprained ankle, Connie Mack announced today.

Foxx was injured in the eighth inning of yesterday's game with Washington when he became tangled up with Heinie Manush at first base. He was able to finish the game, but today he appeared at Shibe Park on crutches.

The Colesville Cards will entertain Kensington Sunday at 3 p. m. on Boniface Field.

Ciro's Italian Villagers will meet the Holy Rosary team Sunday at 3 p. m. on the East Ellipse.

3,000 SEATS AVAILABLE AT FORT

Barry Working Hard for Monday's Bout With Weiss.

REDS BARRY, Washington's leading contender for heavyweight fame, who clashes again with Sam Weiss, of Philadelphia, next Monday night in the main event on Fort Washington's boxing bill, was sent on the road yesterday by his manager, Patsy Donovan, in order that he may be in his best possible condition for his tangle with the Quaker. Their last meeting resulted in a draw.

Anticipating a capacity crowd Fort officials yesterday authorized the building of additional seats, which will bring the seating capacity up to the near-3,000 mark.

The remainder of the card is unchanged. Soldier Shasberger and Young Lazarus, featherweights, open the show, followed by Warren Van's bout with Phil Devine, middleweights; and the other four-round tussles bringing together Willy Essinger and Nevin Barber, Joe Piscatelli and Casper Leon, all welterweights; Frank Vance and W. L. Tucker, heavies, and Henry Irving and Gus Edwards, heavy-semifinalists.

Macks Beat Browns, 6-3; Earnshaw in Form

Philadelphia, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—George Earnshaw, right-handed ace of the Philadelphia Athletics, turned in his nineteenth victory of the season against the St. Louis Browns today, the champions winning 6 to 3.

Leon "Goose" Goslin drove in all three of the losers' runs when he hit a home run in the sixth inning with two on base. The Athletics clinched the game in the first inning when they whaled Hebert for six hits and four runs, knocking him out of the box. Bob Cooney pitched the balance of the game and gave a good account of himself.

SCRIMMAGE STARTED AT MARYLAND

Byrd Watches Three Squads in Hardest Workout.

WITH quivering heat exuding from a baked field in shimmering waves, and the thoughts of Joseph J. Average Citizen turning idly to lolling hammocks and tall frosted drinks, Maryland University's football squad, fully equipped and 42 strong, tore about College Park's singed turf yesterday in its first scrimmage.

Under the accomplished eye of Coach Curly Byrd three full squads were sent through nearly the whole assortment of Byrd plays, with the old spinner attack offtackle holding the center of the program.

Sixteen new faces perspired freely in the assembly of 42 huskies, 16 boys who have come up from the freshmen world with a reputation and a willingness to uphold it.

Basically the squad is the same as in 1930, plus a bit of added weight and minus one more beat of inexperience. Only two more names will be added to the covey, that of Ray Koelle, guard, and Ralph Sterling, end. Koelle is still A. W. O. L., but high hopes persist that he will return to the place in the line which he won for himself last season. Sterling is in camp with the R. O. T. C.

Scrimmaging will go forward today, let up Saturday, stop completely Sunday, and then pick up strongly again Monday. On Tuesday morning the Quantico Marines Leathernecks will land at the campus wharf and by 10 o'clock hope to have everything under control, in their annual scrimmaging with the ambitious Terrapins.

Mills Alarmed as Hilltop Practice Takes Heavy Toll

By JACK ESPEY
(Post Staff Correspondent).

REHOBOTH, Del., Sept. 10.—Next to day and night the most important item in this quiet ocean resorts concerns the Georgetown football squad now nearing the end of its second week in preseason training. Daily one can see an extremely tired bunch of young men return from the practice field and day by day there are more who seem to walk like men of 70.

The explanation is that the 1931 Georgetown pigskin manipulators are an extremely earnest lot. They take to their training with uncommon vigor and enthusiasm and as this work is hard, by Coach Tommy Mills' own admission, the boys appear the worse for wear.

Two more players were excused from practice today on account of illness, bringing the list of suffering up to eleven for the current week. George Dyer, tackle, and Mack Stanley, halfback, remained in their rooms with colds while the able-bodied remainder of the squad of 50 put in two hard sessions on Dick Farm.

Mills to Limit Sessions.

The situation has alarmed Coach Mills, and tonight he made further limitations on the training. As a result the Hilltoppers will engage in only one practice tomorrow and Saturday, instead of the usual two. Perhaps, too, they will be excused from scrimage, which Mills had intended to inaugurate on Saturday.

Many of the squad have lost from 5 to 10 pounds during the past two weeks, while one, Jim Patterson, a full back, has dropped exactly 20 pounds. Russ Danieu, half back, has gone down from 167 to 153, all of which naturally is worrying Mills, who had hoped to send a well-conditioned fully prepared squad back to Washington one week prior to the opening game with Lebanon Valley, scheduled September 26.

Today, for the first time, an inkling was gained of the probable line-up of the Georgetown back field. Mills has not referred to any combination as the regular four, but this was the second day that he kept the same quartet intact in dummy scrimmage and signal drill. The four in question are Mickey Lione, quarter back; Sam Gellis, left half back; Leroy Bordeau, full back, and Joe Alenty right half back.

Bordeau Is Lone 1930 Regular.

Bordeau is the only 1930 regular among the quartet. This burly full back is a great line smasher. Alenty returns from last year's reserves with promise of developing into a fine broken field runner and blocker. Lione and Gellis are both incoming sophomores, of whom little is known definitely, inasmuch as they have not tasted of big league competition. Both, however, are looked upon as real threats for varsity assignments.

Del Rosario-Zamora Winners in Doubles

The favored team of Art Tomelden and Lieut. Moran disappeared from the ranks in the semifinal round of the annual Filipino community doubles championship yesterday when Del Rosario and Zamora topped them by the score of 6—2, 6—4. The smooth teamwork of the winning club and Moran's erratic overhead smashes were the deciding features.

One of the best matches yesterday was the defeat of Erana at the hands of Rulloda, 6—4, 6—4. At the same time Mary K. Burke and Felix Silva advanced to the final round of the mixed doubles by beating Mrs. Villalon and M. Erana, 6—1, 6—2.

Play will continue today in all events, chief of which will be the singles semifinals.

Primo, Sharkey Must Post $5,000 Forfeits

New York, Sept. 10. (U.P.).—Primo Carnera, Italian, and Jack Sharkey, of Boston, each of whom had laid claim to the world's heavyweight championship, and who are to meet at Brooklyn, October 1, were today instructed by the New York State Boxing Commission to post forfeits of $5,000 each before September 20, and to begin training at a site in the metropolitan area not later than ten days before the fight date.

NORTHERN PREPS MEET.

The Northern Preps will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock at 5213 Georgia avenue northwest. All members of last year's team and any new candidates are requested to attend. Ted Otte will direct the affairs of the club pending the appointment of a coach.

DICK ALLEN TO COACH DEL RAY

Virginia Eleven Will Play in Capital City League Again.

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Sept. 10.—Dick Allen, former star back-field man with the St. Mary's Celtics, last night was chosen as football coach of the Del Ray Athletic Club for the ensuing gridiron campaign.

The meeting of the Del Ray Athletic Club was held at the home of President Richard Berryman, on De-Witt avenue, and was attended by 30 members of the organization.

Edward Von Deck, star catcher of the baseball team, was named as manager and he will immediately get in communication with Washington elevens to line up his schedule for the season.

A vote was taken and it was decided to affiliate with the Capital City Football League. The Red Birds were runners-up for honors in this competition in 1930.

The first practice will be held on Edward Duncan Field, Friday evening, at 6:30 o'clock. All candidates are requested to report.

A coach for the club will be elected. Rube Hayman and Doc Dreifus have been mentioned for the berth.

Deputy's 368 Best In Masonic League

Thirty-two teams went into action last night on the Convention Hall alleys as the 1931-32 season of the Masonic League, the largest bowling organization in the city, got under way. The night was suited for anything but bowling and the 160 odd men stuck to their task.

Domdera, of Columbia, registered high individual game with a mark of 141. High individual set was captured by Deputy, of Petworth, with 368. High team game went to Harmony. This team, composed of Kline, Ellis, Brandes, Price and Montzouris, spilled 597 pins in its three games.

The results of the team matches are as follows: Stansbury, 2; Columbia, 1; New Jerusalem, 2; King David, 1; Pentalpha, 3; Hope, 0; Anacostia, 2; Washington Centennial, 1; Gompers, 3; St. John's, 0; Dawson, 2; Singleton, 1; Hiram, 2; Petworth, 1; Harmony, 2; Potomac, 1; Harding, 3; Roosevelt, 0; Lafayette, 2; National, 1; Naval, 3; King Solomon, 0; Barristers, 3; Takoma, 0.

CANZONERI WINNER OVER BERG AGAIN

Canzeroni seemed to mislead himself in the first round when Berg went down limp and apparently with no hope of going much further from the short left to the chin. It looked as though a few really earnest slams would finish the English boy and Canzeroni had plenty of time with fifteen rounds to go and an obvious advantage in strength. But after the fourth round had passed and Berg refused to go down any more, Tony lost the pace to Berg for a couple of rounds. The White Chapel boy bored in on skinny legs leading with the clumsiest left-hand poke known to the ring, and coming to close quarters was outmauling the lightweight champion.

Makes Berg Miss.

This didn't last long, however. Tony solved the difficulty by bending too low to allow Berg's rising body punches to carry and when Berg shifted the fire to his head, the Italian kid calmly wobbled it an inch or two this way or that and made him miss, meanwhile scoring with noisy, soggy smacks himself.

Berg was forcing the fight most of the way and Canzoneri was slugging him on the head with both hands or whipping in a smacking left to the body. This left hand spanked him in the middle so often that before the fight had passed the tenth round, Berg wore an ugly raw welt across his center, one of the few men who ever got a black eye below the arch of the wishbone.

The weight was too low for Berg and he was by no means as strong as he had been in some of his catch-weight fights around 140 pounds. He went part of the distance on his nerve and courage alone this evening.

Canzoneri made 131¼ easily and Berg was a famine victim at 134½. His ribs showed beneath his hide and his face was full of sickly hollows by contrast with Canzoneri's plump outlines and his ruddy, rounded pan.

There were about 20,000 customers.

NATS DEFEAT TRIBE IN OPENER, 5 TO 3

scorecard and Myer's single gave the Nats their first two markers of the day and a lead which they never relinquished.

Cronin's single, Harris' double and a helpful out gave the Nats another in the sixth and in the eighth they scored the two tallies off Connally's slants, which proved to be decisive. After Harris had walked and Kuhel had hit into a force-play, Bluege doubled off Montague's glove, the ball taking a weird bound and caroming into short right center. This scored Kuhel and Bluege hustled to third on the throw-in to the plate, which was late. Spencer then singled and the Nats' run-coining ended for the day.

WILSON SAYS CUBS MADE HIM 'GOAT'

it will be a long time before they build up as successful a team as Joe McCarthy did," said Wilson.

Wilson revealed that he had lost about $6,000 of his $33,000 salary this year in fines.

Asked if he had any preference where he played next year, Wilson said he didn't care where they sent him.

"I can play ball any place," he said "I don't think they can waive me out of the majors, but even if they do that I'll start my comeback in the minors and be back. The Giants sent me back to the minors and I came back, and I can do it again."

Carr, Nolan Return To Gonzaga's Squad

Jack Carr and Tommy Nolan, mainstays in the 1930 Gonzaga High School grid line-up, will return to the fold today after being held on the side lines for several days because of injuries.

The Purple outfit, 40 strong, will practice at 3:30 o'clock on the old Terminal ball field.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

DARLING JUMPER DRESS.

Any little girl would adore this cute jumper model to start the fall school term.

It delights in the fact that it has such a smart tailored air, like older sister's new fall dress.

The pattern also provides for the cunning hat, which is made of the woolen fabric.

Tweed-like cottons and linen also appropriate.

Style No. 187 is designed in sizes 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. Size 8 requires 2¼ yards of 39-inch material for dress and hat, with 1⅜ yards of 35-inch material for blouse and 1¾ yards of binding.

It also cuts in sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 years, 36 and 38 inches bust.

Price of pattern, 15 cents. Address Fashion Department, The Washington Post, Fifth avenue and Twenty-ninth street, New York City.

THE GUN CREW WORKED FAST.
B-BUT-DON'T SHOOT, AXTL!-I-I THINK IT MAY BE WILMA AND-
COME ON!-WE'LL GET IN THE CAR AND SHOOT AROUND THE CYLINDER WALL TO THE OTHER SIDE-THE NET WILL BRING THEM DOWN THERE!
I HAD NO TIME TO STOP THEM.
BOOM!
HURRY! WE'LL BE TOO LATE!!
FOR DAYS WILMA AND DOCTOR HUER HAD BEEN FLYING AROUND, HOPING TO LOCATE ME-AND NOW!
HEH?-WHAT?!
LOOK OUT DOCTOR!!-LOOK WHAT'S COMING!!

STOCKS SENT LOWER AS RAILS LEAD DROP

Declines Sink Lists Nearer June's Bottom Prices; Rally Hopes Wane.

New York, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Stocks settled a little closer to the June lows today. Although net declines were mostly moderate, the market's failure to follow an early rally plainly indicated that shorts still felt reasonably secure and wanted to hold out a while longer.

The opening gave promise of a fairly respectable improvement, for a number of prominent issues made overnight gains of a point or more. However, the pace was slow and before the session was very old the market had run into the Rock Island dividend omission, an obstacle at which the rails quickly shied. New lows for eight or ten carriers demonstrated that the group had not been immunized against unfavorable news.

The action of Rock Island's directors seemed unexpected, for the stock broke 10 points, before reducing its decline to 6¾ net, Frisco, Reading, Delaware & Hudson, Baltimore & Ohio, Northern Pacific and Norfolk & Western lost 2 to 3. New York Central was steady and Atchison off only a fraction.

Industrials Join Decline.

Westinghouse, General Electric, Corn Products, Procter & Gamble, a number of other specialties and most of the utilities made unimpressive showings, down 1 to nearly 3 points. For U. S. Steel, American Can, American Telephone, National Biscuit and Bethlehem the support was firmer and their final changes were unimportant.

International Telephone was sold in anticipation of the dividend cut, announced after the close. A payment of 25 cents a share, against the previous quarterly rate of 50 cents, was ordered. It had been rumored in usually well-informed quarters until today that the regular 50-cent payment would be ordered.

The decline was leisurely, and the market paused long enough in the afternoon to allow a slight stiffening of prices, but the closing tone was heavy. A net loss of 1.1 points carried the composite for 90 shares to 100.2 compared with the June minimum of 96.9. Sales fell off to 1,540,250 shares, about half a million under yesterday's volume.

Steel Backlog Drop.

There was little consolation for a sagging market in the 235,359-ton drop in the U. S. Steel Corporation's backlog. The decrease was not much more than half the decline in the two preceding Augusts, but operations last month were down to an average of around 34 per cent of capacity; hence the decline reflected the condition of business.

Foreign affairs were headlined by Chancellor Snowden's budget and the means by which the London government proposes to balance accounts. The proposals were in line with what had been expected here and there was no evidence of any reaction locally. Sterling eased a trifle, cables losing 1/8 to $4.85 3-16. The Bank of England's weekly statement revealed a more favorable position, showing a rise in gold and the reserve ratio and a decrease in circulation.

In foreign exchanges, the German mark dipped another quarter of a cent but rallied partially. Canadian dollars dropped sharply, making a new 1931 low, which forecasts further gold shipments here.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—An early advance in cotton today was followed by rather sharp declines in the later trading.

December sold off from 7.18 to 6.88 and closed at 6.89, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 17 to 19 points.

The opening was very steady, 8 to 10 points higher, on a continuation of yesterday's buying movement, which evidently found additional encouragement in the firm showing of Liverpool. There was little Southern selling, but offerings were comparatively light and the advance soon extended to 6.96 for October and 7.48 for March, or about 11 to 12 points above yesterday's closing quotations.

The market met a little more cotton at these figures, while the demand tapered off, and after holding fairly steady at moderate reactions during the middle of the day prices weakened in the later trading. The appearance of somewhat increased selling orders here from the South and the action of the stock market were considered factors on the decline, while Washington dispatches concerning stabilization policies which appeared to revive uncertainty over the disposition of stabilization stocks, had an unsettling effect on sentiment that was regarded as contributing to the decline.

October sold off to 6.87 and March to 7.18 and closing prices were at the lowest of the day under liquidation or reselling by recent buyers combined with some local and Southern selling.

Early reports from Washington concerning the proposed establishment of credits for cotton exports seemed to make a favorable impression on the trade both here and in Liverpool. Liverpool cable advices said there had been covering, with continental and Bombay buying, in that market on the Washington news, with selling restricted to realizing. The early buying here was also accompanied by continued talk of a holding movement in the South, but the weather was considered very favorable for picking and ginning.

Exports today, 11,891 bales, making 345,817 so far this season. Port receipts, 19,514. United States port stocks, 2,768,068.

HEAVY BOND SALES CONTINUE PRICE CUT

Sixty Selected Issues Settle to New Low Record of 91.1 at Close.

New York, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The bond market declined irregularly today as the volume increased. Sales on the stock exchange aggregated $12,008,000, the largest total for a full session since July 15, when the turnover amounted to $13,288,000. The total yesterday was $9,094,000.

The average price of 60 representative issues consisting of 20 bonds each of the public utility, railroad and industrial groups made another new low record at 91.1, a loss of three-tenths of a point for the day.

Foreign loans provided many of the largest losses. German 5½s and 7s reached new low levels at 47½ and 72, respectively, and closed with respective net losses of 5 and 6½ points after partial recoveries. Nothing tangible could be ascertained to account for this weakness except the generalization that the difficulties in Germany have not all been overcome. Reichsmark exchange weakened also, although it recovered somewhat in the afternoon.

Stringent conditions in Austria and Hungary might be expected to contribute to Germany's difficulties. Bonds of both the latter countries scored sharp losses today, as did other German and Argentine obligations.

The new 3 per cent United States Treasury bonds of 1951-55 closed at 99½ bid, 99⅜ asked, in the over-the-counter market, which represents a new low level. Trading in them was moderate. The turnover in several of the older Treasury and Liberty issues was heavier and all of them reflected selling pressure.

The Treasury 3⅜s of 1940-43 closed 1 5-16 points lower at 101½. This is an unusually large loss for this group, especially as these bonds fluctuate in thirty-seconds of a point. The 3⅜s of 1941-43 dropped 1⅛ points, but the losses in other Government loans were more moderate.

Domestic corporate loans receded irregularly. Rail issues started the day firm and quiet, but they softened gradually and closed generally lower. Public utility loans were consistently heavy and more active than the rails. Industrial issues were quiet, but the downward trend appeared in them also.

MOTORISTS TO BEGIN NEW LEFT TURNINGS HERE NEXT TUESDAY

OPERATION OF CHANGE SHOWN IN PHOTOGRAPH

Regulation Is Used by Other Cities; Right-Hand Rule Still Continues.

By WILLIAM ULLMAN.

Washington's new lefthand turn, which local motorists must begin making next Tuesday, had its first dress rehearsal yesterday afternoon. It was staged primarily to give the Department of Vehicles and Traffic an opportunity to test the system so that it may instruct the public with the turn.

Just as will be the case next Tuesday, arrows were placed on the pavement to show the motor vehicle operator the path he must follow in making the new left turn. Every intersection which is controlled either by a traffic light or a policeman will be similarly marked with arrows next Monday night, in readiness for the change.

Way Turn Is Made.

The motorist to turn left takes the inside, or center, lane, which already is painted on all controlled thoroughfares. He enters the intersection on the green light. Just after passing the crosswalk, and before he reaches the center of the intersection, he swings to the left enough to bring him out just to the right of the center line on the intersecting thoroughfare.

In other words, he travels a diagonal line from the center of the street on which he is traveling to the center of the thoroughfare into which he is turning.

Motorists should not make the mistake of assuming the new turn is just like the old one. That type of turn took the driver around the center of the intersection, and he had to wait until the cross street stream began to move. Now, he will do neither.

Turns Inside Center.

Instead he turns inside the center of the intersection and without waiting for a change in the signal on the cross street.

As far as the turn itself is concerned, the motorist will have the least trouble making it, perhaps, if he remembers to travel just to the right of a theoretical diagonal drawn from the center line of one street to the center line of the one into which he is turning. Such a line will not be drawn for him, but it will be clearly indicated with arrows. All he must do, then, is follow the arrow.

To have watched yesterday's demonstration of the new turn was to be convinced that the chief factor of confusion is going to center around the question: "Who has the right of way?" The accompanying photograph provides a clear answer to this query, and the stage for it was set very precisely to serve as a guide to drivers.

Right of Way Question.

The assumption many motorists have made is that through traffic has unqualified right of way. Such is not always the case. It is assumed, officials say, that of the first two cars, the one turning and the other proceeding through the intersection, the latter will obtain the right of way by reaching the center of the intersection first.

Any through vehicle entering the intersection afterward, however, must yield the right of way to the turning car if its further forward progress constitutes a hazard.

MAJ. ROBB ANSWERS CRANE ON SCHOOLS; DENIES DELAY OF 7

Charges That They Will Not Be Able to Open on Time Partly Refuted.

CLAIMS ARE ADMITTED ONLY AS TO 2 PROJECTS

Young Platoon School and Western Athletic Field Behind Schedule.

Charges that seven school buildings will be unable to open on scheduled time because of the tardiness of contractors were denied in part yesterday by Maj. H. L. Robb, acting Engineer Commissioner, in a memorandum to Jere J. Crane, business manager of the District schools, who had made the statement to the Board of Education.

Taking up each of the schools now under construction, Maj. Robb admitted the charges only as to the Young platoon school and the Western High School athletic field and explained why these projects have been delayed. Most of the other school jobs will be either completed or will have reached a stage in which no interference with classroom work will result, he said.

Some of the delays were brought about by tardy requests of school officials, Maj. Robb declared, while others were from causes for which neither the contractors nor the municipal architect's office may be blamed.

Reports on Each School.

The status of the schools specifically mentioned by Mr. Crane in his report to the Board of Education was given yesterday by the Engineer Commissioner as follows:

Powell addition: This will be ready for occupacy when schools open.

Gordon Junior High School: Classrooms will be ready for use by end of this week.

Stuart Junior High School: Classrooms will be ready for occupancy within next few days. Contract does not call for completion of gymnasium until November 1.

Congress Heights addition: Building is ready to be occupied, but several minor items are being corrected.

Whittier addition: Also ready for use, but finishing touches being applied.

Young platoon school: Sewer system has not yet been completed because of grading adjacent to school.

Athletic Field Delayed.

Western athletic field: This will be delayed some time because of certain changes in construction, notably the substitution of a more permanent track.

Francis Scott Key addition: Every effort being made to put old portion in readiness for occupancy September 21.

Woodridge addition: No interference with present school.

The municipal architect's office has been hard at work this year trying to get the new schools ready earlier than usual, Maj. Robb said. The contract time has been cut from seven to six months.

More construction contracts were let during the past fiscal year than ever before in the history of the District engineer department. More than 45 separate building projects have been in progress at one time since July 1 last.

Policeman Hurt as Bottle Bursts.

Army Suicide Feared Insanity, Note Shows

Maj. C. W. Jenkins Took Own Life as "Best for the Family."

A note to his wife explained the reason for the suicide of Maj. Coleman W. Jenkins, 42 years old, Army War College instructor, it was revealed last night. The body of the officer, who had been missing since early Wednesday morning, was found by a group of soldiers in a ravine just off the Washington-Alexandria highway, two miles from the Highway Bridge.

Maj. Jenkins was lying on his back. His right hand, clutching a .38-caliber pistol, had fallen to his chest. There was a single bullet hole through his temple.

The note to Mrs. Jenkins was found in a pocket of Maj. Jenkins' coat. It explained, according to Maj. William M. Robertson, who led a party of soldiers in a search for the Army officer, that Maj. Jenkins felt insanity coming on and had fought vainly against it. The note told Mrs. Jenkins that Maj. Jenkins felt "this is best for you and the children."

An intensive search for the Army officer began when his automobile was discovered Wednesday morning parked about 35 feet from the spot where the body was later found. The automobile was first noted by Policeman E. G. Duncan, of the Arlington County force.

When the car was not moved during the day, Duncan had it towed to a garage Wednesday night and notified Sheriff H. B. Fields. Early yesterday morning the car was identified as belonging to Maj. Jenkins, and Maj. Robertson with a detachment of eighteen soldiers from the Army War College and ten Arlington County policemen started the search for the missing officer.

The body was discovered about 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning. Beside it, carefully folded, searchers found Maj. Jenkins' coat, his hat, a package of cigarettes and a newly opened box of .38-caliber bullets. The only cartridges removed were those used to fill the pistol.

Dr. B. H. Swain, Arlington County coroner, was notified and after viewing the body issued a certificate of death by suicide. The body was then removed to Walter Reed Hospital.

HEADS OF DISTRICT TO NAME BOARD ON STAPLES EVIDENCE

Method of Selection in Case of Dismissed Policeman Not Yet Decided.

PATROLMAN EXCORIATED BY JURORS SEEKS TRIAL

Attorney for Joseph H. Hunt Files Plea in Letter to Commissioners.

The Board of District Commissioners has definitely decided to go ahead with its plans to select a civilian board to handle matters pertaining to the grand jury report on the Orville Staples case.

The hitch in their plans, however, lies in the fact that so far no one has been able to determine whether this body shall be endowed with the powers of an investigative force, an administrative organization or a judicial body. Neither has it been determined what powers the five men who will compose the board shall be given.

The manner of selecting the board is also causing the District heads a large amount of worry. They want to arrange things in such a manner that the District Commissioners can be charged with unfairness by no faction. No one connected with the District government will be allowed to serve on the board, but no decision has been reached as to whether persons connected with the Federal Government will be allowed to serve.

May Draw Out Names.

The Commissioners intimated that they would attempt to obtain the consent of a large number of persons to serve on the board, and then through some impartial manner to narrow the group to five. They might even be forced to draw the name out of the hat in the good old-fashioned manner.

Corporation Counsel William W. Bride will consult with United States Attorney Leo A. Rover today regarding the legality of the proposed board's using testimony presented before the grand jury.

Another puzzling situation in connection with the board will be its authority to handle witnesses. It is conceded that the board will be able to issue subpenas, but whether it can compel witnesses to testify is another question.

In connection with the grand jury report and the Staples situation, Policeman Joseph H. Hunt and Albert W. Jacobson, his attorney, called at the District Building yesterday and presented a formal letter requesting an early trial for Hunt.

Says Accusation Baseless.

The letter declared that it has become an almost invariable custom for the grand jury to make a "presentment on some subject on which, frequently, no evidence has been heard." So long as this custom is applied to matters of general interest they are "regarded as harmless," the letter continued.

Meanwhile, the only definite development in the "third degree" investigation, which has placed the Police Department in such hot water, expected this week is the arraignment today of five policemen indicted on charges of assault in connection with charges of beating by policemen.

These men are Detectives James A. Mostyn and Privates William R. Laflin, William T. Burroughs, William C. Groomes and George E. Perry, all now under suspension and accused of assaulting one or more prisoners in the First Precinct Station on August 21 or 22.

Although the twice augmented force of Department of Justice Agents is hard at work investigating alleged instances of police brutality, it is not expected that their findings will be presented to the grand jury before next week. The Bureau of Investigation hopes to complete its entire investigation within ten days.

Gibson Promises Power.

Representative Ernest W. Gibson, of Vermont, chairman of a special House committee investigating municipal administration, said after a conference with Commissioner Herbert B. Crosby and other officials that a thorough reorganization of the Police Department appeared to be needed and that if the District officials failed to act promptly, Congress would do the job for them.

"I hope they will not compel Congress to act," he said after the conference. "But the District officials must act quickly. I told Gen. Crosby that if they find they need more legislative authority for firmer administrative authority all they have to do is ask Congress for it, and Congress will give them all the authority necessary to deal with the present situation and to make the Washington police force a model for the entire country."

MAY RELIES ON SUIT TO PROTECT TRACKS

Alexandria Line Owner to Push Injunction; Seeks Specific Settlement.

Contending that the Government has not made a satisfactory settlement with him for the loss of his property, Robert L. May, owner of the Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington Railroad, plans to push injunction proceedings against the tearing up of his tracks into the Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue station. The Treasury Department is planning to remove the tracks and tear down the terminal building in order to make way for new projects in the triangle building program.

A conference yesterday morning was held at the office of Ferry K. Heath, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, and was attended by Mr. Heath, his assistant, Mr. May, and his lawyer. The Treasury Department is helpless in any attempt to make a settlement as the Comptroller General has ruled that whatever compensation the railway company is to get must come from Congress and can not be paid out of funds appropriated for the clearance work.

Will Press Court Case.

As Congress does not meet until December and the steam shovels already are digging in ground near the tracks, Mr. May has decided to press for a hearing in the courts of his injunction filed several months ago. If the injunction is allowed the Government will not be able to remove the rails until the company is recompensed. The Treasury Department will oppose such proceedings, it was learned yesterday.

Notice has been served on the company which occupies the railway terminal at Twelfth and the Avenue to vacate by September 29. Demolition of the terminal is included in sets of specifications, the bids for which work will be opened September 18.

Two Bids Are Asked.

Contractors submitting bids have been asked, however, to turn in two estimates, one including and one excluding the removal of the tracks.

The railway interests also own the bus line which operates to Alexandria, and traffic will be handled in this manner should it be necessary to give up the rail line. The company is reluctant, however, to purchase a large fleet of buses at present as it would be necessary to maintain enough to handle peak traffic conditions, which last only a few months of the year.

Keynote of Rosh-Hashana Is Justice, Rabbi Explains

Jewish Holy Period Not a Commemoration of Any Particular Incident in Life of a Race, He Says.

The significance of Rosh-Hashanah, Jewish new year celebration which starts tonight was explained last night to a Post reporter by Rabbi Julius T. Loeb, of Congregation Ohev Sholom.

"Rosh-Hashanah is not an event made by man, or dedicated to human greatness and glory, nor is it a commemoration of any incident in the life story of a particular tribe, race or creed. Rather it is a memorial of the first day in the order of creation, wherein God reigns supreme," Rabbi Loeb said.

"We, who are of Israel, come together on this day and holy season, first, to renew our allegiance to the King of the Universe; secondly, to proclaim His rule of eternal justice among all the children of man, and thirdly, to reaffirm the great and holy task devolved upon Israel as the especial emissaries of His divine will."

"Justice is the keynote in the observance of this day and holy season. Hence the appelative 'Yom Haddin,' Day of Judgment, by which it is characterized in the Synagogue Liturgy," the rabbi explained.

"One ideal inculcated in the observance of Rosh-Hashhanah should be particularly emphasized. It is that all the children of man are equally amenable to the laws of nature and are equally subject to the rule of an all-just and merciful Creator.

"And we may say that never before in all the annals of human civilzation did man stand more in need of divine guidance and grace than at the present time. Never before has the world been so torn within itself and so fraught with the gravest danger of destruction," Rabbi Loeb went on.

"Here we have the sweet messages of disarmament and peace sponsored by the leading statesmen of the world. And, there, at the same time, we note with horror and consternation the clamor and howling of propagandists calling for more and heavier armaments on land and sea and in the air, to invite more enmity, envy and greed among the nations of mankind, and to incite more hatred and bloodshed in all the world.

"Similarly paradoxical are the good will societies, the curtaying and fine gestures toward dignitaries from abroad, while at the same time the keenest hatred is displayed toward the foreign-born in so many ways.

"The almost complete exclusion of immigration has not improved but has rather aggravated the situation.

"In short, the whole social structure today appears to be quaking, wabbling from side to side, like a drunken man, attempting to serve Baal and to serve God at the same time.

"What the world really needs today is religion, pure and simple. The matter of form, of which we have had entirely too much, is not of prime importance, but we need natural religion, which involves the fear of God and a sense of moral duty. We need the principle and practice of the Golden Rule in all the affairs of the world, the precept and example of the Ten Commandments, demanding due and proper respect for the individuality and property of every man or group of the human race, irrespective of class, condition or creed."

Jewish synagogues throughout the city will hold services this evening, tomorrow and Sunday morning. At Congregation Ohev Sholom, Fifth and I streets northwest, Cantor Tobias Schnitman, of Brooklyn, N. Y., will conduct the holiday services.

The Har-Zion Congregation will hold services at sundown today at its new place of worship, 3924 Eighth street northwest, and also at the Masonic Temple Building, 4209 Ninth street northwest. Services will also be conducted at both places Saturday evening and Sunday morning. Dr. Maurice H. Cohen and the Rev. H. Scheer will conduct the services during the holiday, and Rabbi George Silverstone will be the guest speaker on Sunday at 11 a. m., his topic being "The Child's Problem in the Jewish Home."

MRS. PITTS ORDERED HELD TO GRAND JURY

Hart and Chauffeur Are Also Arraigned; Trio Waives Hearing.

Waiving a preliminary hearing, Mrs. Gladys T. Pitts, wife of the former chairman of the board of the F. H. Smith Co., yesterday was held by a United States commissioner in Atlantic City, N. J., for action of the grand jury.

Arraigned at the same time were Henry O. Hart, former confidential agent of G. Bryan Pitts, now in jail here on embezzlement charges, and Patrick J. Clancy, a chauffeur.

These two, together with Mr. and Mrs. Pitts, were named in a blanket warrant which charged all four with concealing assets with intent to defraud the Government. Hart and Clancy also waived hearing, and were held for action of the grand jury.

Mrs. Pitts' Bond $10,000.

The United States commissioner fixed Mrs. Pitts' bond at $10,000, Hart's at $20,000 and Clancy's at $5,000. Their arrests followed discovery of $650,000 in securities and jewelry in an Atlantic City hotel safe, allegedly put there by Hart.

Internal revenue agents seized the property, as they have all of Pitts' alleged assets they have been able to locate, to satisfy $2,000,000 they claim he owes in back income taxes. The goods will be returned, it was said, only if Pitts admits the jewels and securities were purchased with embezzled funds, in which case it may be restored to the stockholders of the F. H. Smith Co.

Pitts to Aid Wife.

Pitts yesterday was restored to his position as "tiersman" at the District Jail. He had formerly held the job but he was relieved of it when it was discovered that he was smuggling correspondence from the jail. The job makes the former head of the banking house the boss of other prisoners in the same block with him.

Pitts seemed greatly concerned over the arrest of his wife. Throughout his battle against the charge of embezzling millions, Pitts has steadfastly refused to allow her to become entangled. Yesterday he sought means to relieve her of the obligation of standing trial. Just what steps he took toward accomplishing this were not revealed.

MERCURY HIT 103 AT PEAK YESTERDAY

Weather Bureau Predicts Heat Wave to Continue; Two Prostrated.

Yesterday, which marked the return of summer before its final departure, brought an official high mark of 94 degrees and a maximum temperature at the Pennsylvania kiosk of 103 as well as two heat prostrations.

Charles W. B. Turley, 76, 864 E street northeast, was prostrated at Wisconsin avenue and M street. He was removed to Georgetown Hospital, where it was declared his condition was not serious after treatment. He was admitted for observation.

Stricken by the heat while performing his work as a car cleaner at Union Station, Henry Brown, 31, colored, was removed to Emergency Hospital where, after treatment, it was said his condition was not serious. He lives at 1707 New Jersey avenue northwest.

Possibly Washington is living up to its reputation for having a September which frequently brings some of the hottest days of the year. The hottest it ever got here in September was on the seventh day of the month in 1881, when the mercury rose to 104. The coolest September day was the 23d in 1904, with a low mark of 36.

Pratt Censures Drivers For Blurred Auto Tags

Autoists who permit their license tags to become so dust-coated that the numerals are not visible from a distance came in for censure yesterday by the Police Department.

Maj. H. G. Pratt, superintendent of the metropolitan department, in the Daily Bulletin, called attention to the cars "whose identification numbers are not easily decipherable on account of dirt, oil and grime on same; also to the fact that the rear lights fail to light up said numbers and make them plainly visible."

Woman's Apartment On N Street Robbed

According to a report made to police by Agnes Walsh, her apartment at 2100 N street northwest, was entered some time between August 22 and yesterday and $23 in cash and a quantity of jewelry was stolen.

The list of missing articles included a lady's wrist watch, a gold wedding ring, a lavalier with a large diamond in the middle, a $20 bill and three 1854 silver dollars.

Couple Charged After Liquor Raid.

Illegal possession of 6 gallons of whisky and 96 bottles of beer was charged to Harry Huber, 28, and Bessie Corbe, 28, after police raided an apartment at 1317 H street northeast yesterday. Both were released on $500 bond each.

Youth, 17, Is Identified As Skittish Holdup Man

Accused of being the nervous holdup man who accosted five women in the northwest section Monday night, but fled in each case empty handed, 17-year-old Edgar Maness was charged yesterday with attempted robbery. He is from Wilmington, N. C.

Third Precinct police reported that Mrs. Helen F. Coombs, the last of his victims, identified her assailant on the following night when he happened to walk by as she was talking to a policeman about the incident. Maness was arrested immediately.

3 Women in Taxicab Injured in Collision

Three women were injured yesterday when the taxicab in which they were passengers was in collision with another machine at Florida avenue and Third street northeast. All were treated at Casualty Hospital for bruises and shock.

The victims were Mrs. Minnie Jacobs and Mrs. Elizabeth Eluto, both of 4723 Eighth street northwest, and Mrs. Ida Silverman, 4721 Eighth street. The cab was operated by Leonard R. Reed, 216 Valley street southeast. Roger Van Horn, 3517 Tenth street northwest, was operating the other car.

Woman Hurt When Hit by Car.

Mrs. Rose Strong, 62, 3809 Jocelyn street, suffered a possible fracture of the knee, lacerations of the scalp and multiple bruises yesterday when struck by an automobile on Pennsylvania avenue, in front of the White House. She was taken to Emergency Hospital by Maurice B. White, driver of the machine which hit her. He lives at 807 G street southwest.

Elderly Man Found Dead in His Room

Harry Mangin, 65-year-old roomer at 1300 H street northeast, was found dead last night, lying across a bed in his second-floor room.

The body was found by E. O. Munger, proprietor of the rooming house, who forced a transom over the door, after repeated knocks failed to bring response. A physician from Casualty Hospital pronounced the man dead.

According to friends, Mangin, who is employed at the Northeast Market, Twelfth and H streets northeast, had complained of feeling ill for several days. He returned from work early yesterday, they said, and went to his room. It was not until he failed to appear for dinner that his friends became alarmed.

National Benefit Receiver Is Asked

A petition for a receivership for the National Benefit Life Insurance Co., 609 F street northwest, for many years regarded as the largest colored business enterprise in the world, with assets approximating $6,000,000, was filed yesterday in the Supreme Court by John R. Pinkett, second vice president of the corporation and manager of agencies. The petition, which also asked for dissolution of the corporation, alleged that more than $1,000,000 would be required to make up its impairment and legal reserve.

Assets for 1930 were set forth by the insurance commissioner as $5,541,000, and the monthly income as more than $250,000, with over $73,000,000 of insurance in force. Samuel W. Rutherford, founder, and R. W. Rutherford, his son, former president, resigned June 17, when John T. Risher was elected president and an examination of the company begun by various State insurance commissions.

Pinkett, in his petition, set forth that there are outstanding claims in excess of $100,000; approximately $150,000 due policy holders on loan and surrender values, and 9,000 shares of stock tied up in litigation but unpaid in full.

Detective's Suspicion Nets Big Liquor Haul

Suspicious of a small sedan he observed near Seventeenth and S streets late Wednesday night, Detective R. F. McCarty trailed the car into an alley nearby and a few minutes later arrested Joseph Lee Gray, 21, 1121 New Hampshire avenue.

McCarty, who was off duty at the time, reported that he found 77 gallons of liquor in the machine and 30 gallons more in the garage into which Gray had driven when accosted by the detective. The prisoner was charged with illegal possession.

GOLF CLUBS.

THE DRIVER is a wooden club
With which to smack the ball:
It breaks the heart to ev'ry dub
By smacking not at all.

The BRASSIE like the driver is,
Excepting for its face;
You use it to get on the green—
But go some other place.

The DRIVING IRON is to use
When wood won't do as well;
The distance that it makes you lose
Will cause your score to swell.

Then there's the iron NUMBER TWO—
The difference, you see,
Is very great, perhaps, to you—
But not so much to me.

Then there's the THREE, the FOUR and FIVE—
Each has its special shot;
On some holes they will do to drive,
But mostly they will not.

THE NIBLICK is a club quite odd
To use when you're in trouble:
It digs up gravel, sand and sod
And causes scores to double.

The PUTTER'S purpose, sir, is this—
To cut a golfer's score;
You use it till you can not miss
The darned hole any more!

The TEE is just a bit of wood
To raise the ball up high,
So if you miss it where you stood
You still will have a "lie."

The GOLF BAG is a sort of sack,
It's used, as you surmise,
To see the caddie doesn't lack Sufficient exercise.

The LOCKER ROOM is just a place
To go when you are through
To alibi your lack of grace
And get a little "stew."

DO YOU REMEMBER.

Away back when a dividend was considered safe?

An Illinois town is so short of money that it announces it can no longer afford to operate its poorhouse. This must be a new low for the current movement.

Visiting Firemen Score Police Treatment Here

Protesting against the treatment of volunteer firemen from nearby Maryland during the Labor Day parade, a letter was sent yesterday to the District Commissioners by the advisory council of the Prince Georges County Firemen's Association, calling their attention to the alleged actions of Lieut. Horace Lineberg, of the First Precinct.

T. Weston Scott, of Cottage City, marshal of the Prince Georges delegation, told the council that Lieut. Lineberg made slurring remarks about the drivers and tried to make companies move from the places assigned to them.

One Auto Figures In Two Collisions

Young Woman Is Reported Slightly Injured in Each Crash.

An automobile owned by Steven Sadowski, living at Soldiers' Home, figured in two separate but similar accidents yesterday, which were less than six hours apart. In each case a young woman was slightly injured.

According to police, Sadowski's machine collided yesterday with Dr. Joseph D. Rogers' car while it was parked in front of his office at 1400 M street northwest, in attempting to avoid another collision while rounding Thomas Circle. Miss Gene Harvey, 227 Indiana avenue, suffered contusions to the face and shock. This was a few minutes after midnight.

About 6 a. m. Bernard D. Reed was at the wheel of the same automobile when, in attempting to avoid a crash with another machine, it climbed the curb and came to rest on the front steps of 3036 Park place northwest. Marie Walters, 1301 Fifteenth street northwest, suffered minor cuts caused by flying glass. Reed lives at 4402 Georgia avenue, he told police.

Robert Martin, 76, No Home, Believed Drowned in Basin

For more than three hours last night, Park and Harbor Precinct police searched the waters of the Tidal Basin in a futile effort to recover the body of a man, who they believe attempted to drown himself earlier in the day.

The search began when Frank Garcia, of 807 Tenth street northwest, found a pair of horn-rimmed glasses, a black card case and a scribbled note lying on the west seawall of the basin near the polo grounds.

Expressing the belief that the man was despondent and had committed suicide by leaping into the Tidal Basin, police immediately began to drag the surrounding waters.

For three hours the search continued, but at 9:30 o'clock they abandoned their efforts to await daylight. A check with charitable institutions revealed that no one by the name of "Martin" had been reported missing.
